WEALTH OF THE QUEEN .- It is usually supposed that the Queen has laid by a great deal of money, and, acting on this supposition, it is asked why she cannot provide for her family? As a matter of fact she has not. When Prince Albert died many of the state departments were in debt; these debts have been paid off. Some of them-such as that of the Master of the Horse, for which £10,000 per annum in an appearance at this meeting owing to is allowed-always have to borrow from pressing duties in their own parishes. But the other departments or from the Privy Purse. The Queen really does not put by as much as £20,000 per annum on an average of years.
