RETURNED MEN THINK THEY SHOULD BE FREE

OF THEATRE WAR TAX Get Little Satisfaction From Writing to Secretary of Treasury.

The alleged discrimination against returned men in the question of paying the war tax when entering theatres has been called to the attention of J. T. White, solicitor to the treasury, by R. R. and are in civinan clothes are com-pelled to pay the extra tax. Replying to the letter of Mr. White-head, Mr. White says this is a matter for the Legislature to take up. He also intimates that while the men in khaki are exempted it is only temporary, whereas if the returned men were to be included it would be a permanent arrangement.
The returned men are not at all pleased with the reply. They think they are entitled to as much consideration as the men who have not yet gone over, and some of whom will never go over-seas. That the question will not be allowed to drop, the veterans intimate, but what action will be taken has not been definitely stated.

Is it not possible for groups of people in this city to undertake some form of company farming, the bulletin asks.

Reports received from all parts of the province show that the appeals for an increased food production have met with a splendid esponse this year. Best is ides better and larger and more backy yard gardens, there has been a great increase in community gardening. More groups of people in offices, stores, banks, clubs, factories, lodges, schools, colleges, churches, Sunday schools have co-operated this year than last. Much is being done, too, in pork, poultry and rabbit production.

It is to be hoped it may be continued, increased and improved. Such work yields large returns in the spirit of team play, as well as in needed food-stuffs.

The Oxford car started as the cyclist had nearly passed it. The North Belt was too close to permit her to cross to the east side of the street or to slow up to let the Oxford pass. Jumping off the wheel, she was directly in the path of the northbound car. Eyewitnesses of the near-fatality expressed high opinions of the motorman for the prompt manner in which he brought the car to a stop. The extreme foolishness of attempting to pass a car going in the same direction by turning to the left was also commented upon by the passengers of the cars.
