Miramichi and the North Shore, etc.

PUNGS.—Double and single pungs for sale cheap at Alex. Robinson's, Chatham.

ASSIGNED.—Thos. Anderson, of Buctouche, "lobster manufacturer" has assigned.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—Rev. Mr. Cameron of Pickering, Ontario, will preach in St. John's Church, Chatham, on Sunday next.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Mr. Ross who has been preaching in St. John's Church, Chatham, for several Sundays, has returned to Halifax. During his brief stay in Chatham he made a good many friends.

THE TRAMP Mitchell, who was hunted down as the would-be murderer of Mrs McCann of Peticodiac, has been proved innocent by persons who saw him sixty miles from the scene of the alleged crime on the day it was committed.

ENTERTAINMENT.—On Tuesday evening next, another entertainment of the St. Mary's Church Sunday School series will be given in the School Room. It will be musical and literary, and the preparations being made for it give promise that it will be worthy of a large patronage. The admission fee is to be only ten cents.

GUNNING ACCIDENT.—While out partridge shooting on Saturday, Wm. Connors, foreman to Messrs. R. A. & J. Stewart, of Bathurst, received some serious injuries to his head, in consequence of his gun exploding. The breech blew out and struck him between the eyes embedding itself in the bone, so that it was pulled out with some difficulty.

THE OTHER LANDRY.—The Mr. Landry, M. P., recently decorated as a Knight of the Order of St. Gregory the Great was not Mr. P. A. Landry, of Kent, but Mr. P. Landry, of Quebec. Our N. B. Landry has, however, modestly sustained the honor for a month or two, and it will be a long time before a good many of his friends will learn that it is "the other Landry," who has been decorated.

"THE ISLAND PRESS" is the latest addition to New Brunswick journalism that has reached us. It bears the names of C. Spooner as Editor & Proprietor with Drs. E. Cameron, G. B. Noyes, Rev. Mr. Covert and W.B. McLaughlin as associate editors. With such a staff it is no wonder that the Press is well filled with local and general matter quite creditable to the sentinel gem of our southern angle. The Press deserves a larger advertising patronage than it seems to enjoy. We wish it a full measure of success.

DANGEROUS.—The schr. Reality from Tignish, P. E. Island, Capt. Perry, which arrived at Chatham about noon on Monday, came near going ashore at Neguac on Saturday night, owing to there being no lights displayed at the lighthouses down river. She made the coast about eleven o'clock on Saturday night and ran in expecting to see either Neguac or Tabusintac light. Failing in this the lead was cast and bottom found in two fathoms. The vessel was put about and run south until three fathoms of water was found, where the anchor was cast. Next morning those on board were surprised to find they were only a short distance off Neguac lighthouse. Those on board declare that no light was displayed from the lighthouses of either Tabusintac, Neguac, or Fox Island. This is a matter which requires investigation.

A Sermon and Church Misrepresented.

In his sermon on Sunday evening last Rev. Mr. Forsyth, Rector of Chatham, dealt with the subject of special confession and absolution in a sermon characterised by moderation and a strict adherence to Scriptural evidence and the rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer. As is usual, in such matters, the words of the preacher appear to have been misunderstood and misreported by interested persons, so much so that the World sees fit to manufacture and give currency to a column of idle and offensive gossip calculated to throw ridicule upon the Church and its members. We venture to say that if any paper in the community were to treat any other body of christians as the World has the Church people here, its offence would be marked by special public disapprobation, but we presume the fact that the Church of England is not numerically strong in Chatham was in the World's estimation an encouragement to its editor to assail it. The World endeavors to make itself the special organ of some other religious bodies but it will hardly be believed that, in this matter, it represents either their best taste or sense of Christian courtesy, notwithstanding the fact that it tells us what other clergymen are going to preach about next Sunday.

The Rogersville Matter.

