Enamel People.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"I never saw anyone so improved," said Molly, the little stenographer lady. "In just what way?" asked the cynic. Molly wrinkled her nose, thoughtfully. "She seems softer and more human."

"Was she inhuman before?" "Silly!" with an intonation that robbed it of any meaning. "You must know what I mean. She was always witty and amusing and interesting, but there was a kind of hard finish on top of it all that made you feel as if she were shut up somewhere away from you. If you tried to get close to her you felt as if you were sliding off some hard, slippery surface. She made me think of beautiful shiny cold things, like enamel and diamonds."

The cynic laughed heartily at this characterization, but even without knowing the particular lady in question, I thought it very clever. You see I know other people whom it fits. Don't you?

People whom we would like ever so well if we weren't somehow held off and repelled by that peculiar hardness.

Since I heard Molly's characterization I have been calling to mind some of the people that give me that feeling, and trying to pick out the qualities that put that enamel on their personalities.

Too Much Prosperity Often Enamels People.

It seems to me that self-centredness is one of them; a fear of being imposed upon another, conceit is another.

er, money worship and overweening ambition also have that effect. Sometimes too much prosperity seems to put this hard finish on a character that would otherwise be pleasing and attractive. There was a woman in our town who for years had everything her own way. She married better than any of her friends, she traveled, she had lovely clothes and charming children. She had been a girl of considerable charm, but the uninterrupted success seemed to put a veneer of self-satisfaction and lack of sympathy over that charm. She was brilliant, interesting, successful, but no longer as attractive as she had been. And then, all of a sudden, there came a break in the course of her prosperity. One misfortune after another overtook her. It was as if the blows of fate broke the veneer. She softened and humanized and once more became one of the most charming and beloved women in the community.

We Admire But Don't Love These People.

We may admire people whose character has this brilliant hardness, but we don't love them. Of course a character needs some hardness to give it firmness and force, but the point beyond which it is a drawback is easily reached.

Would you rather be admired or loved? Is there any undue degree of hardness in your character? These are two questions I asked myself. Perhaps you'd like to ask them of yourself.

Our Volunteers.

The recruiting average of late has been fairly good. Four more young men offered their services for the Empire yesterday, bringing the total number of enrolments up to 2434. During the day the volunteers were engaged at indoor drill and the members of G Company were given their fortnightly pay in the afternoon. The new recruits who enlisted yesterday are:—Edward Plowman, Port Saunders. Mac W. Throne, Fortune, F. B. Jas. Sears, St. John's. Wm. Jas. Hiscock, Manuels.

Fishery Report.

The following reports of the cod-fishery for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 16th are now posted at the Board of Trade rooms:—
Oct. 16th. From J. Leawood, (Britannia)—The total catch is 3140 qtls. Labrador and 1850 Shore fish, with 280 for last week. The shore fishery is now practically over and all the fleet have returned from Labrador except one freighter, which is expected shortly.
Oct. 16th. From Jas. White, (Colinet Island to Head of Salmonier)—Fifty dorset and 20 boats are still fishing. The catch to date is 6000 qtls., but for last week, nothing. The fishery is about over for the season and prospects are poor, squid bait being very scarce. The boats are now giving up according as they arrive.
Oct. 16th. From A. Hollett, (Sound Island to North Hr.)—There is plenty of bait, but cod is scarce and only a little is being taken on trawls, and then only when the trawls are baited at night. Four boats and 30 dorsets and skiffs are fishing. The total catch is 1556 qtls. and for last week 60.

Mamma! Don't You See Your Child is Sick, Constipated

Look at tongue! More poisons from liver and bowels at once.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.
When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowels cleansing should always be the first treatment given. Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.
Keep it handy in your home. A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup Co."

MONUMENTAL.

When I have ceased to rant and rave, and all my earthly days are spent, I pray you place not on my grave a large and gaudy monument. All ostentation's doubly vain, when on this world we've closed our eyes; legend plain: "Beneath this board your uncle lies." For if I've cut some grass on earth, I'll need no marble to proclaim the story of my sterling worth, or to perpetuate my fame. And if I am a false alarm, not worth the room I occupy, no towering shaft can add a charm to my hum record, when I die. How foolish look the gents who sleep beneath all kinds of sculptured rocks, who were considered passing cheap, before we placed each in his box. How foolish is all such parade, such pomp amid the graveyard gorse! A hundred-dollar saddle laid upon a fifteen-dollar horse! When I have jumped this mundane realm, and journeyed o'er the silent sea, a three-foot slab of slippery elm is plenty good enough for me.

T. A. CELEBRATION.—The T. A. and B. Society held a very enjoyable dance at their Armoury last night in celebration of the anniversary of Father Matthew. The attendance was very large and excellent music was furnished by the Society's band. During the evening refreshments were served in the reading room by the ladies' committee.

The Hygiene of Gas Lighting.

Incandescent gas is the ideal form of illumination for a living room. The soft yet brilliant light given off floods the room, and is restful both to the eyes and to the senses, preventing home-sickness or sewing from being a source of eyestrain.

It has, moreover, been scientifically determined that the strong uprush of heated products of combustion from gas burners draws up the emanations from the skin and lungs of the occupants of the room, chairs and sterilizes any accompanying germs, and, reaching the ceiling, diffuses through the plaster so rapidly as to draw fresh air from the windows and other openings.
