priest of St. Patrick's Church in this city, and a very prominent member of St. Sulpice. It has been ascertained that Father McShane's name was one of the three sent to Rome, when it be-can be learned, no action has yet been taken by the Vatican authorities to-

At his reception to-day, Father Mc-Shane, asked if he was going to Kingston, smiled and said: "I am too happy here," but here the conversation ended. If Father McShane were to leave St. Patrick's, he would be succeeded either by Father Donnolly of St. Anthony's, Father O'Reilly of St. Patrick's, or Father Thomas Heffernan. When Father Martin Callaghan left St. Patrick's, there was a god deal of trouble over the succession, as Father McShane was a young man, but in every way he proved himself worthy of the
