Several private bills were introduced and read a first time,

The Hon. Mr. Fournier introduced a bill to amend the Act respecting controverted elections; the object of the bill was to prevent the trial of election petitions during any session of Parliament. One section provides that trials shall go on from duy to day without adjournment; this is in order to prevent such delays as occurred in late election trials.

After suggestions from Hon. Mr. Cameron, which Hon. Mr. Fournier entertained favorably, the bill was read a first time. Tupper denied the existence of any deficit last year. Irrespective of increased taxation it would have reached $649,604, or within $123,082 of the amount he, Tupper, claimed in his remarks last session. He asked where was the surplus of 1872 of $1,638,000 left the present Ministers. Spaulding and Mr. Price of the Grand Central Hotel were the first witnesses. The former described his pistol, and narrated a conversation between himself and the prisoner, a short time before the robbery. The latter also heard this conversation, and stated that Coleman was the only one who remained in the house after tea, or went up the stairs leading to Spaulding's room. H. Conroy said that on Monday night the prisoner offered to sell him a silver-mounted revolver. Another witness also testified to seeing the pistol. The prisoner committed himself by ask ing Mr. Price who put coal on during Mr. Spaulding's absence.
