The American Elections

When the twenty million voters headed for the polls in the various parts of the United States on Tuesday morning, no one seemed capable of forecasting with any degree of certainty the result of the election. Within twenty-four hours the world had learned that the Republican nominees for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency, Calvin Coolidge and Charles Dawes, have been chosen by overwhelming pluralities.

Anyone who has followed the long campaign which has been conducted by the American press, and who is unfamiliar with the methods adopted to influence the electorate, would be led to believe that the people had to decide the issue by weighing the different offences with which the candidates were charged, rather than by summing up their respective merits. This may not be altogether peculiar to American election tactics; in fact, similar methods have not been unheard of much nearer home, but in recent contests of this kind it has been made clearly evident that they do not influence the public to any extent.

The result of the election is similar in many respects to that of the British contest. The fears of the Communist element had its counterpart in the menace of La Folletteism in America, real or assumed. The vote recorded in both instances appears to be a record one, and the American people have decided to return a Party which in policy is similar to that of the Baldwin Administration.

The Police and The Public

Several cases tried in the Police Court recently have been the result of rowdiness on the public street. In a city such as St. John's, which contains at certain times of the year a large floating population, disturbances of this kind are almost inevitable, and it is to the credit of the police that they are not more frequent or more serious.

A matter which calls for more serious notice than the actual quarrels is the tendency which has shown itself of late to defy the police authorities when they have called upon the individuals involved to desist, and even to attempt to interfere with the officers when they have been compelled to make an arrest after more lenient measures have failed.

On Monday Judge Morris in dealing with a case of this kind, which was by no means the first, expressed in an unmistakable manner his opinion of such conduct, and clearly intimated that he was determined to uphold the police in carrying out their duties. It is certain that, in exercising the full weight of his authority in punishing such offenders he will have the strong support of public opinion.

There is another matter in connection with these disturbances which cannot be overlooked, and which is not altogether to our credit as a law abiding community. At times the police, attacked by overpowering numbers, have been compelled to call upon spectators for assistance.

istance. That help has not always been forthcoming, although it is well known that the officers are perfectly within their rights in demanding it and that citizens are bound to respond.

Apart altogether from the duty which devolves upon citizens in such a case, it should not be forgotten that as Britishers we love to see fair play, and that the laws which govern our actions are the very foundation upon which our freedom rests, and have been made by ourselves.

In no other part of the world can be found a more capable body of men than the London police, and the secret of their efficiency lies in the fact that the police are their staunch supporters. To them he represents the law which they regard as sacred and which must be upheld at any cost.

A moment's consideration is sufficient to convince us how strong are the claims which the policeman has upon our support. Day and night we rely upon him for protection and safety. We sleep peacefully in our beds because we know he is on his beat. We leave our stores and offices in his care at the end of the day, in the knowledge that they will be protected. We deposit our money in the banks with confidence, because we are aware that he is keeping a vigilant watch over those institutions. He is at our beck and call at all times, and promptly responds whenever his presence is required. In particular he has in his care our women and children, and he is the chief factor in the suppression of crime.

In order that the force can carry out their arduous and responsible duties effectively, it is incumbent upon the public to see that the authority of the police is fully recognized and respected. Further if occasion should arise when that authority is challenged, there should be no hesitation on the part of anyone to respond promptly to the call for assistance.

A Correction

In our report yesterday of the opening of the big Mercantile Fair we inadvertently stated that Booth No. 32 was owned by A. Harvey & Co. This should have been Messrs. Harvey & Co. Ltd., which is an entirely different concern, and who are displaying a most unique and very interesting grocery exhibit consisting of such favourite household edibles as "Widener Patent" known to be Canada's best flour, Armada tea, Bowling Green the perfect roasted coffee, and Morris & Co's new style tinned meat products in their attractive alight parchment label.

The booth is unique in as much as it suggests a very clever representation of the monster "Hood" which visited our shores some two months ago. To visitors at this booth are being distributed daily (to adults only) lucky coupons for a Christmas drawing of valuable and seasonal gifts, the winning numbers of which will be announced in the Telegram on December 20th. Our readers should make it a point of getting one of the coupons when visiting this particular booth.

Fish Not as Dry as Should be

In a report to the Board of Trade forwarded by Messrs. Lind & Couto, Oporto, on October 15th, the following paragraph appears:—

"Demand for British fish is still dull. Exchange continues to rise and dealers are therefore only buying sufficient for their daily requirements as they expect prices to come down still further. It is of course impossible to say what the future course of the exchange will be, and dealers are not taking any risks. We expect, however, in spite of the exchange, to see a fair demand for good qualities before Christmas time. In reply to your query we may say that generally Newfoundland fish is not as dry as it should be. This is a pity, as fish for our market should be as dry as possible."

THE TRAINS.—Tuesday's express arrived Bishop's Falls 3:45 p.m. The express with the Kyle's mail and passengers left Port aux Basques 8:30 a.m. The local Carbonear train arrived at 12:25 p.m. The Trepansey train went out at 11:30 a.m.

