A good story is going the rounds at the expense of a well known election worker. In a number of Sussex churches, on Sunday last, sermons were preached advocating purity in Tuesday's election. In one of the churches the text "Whom Shall I Vote For," was announced on a bulletin board in front of the church. Some wag wrote beneath the text "For the Government candidates, McAllister, Scovil and Wetmore." The election worker in question seeing the state of affirs, concluded that the pastor was indulging the attention of a friend to the extraordinary circumstance.
