S. MILLEY, Water St.

Sable Island Ponies.

The freight train which arrived here at 6.30 p.m. yesterday in charge of Conductor Gaul, brought along 16 Sable Island ponies to the order of the Government. Mr. Delaney came in with them from the Island where they roam in hundreds, and carefully looked after them. They are very small but an exceedingly hardy little animal and will be splendidly adapted to our climate. When landed from the train they were objects of interest to many people.

Nothing From the Regulus Wreck.

The storm that prevailed the past 24 hours prevented anything being done in the way of visiting the scene of the wreck of the Regulus by the men at Petty Harbor. The first favorable opportunity twenty boats manned with fishermen will go out to the wreck in order to make an attempt to recover the bodies. It is believed that some of the crew got away in the lifeboats, which were swamped probably a good distance from the ship. This would account for the fact that no bodies were found near the wreck.

EXPRESS HELD UP.—Owing to the storm that raged on the West Coast the past 24 hours, the west-bound express was held up at South Branch till this morning.

Help the Afflicted.

The loss of the s.s. Regulus with so many precious lives on board has deprived several children and others of those to whom they looked for sustenance. On each occasion when shipwrecks occurred in the past our people upheld their generous traditions and quickly extended the hand of sympathy and succor. We would suggest that a public subscription be started to help those who by this accident are left without dear ones to protect and provide for them. No doubt the Government and the Municipal Council would help, when we feel assured our charitable citizens would likewise respond with their customary liberality.

Ladies of St. Bon's Meet

The quarterly meeting of the ladies of St. Bon's Association took place in the Aula Maxima last evening. Lady Morris, the President, made a special appeal to the meeting to help to make up the $2,000 in time for presentation at the annual meeting. Resolutions of condolence on the death of her father, Mr. W. Harris, was proposed by Lady Morris, seconded by Mrs. Keegan, was passed and ordered to be sent to the Secretary, Mrs. H. Tobin. Regret was also expressed at the illness of the V.P., Mrs. A. Mitchell. A series of teas will be given in the Aula Maxima during the month of November in aid of the funds. The first will be given next Wednesday by Mrs. J. V. O'Dea and Miss M. Ryan. There will also be a dance. Before the ladies departed to their homes tea was served by Mrs. J. F. Parker and $10.75 added to the funds.

Coal Catches Fire on S.S. Invermore.

While the s.s. Invermore was coaling at Morey's wharf, South Side, yesterday afternoon preparatory to going to Labrador, the coal in the after hatch took fire, caused by spontaneous combustion. The men who were working there at the coal—Messrs. Coady, Burke, Volsey and Flemming—had to quit in a hurry to avoid being suffocated. The ship's hose was quickly brought into use by the crew and the fire was put out by 6 o'clock. The ship was hauled to the R. N. Co. pier at midnight.

A Sad Case.

Mrs. Osborne, whose husband, the chief steward of the ship, was lost in the Regulus, has 5 children to look after. The youngest is only 2 months old and one of the little boys is delicate, and since hearing of the loss of his father is very ill. Mrs. Osborne herself enjoys anything but good health, and to be thus left with so many small children to look after is a hard trial.

Here and There.

Advocates Conscription

London, Oct. 17.—Among prominent Englishmen who have most recently actively advocated the enactment of universal compulsory military training of the male population of the United Kingdom is Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood. Affirming that it is the duty of every man to defend his country in times of national danger, he contends that to do so effectively every man must be systematically trained as a soldier in times of peace. To this end, in so far as it may be obtained in existing circumstances, he has been foremost in urging the widespread establishment of miniature rifle ranges.

"It is now generally admitted," said he, when he recently presided, at the invitation of Lady St. Helier, at the opening of such a practice range at Cold Ash, in Berkshire, "that however inadequate the training on a miniature range may be in comparison with that obtainable on an open range, yet nine-tenths of the difficulty of service shooting may be overcome on a miniature range."

Compulsory Service.—"For many years, both officially and privately, I have advocated compulsory service for home defence. I believe the need of compulsory service is all the greater to-day. The difficulty of persuading the British public of this necessity is partly due to the immunity which they have enjoyed from the horrible sufferings inseparable from an invasion, successful or unsuccessful."

"If any of you here live to see our country invaded—and, humanly speaking, unless the whole male population is trained to arms, I believe some of you certainly will see that result—it is well that you should realize what would happen right here when, say, ten thousand men of an enemy's army reach Newbury."

"In the Franco-Prussian War on one occasion the general, anxious to keep his soldiers in good heart, ordered double rations to be exacted from the inhabitants, and the clergyman of Froeschweiler, in Alsace, a village I have frequently visited, tells in a published narrative of the war a piteous story of the result to a couple of peasants with many children."

