CALEDONIA VOYAGE WAS A PLEASANT ONE

(Continued from page 1) Soldier Helps Church. Among the young men who at the outbreak of war enlisted with the 8th Battery, and who are now at the front, was John C. Sewell, son of the late Arthur Sewell, of Moncton.

Under that agreement he has already sent to the Rev. H. Goodwin, pastor, three instalments. The first was for $25, the second for $25, and the third, received this week, for $27, making a total of $77.

Are on the Firing Line Eight members of the 23rd Battery of Field Artillery, mobilized in Fredericton last winter, have joined the 8th Battery of the first Canadian Division on the firing line in France. "Well, we are at last on the firing line," writes Gunner Charles Clarke. "There are just eight of the old 23rd Battery with this bunch, but the rest of the fellows are in the same brigade, with the Ammunition Column."

ATTEMPT TO SET FIRE TO ONTARIO ARMORY

Meaford, Ont., June 24—An attempt to set fire to the armory here was made yesterday but failed.

A Forty-Niner Dead

Thomas P. Robinson, one of the oldest residents of Canada, died on Monday at the age of eighty years. Mr. Robinson was a native of New Brunswick, but had spent the greater part of his life in the United States and was one of those who went to California in the 40's, where the gold craze was at its height. He returned to the border and engaged in the grocery business, which he conducted for many years.

Was in Maritime Bank

W. M. Botsford, manager of the London Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, has resigned. Mr. Botsford was a native of Dorchester, N. B., and was chief accountant of the since defunct Maritime Bank in St. John before he entered the Royal Bank's service.

Leaps To Death in Ocean

Captain Dirichsen, master of the Norwegian bark John Lockett, from Hull to Halifax, reports on May 29 while in mid-ocean, Toriel Maxine Thoroldson, steward of the vessel jumped overboard. A life boat was launched, but he had disappeared. He is believed to have been temporarily insane.