In a letter on the subject of the Rogersville Municipal election, which Rev. Mr. Richard asks us to copy, that gentleman says,—

As to the first charge, viz., that Mr. Cormier would not run with any other than Thibodeau, Mr. Cormier says that he wanted a mate that would pull with him and not against one another. He suggests the idea for Chatham Pariah to elect the editor of the ADVANCE and the editor of the World as their councillors for experiment. He offered to resign in favor of Richard, but the latter would not accept.

The second charge is about Mr. A. A. Richard, chairman of the meeting, who, by the way, is a man of superior ability and in every way qualified to be a Councillor, according to the ADVANCE itself, but becomes a corrupt officer the moment he does not serve the opposite party. The ADVANCE says "that Mr. A. A. Richard was solicited to allow himself to be put in nomination as a candidate for the Councillorship to take the place of Thibodeau, but at last declined."

A. A. Richard (chairman), Domanaque Power and German T. Como protest against this as calumnious, and say that the offer was made to oppose Cormier and not Thibodeau as stated.

It further says "that the real reason of his declining to run was because he had secured his office of Commissioner under the Crown Land Department through Mr. Cormier's recommendation."

This, Mr. A. A. Richard says, is mere supposition and untrue. The reason was because he felt that Mr. Cormier was better fitted than he to represent the parish, and that he knew the parish generally preferred him and consequently he declined.

The second charge is that "on polling day Mr. A. A. Richard, who had declined to be put in nomination, was elected chairman of the election meeting, and illegally so." Oliver Thibodeau, Urbane LeBlanc, Hypolite Bourque, Augustin Thibodeau, Sylvan LeBlanc, and Hypolite Despres, say that he was elected with 12 votes over his opponent, Michel Savoie.

The third charge says "that the ratepayers present were more surprised to see the chairman accept ballots together and with difficulty force them into the box without examination with the aid of his knife."

Mr. A. A. Richard denies this, and says that he never used his knife for the purpose, and that the tellers on either side never made any complaint on this ground.

The fourth charge says that "when the ballots were being counted and checked it was not unusual to find several of them so folded together as to cause the chairman to lose time in getting them apart."

Mr. A. A. Richard, chairman, says that this is false and malicious. He never found two nor three ballots so folded together.

The fifth charge says that "in cases where Thibodeau's name was claimed to be erased and was, evidently, erased, the chairman gave the votes to him in spite of the protest of the tellers."

Mr. A. A. Richard says, and is corroborated by others, that only one such case occurred and that the name erased was struck off by him.

The sixth charge says that "before the ballots were all checked, and when dozens yet remained in the box, there had been more counted than there were votes polled."

Mr. A. A. Richard, with the check list in hand, shows that at the time the box was stolen Cormier had 120 votes, Thibideau 98, and Amos 72, making altogether 278 votes polled, which being divided by two, leaves 139 ballots plus 12 plumpers for Amos, making 151 altogether. The total number of ballots put in was 176, and deducting 151 leaves yet in the box when destroyed 25 ballots.

The ADVANCE adds "that in the excitement growing out of this scandalous state of things, the table was kicked over and the ballots mixed and destroyed, voiding the election." The chairman says that the excitement began when Mr. Amos' friends perceived they had lost their man, and it was that party and not the French party as alleged, that committed the depredations, as has been shown already before the law courts and will further be proved.

It may be well to remark that the parties above mentioned, and others in large numbers, are prepared under oath, if required, to substantiate the above protest before any tribunal, and defy the ADVANCE or his informant or informants to take the responsibility of their charges under their own names and to prove their malicious and misleading attacks.

It might also be interesting for the public to know that there are 237 votes in Rogersville, of whom 200 are of French origin, about 12 Irish, and the balance of other nationalities. Peace and harmony have always characterized the settlement until the unlawful trade of liquor has been introduced into that place, and a certain lawless band determined to rule by force and corruption.

The above matter reached us in the World late yesterday afternoon and we have therefore, neither time nor space for comment. We shall see what our correspondent at Rogersville has to say on the subject—and, in the meantime, give Esther Richard's case the benefit of publication without comment. It would have been better, perhaps, if he had written in the above strain in the first instance instead of in the offensive manner he did.