Horrors of Invasion.—"They had eleven loaves" in the house, and gave up to a requisitioning party all but one, which they concealed by making a little girl sit on it. She got so tired of the uncomfortable seat that the loaf was then hidden in a dove-cot, where it was found by another party of soldiers. The father pleaded that his children must starve if the loaf was taken, and the soldiers left them half of it. As the clergyman writes of the invaders, "Though we suffered terribly, the soldiers had to live."

"My main interest in the village was on account of the devoted courage of General Michel's cuirassier brigade, which in repeated efforts to gain time for the infantry to retire accepted death and was annihilated. In a French convalescent home at Brighton there is now one of seven of the cuirassiers who survived. He says that, terrible as were the battle scenes, requisitioning a French village and carrying off from one's own people every morsel of food was still worse."

The Open Door for Consumption

And How "Father Morris's No. 10" (Lung Tonic) Closes it.

A low run-down condition, with perhaps a neglected cold and a little cough, is a cordial invitation to the White Plague, Consumption, to come in and make itself at home. And it seldom overlooks the invitation.

In such a case there is no time to be lost. The door must be promptly closed. This can be done by taking a complete rest, with plenty of fresh air, and "Father Morris's No. 10" (Lung Tonic). This medicine clears out the passages, relieves the cough, and heals the delicate membrane of lungs and air passages. But perhaps most important of all, it builds up the whole system, giving Nature the needed assistance in fighting off the dread disease.

Rod and Gun.

Big game hunting is to the fore in the October issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., and sportsmen intending to try their fortunes in the woods this season will find the number particularly attractive. Moose, deer, grizzlies, mountain lions and wolves are all told about and both stories and illustrations are bound to find responsive echoes with all hunters. In each case the experiences related are personal and therefore far more interesting than any imaginary tales. In addition to big game stories there are numerous attractive papers dealing with other phases of outdoor life and both the east and west of Canada receive attention in this way. A finely illustrated account of the Dominion trap-shooting meet at Montreal is included. Canadian sportsmen may take up this issue, confident of finding within its pages something to interest them whatever may be their particular inclination in matters of sport. The variety of ground covered is remarkable and probably accounts for the continued and wide interest aroused by the Magazine in the sporting advantages and possibilities of Canada.

4,000,000-ton Excavation

The River Tyne Commissioners considered at yesterday's meeting in Newcastle-on-Tyne a letter from Messrs. Armstrong, Whitworth, and Co., stating that they contemplated making large extensions to the company's naval equipment yard at Walker-on-Tyne, converting it into a warship-building yard, where it was proposed in future to build warships instead of at Elswick shipyard as at present. To enable them to carry out this scheme, said the letter, it was necessary for them to buy a large amount of land there, but before finally signing the contract they asked for the removal of certain building restrictions imposed upon the land. The commissioners confirmed the recommendations of their committee for removal of the restrictions, subject to the commissioners' interests being safeguarded.

WHOLE FAMILY WAS AFFLICTED BUT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS RESTORED ALL TO PERFECT HEALTH.

Father, Mother and Daughter after years of suffering are made healthy and happy by great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

St. Leon Standon, Dorchester Co., Que., October 26.—(Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills have no equal as a family medicine is proved conclusively by the statement of Mr. George Lacasse, a well known resident of this place. His statement given for publication is:

"For twelve years I had pains in the small of my back. My head would ache and my muscles would cramp. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

"My wife was troubled with Kidney Disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her."

"My little girl had nervous trouble. She was so sad that she could not keep her hands and feet quiet. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her."

Is it any wonder that Mr. Lacasse is shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He has learned through experience as have thousands of other Canadians that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Kidney Disease no matter where it appears, or in what form it is found. Dodd's Kidney Pills should always find a place in the family medicine chest.

Universal Race Congresses.

London, Oct. 17.—One of the most remarkable congresses ever held in London is to take place next year, soon after the coronation. It is to be a meeting of East and West and will be known as the "First Universal Races Congress." It was originated as far back as 1906 by Dr. Felix Adler, professor of social ethics of Columbia University, and the responses to the appeal have been so numerous that up to the present more than fifty nations have intimated their intention of being present.

There are thirty presidents of parliaments, a dozen British governors, nearly the same number of prime ministers, 130 professors of international law, more than forty overseas bishops and 120 members of the Permanent Court of Arbitration of the Second Hague Conference, and the general secretary is Mr. G. Spiller, of Hampstead, who has gone to America to make fuller arrangements there.
