POLICE COURT

Usual Monday Morning Docket Quickly Disposed of.

Justice was meted out summarily today to Charles Anderson, the Swede, who assaulted Thomas Nash in an alley off Charlotte street on Saturday night.

He pleaded guilty to drunkenness and to the assault charge. For the former offence he was fined $8 or thirty days in jail and for the latter a sentence of two months was imposed. Nash stated that four men entered the alley and proceeded to make themselves obnoxious. He remonstrated with them and in consequence he was attacked by three of the quartette.

As the others had departed from the scene Anderson was the only defendant arrested.

Arthur Craft arrested in the West End admitted being drunk but was unable to satisfactorily account for the presence of such a dangerous weapon as an axe in his possession. He was remanded.

Harry Alexander reported for driving a carriage in the city without a license said he gave Harry Bette the inspector of vehicles $2 several weeks ago to procure a license for him. Sergeant Campbell interposed that the authorities had refused to entertain any proposals for licenses from either of the Alexanders.

The magistrate stated that they should not be discriminated against as they had to earn a livelihood. Alexander was instructed to interview the mayor on the matter.

Murray Alexander summoned for the same offence as his brother, informed the court that he was relieving David Keteo who is indisposed, for two weeks.

William Webber, a Jew, reported for encumbering the pavement on Mill street in front of his store with four large empty packing cases, said the cases were on the street only fifteen minutes but Officer Belya stated they remained for an hour and a half. A nominal fine of $2 was allowed to stand conditional upon Webber's compliance with the by-laws in the future.

OVER $200,000 HAS BEEN PAID IN Unusually Large Returns to Crown Land Department in Stumpage and Rates.

(Fredericton Gleaner.) It is estimated that upwards of $200,000 of stumpage rates and renewals of mileage has been paid to the Crown Land Department during the past couple of weeks. These amounts are due on August 1st and the payments have come in with unusual rapidity. In fact, it is said that in former years, less than $100,000 was paid up to this time.

"They have just been falling over themselves to pay up," said one of the officials of the department to-day, "and none of the $200,000 is in notes, either. It is all cash; that's business."

RULES TO OBSERVE IN THE DOG DAYS (New York Herald.) The gentle art of napping the family; the pleasant pastime of fretting and fuming at the business office; the popular sport of making oneself disagreeable in public, such as crowding, pushing, shoving, jostling and otherwise inciting perspiring, street railway travelling public to justifiable homicide; the uncharitable practice of worrying and bothering one's affairs, in general or particular, are amusements that properly belong to the season of winter sports. Drop them in these hot August weeks.

Call them off during the dog days. Don't bother your neighbor more than you can help in midsummer. Don't worry yourself more than is necessary while the mercury is high. "Be easy; as if ye can't be easy, be as easy as ye can," till autumn is here and you will find that the August weather, as the poet says, will seem at least two white collars a day cooler.

That worry killed cat may be true, but that it has unhappily disposed of more humans than felines is now accepted as true by most scientists. And fatal, if slow in the process, as it may be in winter, it is swift and sure in its action in these trying days of torrid temperatures. Don't worry in the dog days. Keep your temper just "try it on" for a while and see what good results follow.

We are a nervous, dyspeptic people, given to excess in business application or "drive," in food and in our recreations. As a result we are irritable, though we may not own to it, and prone to excitement. With all that, we have a trying climate that is exceedingly cold in winter and desperately hot in summer. One of the national characteristics, despite our pluck and courage and venturesome spirit, is that we worry over the affairs of life. Given the combination of habit, characteristics and climate, and it is to be wondered at that we are a people in dangerous conditions when the hot months are on us?

How can we meet the situation best and reduce the sum total of that which hedges ill to health or life in these days when Old Sol is playing the mischief with us? Just try to be temperate. Keep cool mentally if one can't physically. Eat moderately and judiciously. Keep out of the sun while it is high in the heavens. And this leads all other rules—don't worry; don't fret; take things as quietly and with an unruffled temper as possible in the dog days. Keep the lid down on the temper and cease fretting—even if one has to restore the average and let it go with a bang when cooler days have come.