The Meat Cove Wreck.

A correspondent of the Quebec Chronicle writing from Meat Cove, states that four bodies have been raised from the wreck; one had a large heart surrounded with two flags, an anchor and a cross, inside of which were the letters J.H., tatooed on his left arm, and J. H. and a cross on the back of each hand; another had O. or Q. V. O. on his hand; another had an anchor and K. F. on his left hand.

Last Saturday's St. John Globe published the following,—

It was thought by many that the mysterious wreck at Meat Cove was the "Orient," Capt. Murphy, from Miramichi This theory has been upset, however, by the following despatch from North Sydney, under date of the 22nd:—Brigt. "Artos," Capt. Robertson, arrived at Port Caledonia 20th, reports on the 19th, when off Sydney, spoke barque "Orient," of and for Waterford, deal laden, from Miramichi, with loss of deckload, house, and bulwarks stove, lost and split sails. Was supplied by the "Artos" and proceeded. The "Orient" wished to be reported.

A boarding house keeper in St. John, who knew one of the sailors on the "British Queen," states that his body was tatooed in a simiiar manner to that of one of the sailors, whose body was recovered at Meat Cove, the other day. As it is a common practice among sailors to have their arms and chests marked with grotesque figures in India ink, little weight should be placed on this statement.

The St. John Globe of Tuesday last contained the following,—A Miramichi correspondent says that little doubt exists there in reference to the identity of the Meat Cove wreck, which must be the Norwegian barque "Hittero." That vessel was loaded with a French cargo of deals by Mr. Snowball, said deals being marked "J. B. S.," on the ends generally, although some were marked with the shipper's name in full, followed by the word, "Miramichi." The deals were sevens—seven inches wide—and upwards, none being narrower. The operator at Meat Cove says the deals of the wreck are principally sevens and have the letters "J. B. S." on the ends: he found one plank with the word "Miramichi" on it. The "Hittero" had a teak mainmast, so had the mysterious wreck. The "Hittero's" captain purchased some clothing here to take, as a present, to his wife. Portions of a woman's clothing were found among the wreckage. These facts go far to justify the conclusion that the Meat Cove wreck is all that remains of the "Hittero."

The Recent Appointments.

Mr. Wm. Crockett, the new Chief Superintendent of Education, is still in the prime of life. He has always been recognized as a well informed, efficient and scrupulously careful teacher in his position of Principal of the Normal School. He is a native of Scotland, but come to this Province in his youth. He was for some time teacher in the County of Restigouche, and next in the Chatham Grammar School and removed from the Miramichi to Fredericton. He was educated at Edinburgh and holds the honorary degree of L. M. from the N. B. University. Before the free schools came in vogue he had charge of the advanced department in what was known as the Model School, which was held in the old stone barracks Fredericton. He became principal of the Normal School at its fonuding, and his success in that position was so marked that Dr. Rand thought there was not a more practical teacher in the Dominion. He has also been examiner of the Fredericton city schools and also examiner for degrees in the University. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church at Fredericton. Mr. Crockett is not so much noted for his abilities as a speaker or theorist as for his thoroughness and practical code of discipline in his profession.

Eldon Mullin, A. B., who succeeds Mr. Crockett as Principal of the Normal School, was born at Cambridge, Queens Co. He is a son of Joseph Mullin, (teacher) and cousin of George H. Mullin, L. L. B., Counseller at law, Boston Mass. He attended the University of N. B., in 1865-66 and was prevented from completing his career by his father's death. He taught school in Kings Co., for a time, and in 1879 he was appointed Inspector of Schools for district No. 7 (York Co., and part of Carleton). In 1881 he obtained his degree at the N. B. University. Mr. Mullin is spoken of as a clever and competent teacher.

