

NATURAL ENEMIES.

There are two enemies which deserve especial notice, and, from the good service they do, should be known by sight to every cultivator. They are the Fiery Ground-beetle or Cut Worm Lion (Calosoma calidum, Fab.)—Fig. C.—and the Black Ground Wasp (Ammophila luctuosa)—Fig. D. Both of these are desperate enemies of cut worms, the former feeding on them in all of its stages, the latter digging them out and storing its nest with them as food for its young grubs.

R
D. M. pest inspect
has proven
pests thus f

For su
pound sulpl
half gallon
sene oil, sti water. For used.

This so

Three
one can lye
boil slow tw
pump. Do
use kettle n

One po
with spray j

This eff
other states
while using concentrated
in a few pin
until dissol
solution to t
Fahrenheit.

The fol
ton : "Take
Heat this ac