were, as you may suppose, nearly wild with delight, and willingly gave their daughter to Prince Albertus, who had asked for her hand. And three weeks after, if you had come to the city where King Loyal Heart lives, you would have heard the wedding bells ringing for the marriage of Prince Albertus and the Princess Fairise of the White Heart.

Curious Caterpillars

Some of our party, camping out in the woods last summer, were greatly interested in watching the singular movements of a company of caterpillars upon a leafy branch.

There were about twenty of them, and they seemed to be travelling straight forward like an Eastern caravan in regular order, under the guidance of a leader, who was easily distinguished from the others by spots peculiar to himself.

One of the girls carelessly poked him with a twig, and to our surprise there was an immediate disturbance all along the line. The caterpillars crowded and knotted themselves into a bunch in complete confusion.

Soon the leader extricated himself

CONSUMPTION CURED

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 820 Power's Block, Rochester, N.Y.

from the writhing heap, and went about among his company touching each one with his head, as if giving instructions, not omitting one of the number. After apparently speaking to each, he led the way once more, and the others fell into regular line behind him.

We tried the experiment of moving and replacing him instantly at the head of the column, but chaos reigned as before, and the whole previous performance was repeated. He counted every one of his followers, recognizing, caressing, encouraging each, and then started them once more on their travels.

We tried the effect of removing one from midway of the ranks, and all behind that one were demoralized, and the forward ones soon missed their companions.

While the company was in confusion we removed one of the private soldiers, to see if he would be missed, and the captain searched perseveringly for him and would not give the order, "Forward, march," until we restored his friend.

These experiments naturally suggested the query, "Can caterpillars count?" At any rate we can but wonder at the instinct displayed by these little creatures whose lives are so brief.

In the Swiss Mountains

Far away in the Swiss mountains Nanette is living alone, watching the cows and sheep and goats that are taken up there in the summer to feed on the delicate grass that grows where the snow has been.

It is rather a lonely place, but Nanette does not mind that. She has always a great deal to do, and once a week her father or one of her brothers come up the steep path from the valley to see how she is getting on, and to bring her fresh provisions. They also take down the cheese and butter that Nanette has been making up on the hill-side.

All the cows know her quite well, and she has a separate name for each, which they will answer to when she calls them. When the cold weather comes, Nanette and her brother will drive them all down into the valley, where they will be kept through the long winter till the spring comes again.

Pure Blood

is absolutely necessary in order to have good health. The greatest affliction of the human race is impure blood.

There are about 2400 disorders incident to the human frame, the large majority arising from the impure or poisonous condition of the blood.

The best remedy for all blood diseases is found in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Its remarkable cures are its loudest praise. It is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

No remedy has ever had so marked success, or won such enormous sales.

Scrofula in its severest forms yields to its potent powers, blood poisoning and salt rheum and many other diseases are permanently cured by it. For a general Spring Medicine to remove those impurities which have accumulated during the winter, or to overcome That Tired Feeling, nothing equals

"I wish to say that 3 years ago we had a beautiful boy born to us. At the age of 11 months he breathed his last, a victim to impure blood. On Aug. 4, 1891, another boy was born, who at the age of two months became afflicted with the same disease. We believed the trouble was constitutional, and not common sore mouth. I procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and commenced to give it regularly to both mother and baby. Improvement began at once. We have succeeded in eradicating the scrofulous blood from the system and today we are blessed with a nice, fat baby boy, 18 months old—the very all life and full of mischief—thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am a minister in the Methodist Protestant church, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all as a safe, sure remedy. Even my wife, after taking Hood's, became healthy and fleshy and has the bloom of girlhood again." Rev. J. M. PATE, Brookline Station, Missouri.