George W. Mersereau, A. B., who succeeds Mr. Mullin as Inspector of School District No 7, is a native of Doaktown, in this County. He is also a graduate of the N. B. University, having received his degree in 1876. To Mr. Mersereau's credit, be it said, that, though not in affluent circumstances at that time, he has rapidly worked himself up to his present position.

Correspondence.

More Light!—Nomenclature.

Chatham, 26th Nov. 1883.

DEAR ADVANCE,—Will you please inform me if there is a street lamplighter belonging to the town. If so, why are the lamps at the west-end so often neglected? They are generally lighted on moonlight nights. Perhaps the lamplighter is afraid to go in that part of the town on dark nights.

Will you be so kind, also, as to settle another question. Which is the proper name—Bay du Vig, or Baie des Vents? I should think the latter way right, being the French for Bay of Winds which would seem appropriate, much more so than the other, meaning Bay of Wine. I think Bay du Vin seems to be the most common way of printing it, but I am quite at a loss to know which was the original.

Please answer in next issue and oblige

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.

[There is a lamplighter whose duty it is to see that all the town lamps are properly lighted. A complaint made to the President or some other officer of the Gas Company would, no doubt, result in the matter being set right.

"Baie des Vents" is the name of the place referred to. The chief reason why Bay du Vin has become the name most used in the press and otherwise, is because Baie des Vents has been often confounded by the outside postal authorities, with Baie Verte in Westmorland County. We employed the proper name in these columns for a good while, but fell in with the other mode as a matter of convenience. We publish the above letter from and give the information asked for to our correspondent, because the enquiries relate to matters of public interest, and the writing is evidently that of a lady. No further communications from her will be noticed, however, unless she complies with our rule and sends her real name.—EDITOR.]

Confession in the Church of England.

To the Editor of the Miramichi Advance.

DEAR SIR,—You will no doubt, ere this, have seen Rev. Mr. Maturin's disclaimer of the expression attributed to him by a newspaper reporter re Confessional in the Church of England, and you will, no doubt, so far as you now can, do the justice to that clergyman which the article in your issue of 22nd certainly failed to do. The publication in the ADVANCE of a report of Mr. M's sermon, which seems to me to bear, on its face, the evidence of its unreliable character, has given great pain to others besides myself. It is bad enough to have to suffer the gross and gratuitous impertinence of outside clerical and lay interference in our Church matters, concerning which the critics are deplorably ignorant, without her own children—and among them an editor, who I believe to be a loyal churchman—doing injustice of the kind alluded to. Yours, X.

[We were much pleased, on the day after the publication of the report of Rev. Mr. Maturin's Halifax address in the ADVANCE, to find a short letter from him in the Halifax Chronicle, in which he said that he had been entirely misreported. He did not, he said, utter any word that could be interpreted as counsel on his part to keep sinners from confessing their sins to and seeking forgiveness from Christ, but, on the contrary, he would advise them to go directly to Christ. The report we quoted did great injustice to Mr. Maturin. Our error consisted in accepting it as a truthful, which led us to say it was startling doctrine to be told that Christ could only be reached by sinners through one of His priests. Our correspondent is, no doubt, aware of the fact that some very objectionable practices and startling doctrines have, in happily rare instances, been introduced in the Church of England, and that these have done as much as real ignorance among her children in maintaining the slovenliness and want of order far too generally prevalent at the present day. It is the duty of Churchmen to condemn the one just as much as the other—to guard against clerical assumption on the one hand and against lay indifference and ignorance on the other. Every Churchman, for instance, knows that in special cases the Church distinctly authorises confession to and absolution at the hands of her priests. That doctrine is set forth in every Prayer Book of the Church, but no Churchman is called upon to tolerate the doctrine that confession must be made to and absolution be recieved from the Priest, alone, nor is he required to make confession at all, save of his own free will.' Of course, the ADVANCE represents no church in particular, but it is not debarred thereby from referring to what is laid down in the authorised formularies of particular churches. Whether such formularies are scriptural or not, it is not within our province to say.—EDITOR.]

