

Vaseline.

EVERYBODY knows the great value of this remedy in the household, but everybody does not know that the imitations of it, which some second-class druggists dishonestly palm off on their customers, have little or no value. What should be understood by the public is, that it is not a mere question of comparative value between "Vaseline" and the imitations, but that the imitations do not offset the wonderful healing results of the world renowned "Vaseline," and that they are not the same thing, nor made in the same way. Besides this, many of the imitations are harmful, irritant and not safe to use, while true Vaseline is perfectly harmless. Perfect safety, therefore, lies in buying only original packages put up by and marked with our name.

EDWARD S. WILLARD.

Mr. Edward S. Willard will appear at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, Oct. 18, in the admirable play of "The Middleman." This should be regarded as a theatrical event of extraordinary importance, as Mr. Willard is the most original of English actors. He is a dramatic artist of talents so great, requirements so rare and thought so strong, delicate and refined as to place him in the forefront among the most eminent men of his profession. Playgoers who delight to see a good play well played in all its parts and nobly played in the principal, one should esteem it an unenvied privilege to see "The Middleman," and Mr. Willard as Cyrus Baskarn. The vigor, beauty and tenderness of this impersonation, the fine thought and feeling of the actor's conception and execution of it are beyond all ordinary expression of admiration and praise. Mr. Willard's superior talent is unquestionable, and we think he is one who may justly be credited, without abuse of a much abused word, with the possession of the highest form and quality of dramatic genius.
