GREATEST ACTOR IN FAMOUS PICTURE.

A charming musical programme was given at the Nickel Theatre last evening by the excellent orchestra. The audiences were delighted with it and the musicians were warmly applauded. This evening there is another grand assortment of pictures which all patrons should make an effort to see. Tyrone Power will appear in Thomas Hood's world famous poem "The Dream of Eugene Aram." This picture is in three parts and is certain to afford satisfaction to all. Then Roy L. McCardell's powerful serial story "The Diamond from the Sky" will be continued. FRIDAY, Sept. 1, 16.
 Castor Jell is a Castor Oil Compound in palatable form, and is useful for infants, children and adults. Where there is diarrhoea or cramps caused by the presence of undigested food in the bowels, Castor Jell is distinctly one of the best remedies, and has helped many a mother out of a tight place with the children. It is 34 per cent pure Castor Oil, but so sweetened and aromatized that no child or delicate person will refuse to take it, or be nauseated by it. Castor Jell is particularly useful at this season, and families where there are children should keep a bottle in the house. Price 25c. a bottle.

ACTING P.M.G.—Owing to the death of the late Hon. H. J. B. Woods, P.M.G., the responsibility of the postal service rests on the shoulders of the chief clerk and assistant, Geo. W. LeMessurier, Esq. The acting P.M.G. has for upwards of forty years been connected with the postal department, entering the service when but a boy as assistant to his father, the late Geo. LeMessurier, Esq. No man in the Colony is more familiar with postal matters than is Mr. LeMessurier, whose experience has been gained by hard and consistent work in the interests of the department and the public at large. Close on 2,000 officials deal directly through his office of whom 90 p.c. are personally known to him. With the other officials he deeply regrets the demise of their late head, the Hon. H. J. B. A Dangerous Game.

Whatever the idea, the Teutons are setting a precedent full of danger for the side likely to be defeated. In case the Entente troops should eventually reach Berlin and parade in the Siegesallee it might become a question of expatriating, by way of making stronger allied frontiers, a few million Germans and Austrians. The German immigrant element in Alsace, which has thriven since the last war at the expense of the inhabitants, lends itself to this treatment. So does the German speaking element which practices economic parasitism on the unfortunate Slavs of Bohemia, Galicia and Prussian Poland. What objection could the Teutons make if a finally victorious enemy should not disdain to apply the Teuton's own approved and sanctioned practices upon them? Eviction was a bad game for them to start.—New York Sun.

"Playing Safe."

It may be that the mass of Americans have not yet risen to an appreciation of American ideals. It may be that they do not yet realize that their prime duty is to stand publicly for those ideals at home and abroad. If so, is it not because Mr. Wilson has failed to grasp the great opportunity of moral and patriotic leadership that was offered to him? Instead of rising to a great occasion, instead of touching the consciences of the people and arousing them to their duties, Mr. Wilson appears to us to have devoted himself to "playing safe." Such a spirit in such a crisis of civilization as the world is now facing repels our sympathy and confidence. We prefer to follow the King of the Belgians rather than the King of the Greeks.—New York Outlook.

The separate skirt, with a fanciful fichu blouse has come in again for informal evening wear.

It is a pretty idea to make the pockets of the gown of the same material as the collar and cuffs.
