

April 13. I had the pleasure of visiting Alexandra Lodge, No. 5, Port Hill. Owing to shortness of notice the attendance was not so large as on other occasions. The books were kept in good order and the Lodge generally is in a flourishing condition. Several questions on Ritual and Jurisprudence were discussed to the mutual advantage of all.

On Monday, 4th June, accompanied by Grand Secretary Higgs, I visited Victoria Lodge, No. 2, this City, and found it in a healthy condition, the books well kept, and the members hopeful. On the First Degree I witnessed work which did credit to the Lodge.

I issued a commission to G. Secretary Brother Higgs, to visit St. John's Lodge, No. 1, from whom I expect a report.

June 8. Mount Lebanon Lodge, No 6, Summerside, came in for a visit from me, accompanied by R. W. Grand Secretary Higgs, R. W. Deputy Grand Master Stewart, R. W. Grand Lecturer Morris, and P. R. W. Grand Lecturer McLean. We found the Lodge in a healthy state, books well kept. W. M. Baker exemplified work on the Third Degree in a very satisfactory manner, proving himself to be a workman who need not be ashamed.

On this same evening we visited King Hiram Lodge, No. 3. But, owing to the absence of the Secretary and his book for the year 1893, we were unable to examine the working of the Lodge from June until December.

I ordered the missing book to be sent to the Grand Secretary's office, which order was complied with. On examination of the book I found that they had received a petition from Mr. Goff, whom they entered without charging the usual fee. Immediately I telegraphed the Secretary to forward me his book for this year, also the Treasurer's cash book, in order to see if they would clear the matter up. Up to the present the order has not been complied with. With this exception I found the Lodge working closely along the lines of the constitution, and with such first-class material it should not be found behind any Lodge in the jurisdiction.

June 15. Accompanied by P. G. L. Duncan McLean I visited Prince Edward Lodge, No. 14, and met there R. W. D. G. M. Stewart, R. W. G. L. Morris, and S. G. W. Ross. I found that the book

perform

The
ing Loc
is a pro

After
to whic
pleasant with the

June
McLean
Bridge.

ing conc
I iss

Lodge,
Mount
reports

On
But hav
ness of
I am un

I tru
and end
to their

And
with the bear in the juris

I am
The
be more

In co risen in the embl
that time of this C Lodges,
which th