Remembrance Day, 1924

THE CALL

In Flanders fields,
 Between the crosses, row on row,
 That mark our place; and in the sky
 The larks, still bravely singing, fly
 Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
 We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
 Loved and were loved, and now we lie
 In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
 To you from falling hands we throw
 The torch; be yours to hold it high;
 If ye break faith with us who die,
 We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
 In Flanders fields.

JOHN MCRAE.

Poppy Day in drawing near and we turn aside for a moment to reflect seriously on the grave responsibility which we must accept and on the duty we owe to the dependents of our gallant boys who faced death for our protection. It is the day when the Call goes out to the public for assistance to relieve the distress among those of our men who can no longer support their families and the News-papers present for general information the particulars of what has been accomplished as a result of the whole-hearted response from a grateful public on Remembrance Day 1923.

Now we are coming to another Remembrance Day and those who rest beneath the Poppies of Flanders are calling to us in spirit to keep faith with them. We pledge to keep a solemn responsibility to assume—that of relieving our distressed comrades and in a practical way, to radiate sunshine into sad hearts where the bread winner is handicapped by ill health and where warmth and food is needed to nourish the frail bodies of children whose father sacrificed his health for King and Country. We feel that as Poppy Day approaches, the spirit which animated our people in the past will respond to the Call of those who gave up their opportunities, offered their lives on the altar of sacrifice in order that our Empire could be saved, our children and women folk protected and the world be made safe for Democracy.

LET US NEVER FAIL IN OUR DUTY TO HELP THOSE WHO DID SO MUCH TO HELP US.

THE ANSWER

The Victory Emblem.

Oh! you who sleep in Flanders fields,
 Sleep on—be true to the dream:
 We caught the torch you threw,
 And holding high we kept
 The faith with those who died.

We cherish, too, the poppy red,
 That grows on fields where valor led,
 It seems to signal to the skies
 That blood of heroes never dies,
 But lends a cluster to the red
 Of the flower that blooms above the dead
 In Flanders fields.

And now the torch and poppy red
 Fear in honour of the dead.
 Fear not that ye have died for naught:
 We've learned the lesson that ye taught.

GO TO THE FAIR

The following brief references dealing with the various exhibits at the Industrial Fair will be continued in subsequent issues of the Telegram until each display has been dealt with. It is impossible, however, to even begin to do full justice to the general excellence which is everywhere in evidence, and our intention is to give those unable to attend an idea of what has been accomplished. To the others we say "Go and see."

A. M. PENMAN CO.

A. M. Penman Company have a large booth in which is displayed a high grade Chesterfield Suite, locally manufactured, and several tables of dainty design and finish. On one side of the booth are to be found musical instruments representing the well known pianos of Hiltman, Toronto, Sherlock-Manning, London, Kehler & Campbell, New York, and Carl Ronisch, Dresden. Situated in the centre is a player piano, where an assistant is engaged to play any piece of music desired. The locally manufactured upholstery in particular has evoked very favorable comment.

RIVERSIDE WOOLLEN MILLS, LTD.

The Riverside Woollen Mills have a booth arranged on a most excellent scale. One side represents an up-to-date bedroom where the Riverside Blankets are prominently displayed; while on the other side are shown other excellent articles made by the Company, viz: Yarn, Wool, pieces of Swanskin-Mackinaws, Overcoatings, and Home-Spun, Socks, etc. The local products, particularly the blankets, have only to be seen to be appreciated.

GADEN'S AERATED WATER WORKS

A booth which called for much favorable comment is that of Gaden's Aerated Water Works, where there is to be found a well arranged display of locally manufactured drinks of various flavors. All drinks are manufactured from the purest and best ingredients and a full stock of the samples on display can always be obtained at this old established firm, on Duckworth Street. The booth has attracted much attention and the owners are to be complimented on its excellence.

STANDARD MFG. CO., LTD.

The display of the Standard Manufacturing Company is one of the best in the Exhibition. In the centre of the booth is situated a model dwelling house, surrounded by grass lawns and trees. Here can be found the various products of the Company, whose aim is to furnish the consumer with first class articles at a minimum cost. They consist of Matchless Paint "The Paint of Quality," and a special line of locally manufactured clothing.

"NONIA"

"Nonia" is a word made up of the united letters of the Newfoundland Outport Nursing and Industrial Association. All those who visit the booth marked "Nonia" will find on display articles too numerous to mention, knitted or woven by the fishermen of the Island under instructions given by members of the Association. A list of the centres is prominently displayed on show cards at the booth, and the demand for the products of this industry is constantly increasing.

DICKS & CO.

An attractive booth is that of Dicks & Co., Ltd., contains a display of office requisites. Amongst other articles on display is the Dalton Adding Machine, Columbia Graphophone and records, and the Royal and Corona portable typewriters for sale. The firm has the exclusive agency. The other exhibits are book-bindings, loose leaf binding and accounting forms, all of which is turned out by the local plant.