That Inkerman Tempest.

To the Editor of the Miramichi Advance.

DEAR SIR,—In the perusal of your interesting issue of the 15th inst., I am not surprised at finding the expected "Reply to Critic", in which one is at a loss to discover anything substantial, as there is nothing but a few conceited allusions to my shortcomings, a solemn avowal of Mr. Walsh's political sanctity, so well understood by his manufactured majority, and raging bites at such little words as prepositions, and notably, at "conscientious" which morally frightens the virtual author ofsaid "Reply." The letter included a misdirected injunction about "lofty and misty ideas," whlch were so neatly purged out of his bruised brain, by having polled on one election day, two votes and a half, as candidate for councillorship.

As my aim is to claim that political justice be done to whom justice is due in the parish of Inkerman, it might not be out of place to note here that there still exists in this locality an old planiterium put up by Uncle Bob, and occasionally set revolving at the command of the omnipotent Esquire of Pokemouche. At each such command a legion of satelites revolve, heating up in their course, the stout few, who are so fond of making libations of a much loved nectar, in honor of their omnipotent, and who are then so well disposed to act noble deeds. Thus at Esquire's nod, one of the legion, a lengthy lame one, got whirling around in search of a suitable stout to assume the responsibility of his production—this time in reply to "Critic",—and found John Duke—O tempora! O mores! Jack still living! He that received so deadly a bullet for having played the Jack—s in that truthful charge, of few months past, against Supervisor Doucey? Truly that blow would have sent a less skinny one to the Tartarean region. And out he comes again and stands at the corner of the lame satellite epistle to make it appear more genuine? Indeed, as true critic, I must grant him the palm of being the toughest shield to that modest "ability" that works in the shade.

It seems that the perturbation of that particular revolution of the lame satellite was rather destructive; for when your issue of the 15th inst. addressed to one of your subscribers suspected by him to be "critic," came within the sphere of its revolution, nothing was seen of it.

And yet only one satellite was set moving; then what might not be expected when the whole planiterium was working, such as on polling day?

Indeed, in my letter of the 3rd inst. I have given you only a feeble idea of its work done on the 30th October last. It happened that one of their members was elected chairman,—a notorious old gentleman who seems to have a way of his own in presiding at the poll on either federal or municipal election days. His first step was to set aside the oath of office. What harm was it to him then to let any one crowd around the ballot box, while he was hunting voter's names to cast two ballots from the same voter, or to take them from any youngster under false name, in presence of omnipotent Esquire who, "with credit to himself," was smiling at the deeds of such "intelligent voters", crowded in by his faithful satellites. The only trouble it gave to the poor old innocent gentleman, was after the poll closed, when he had to extricate those lumpy ballots, which went to run up that majority of twenty-five over the defeated party.

That was the characteristic "ability" of that wholesome planiterium which excludes the "illiterate class". And indeed they all glory in their success, for "they who drink beer, think beer."

Yours truly, CRITIC.

Boo, Boo, I'a dot Worms. Oh! my, I's so Sick."

I bad 'em too, but they all don away now.

PLEASANT WORM SYRUP.

The most eminent Physicians are agreed that about Fifty per cent of all Children die before reaching the tenth year of life. Many children suffer from day to day—fretful, cross and peevish—and the cause of the trouble is not suspected.

A pallid and sickly countenance, irregularity of appetite, or great voracity, bad breath, foul tongue, great thirst, gradual emaciation, irritable temper, disposition to be picking the nose, are all symptoms indicating the presence of WORMS! If any of these symptoms are noticed, or the presence of worms suspected, procure a bottle of Pleasant Worm Syrup, which costs but 25 cts., and give it according to directions. If any worms are present they will soon be expelled and your darling restored to health again. If there are no worms present the remedy will do no harm, but will move the bowels gently and leave the system in a healthy condition.

PLEASANT WORM SYRUP requires no castor oil or other purgative medicine with it.