J. R. MITCHELL & CO., LTD.

Messrs. J. R. Mitchell & Co., Ltd., have two nicely arranged booths at the Fair, one of which is situated in the western end of the Prince's Rink where Nugget Boot Polish is on display. Here two boys, blackened up, are engaged giving free shoe shines to those who desire it. The boys are very enthusiastic bootblacks and very quickly demonstrated the quality of the polish. Other lines carried by this firm will be mentioned in a later issue.

THOMPSON LEATHER CO., LTD.

The Thompson Leather Co., Limited, of Hr. Grace, have on display different grades of leather made at their own factory in Hr. Grace. One of their latest products is known as the Anti-Rubber Leather, in which are shown men's and boys' boots made from this material. In the same booth are to be found oil skins for the Fishmen, Canvas Jackets and Overalls, for the Tradesmen; all of which has been turned out by the Hr. Grace Oil Clothing Company. The quality of the goods was the subject of much comment, and it certainly speaks well for the local manufacturers at the second city.

J. T. LAMB.

The booth in which J. T. Lamb, the Watchmaker and Jeweller, is situated, is covered with a fine display of clocks, which were recently imported from England. Among them is the famous "Bueile" Clock, which is guaranteed to keep going for a period of ten years. Resting on a table at the entrance to the stall, is a "Curio," enclosed in a glass case. On one side of the Curio is engraved a picture of the "Great Eastern," which laid the first cable line here in 1864; while on the other is recorded the particulars showing the undertaking was successfully accomplished.

F. M. O'LEARY.

Mr. F. M. O'Leary has a very attractive exhibit of goods for which he is the sole agent for Newfoundland. Amongst the exhibits to be found are Palmolive Soap, which millions are using daily; Pet Evaporated Milk, which has won popularity since it was introduced into the Island; Luxura Orange Pekoe Tea, grown in the best tea gardens in the world, and other well known articles, such as Sun-dried Prunes, Jellies, etc. Visitors to the booth were delighted with its attractiveness.

AYRE & SONS.

Messrs. Ayre & Sons, with booths Nos. 1, 2, and 3, are situated in the eastern end of the Prince's Rink, and a full line of merchandise is on display. Included in the exhibits are Labella and Eskimo novelties, too numerous to mention, besides a full line of jewellery. Those in charge of the booths are only too happy to give visitors all the information desired. One of the booths is used as a musical and song store, in which is situated a piano and all the latest song hits; while a lady attendant is there to play over any piece of music desired.

MARSHALL BROS.

The enterprising firm of Messrs. Marshall Bros. has a booth stocked with a dainty assortment of millinery and dry goods that is bound to please. One of the features is a lady's hat and a pair of gold radius worked on black silk velvet. It has been turned out by the firm's millinery department and represents a rare combination of artistic taste and workmanship. Situated in the centre of the booth is a complete radio broadcasting outfit. During the nights of the Fair the latest musical selections are broadcasted from the stations abroad, and this gives everybody a chance of listening in on the concert. The well known firm has secured the agency of a radio firm in the States, and in the course of a few weeks will be able to attend to all radio requirements at their store on Water St.

T. A. MACNAB & CO.

Here is displayed the firm's well known agencies, viz: Fry's Cocoa, Borden's Milk, Salada Tea, Campbell's Soups, Two-In-One Shoe Polish, etc. A visit to this booth to partake of a cup of the well known Fry's Cocoa, or an appetizing cup of Oxo, will convince one and all of the excellence of these beverages. Two waitresses, one dressed as Oxo, and another, the Fry Girl, are always found in readiness to cater to visitors, and they are kept busy. The booth is very attractive and is well worth a visit.

The Fair the Popular Attraction

The second day of the Mercantile and Industrial Fair was attended by even larger numbers than on opening day, and all who visited it spoke in the highest admiration of the booths. Yesterday afternoon close on one thousand people were present, included in which were a large number of children who were mostly interested in the booths where samples were distributed. At night the attendance was the largest yet. Both buildings were crowded with interested visitors at all times it was very difficult to move about freely. During the evening the C.L.B. Band and Prince's Orchestra rendered a select programme of musical airs, which was greatly appreciated by the large gathering. The dancing gallery was largely patronized, and increases in popularity as the Fair goes on.

Cochrane Street Centennial Church

The Rev. R. Newton Powell will be the special Preacher morning and evening at the Thanksgiving Services next Sunday in the above Church. Mr. Powell is one of the strong men of Methodism in Toronto and has taken an active part in all the forward movements of the Church. He is a forceful Preacher, strong in argument, happy in illustration and clear in sending home his points. His text for the morning service will be from Isaiah "A man shall be as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." In the evening he will speak from Jeremiah "The vessel that he made of clay was marred in the hand of the potter; so he made it again, another vessel." The order for both services will be specially printed. After the evening service there will be a short vocal and instrumental festival. The collection at both services will be devoted to the reduction of the debt upon the Church edifice and in view of improved conditions it is expected that the response will be general and generous. Few holders are requested to be present at least ten minutes before commencement of services after which the Church will be thrown open so that visiting friends may be accommodated.
