CHRISTMAS VEGETABLES

with duck, but are a decided luxury in December.

If the flavor of the stuffing is definitely onion, squash should be the vegetable. Do not repeat flavors. It makes a meal monotonous and uninteresting.

The salad should be a simple green salad served with French dressing.

Mashed squash, creamed onions, buttered turnips or parsnips are quite acceptable as a more elaborately served vegetable. But if you would "paint the lily" here are some means of doing it that will not necessitate a lot of fussing at the last minute.

Onions Au Gratin.
Twelve medium sized onions, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups water, salt and pepper, bread crumbs, grated cheese.

Peel onions and let stand in cold salted water half an hour. Cut in quarter-inch slices. Parboil five minutes in water to cover. Drain and pour over cold water. Drain. Put in a well-buttered baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour over the sauce made by melting the butter, stirring in the flour and gradually adding the water, stirring constantly.

Bake in a moderate oven half an hour. Then cover with coarse bread crumbs, dot with bits of butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Return to oven half an hour. Increase heat the last 10 minutes to brown crumbs.

Parsnip Fritters.
Eight parsnips, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup cracker crumbs, 1 egg.

Wash and boil parsnips till tender. Plunge into cold water and slip skins. Mash and add cracker crumbs, melted butter, sugar, salt and pepper.

Mix thoroughly and add egg well beaten. Shape in little flat cakes, roll in flour and fry in a spider to a golden brown. Use half butter and half lard for frying and as little as possible to keep from burning.

Turnip Croquettes.
Eight turnips, 2 potatoes, salt and pepper, 2 eggs, bread crumbs. Cut in wash and pare turnips. Cut in Pattern 3555 was used for this design. It is cut in three sizes, 16, 18, and 20 years. An 18-year size will require 4 1/2 yards of 44-inch material. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is two yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps. Address all pattern orders to Pattern Department.

GIVE SILVER TO BRIDE-ELECT.

A happy time was spent at the home of Mrs. James Stuart, Komoka, Wednesday afternoon, when a large number of the friends of Miss Aggie Delgish, a bride-to-be, gathered to wish her much happiness and to offer their congratulations. On behalf of those present, little Misses Katharine Stewart and Margaret Mathewson presented Miss Delgish with a basket of silver.

W. M. S. INCREASES GIVINGS.
The Kintyre W. M. S. held its annual meeting on December 14. Mrs. Leitch presiding. The reports for the year were encouraging, showing an enthusiastic interest in the work, also an increase in givings, $489.08 being contributed.

The officers for 1922 are: Honorary president, Mrs. James; president, Mrs. (Rev.) W. A. Leitch; first vice-president, Mrs. John Lamont; second vice-president, Mrs. Dan MacMillan; secretary, Miss Marion MacMillan; treasurer, Mrs. John Moore; Messengers, Mrs. N. D. MacMillan; Home Helpers, Mrs. John Moore.

BELMONT W. M. S. ELECTS OFFICERS.
Most encouraging reports were presented at the annual meeting of the Knox Presbyterian Church Women's Missionary Society of Belmont, when the following officers were elected for 1922: Honorary presidents, Mrs. A. J. Taylor, Miss Kennedy and Mrs. J. V. Stewart; president, Miss Jean Elphinstone; first vice-president, Mrs. Campbell; Miss Mary Chivers; second vice-president, Miss Alice Smith; assistant-secretary, Mrs. McKillop; secretary of literature and supplies, Mrs. L. Campbell; messengers, Mrs. A. Beattie; treasurer, Mrs. L. Campbell; Y. W. A., Mrs. R. A. Taylor; pianist, Mrs. Stewart; expense fund secretary, Mrs. McNabb; editor "Current Events," Mrs. Beattie.

NORTH STREET W. M. S. AIDS SALVATION ARMY.
A generous balm for the Christmas work of the Salvation Army was packed in connection with the annual meeting of North Street Wesleyan Methodist Church Women's Missionary Society. The election of officers for next year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Stevenson; first vice-president, Mrs. N. Davis; second vice-president, Mrs. Ed. Scott; supply secretary, Mrs. Gowanlock; Messengers, Mrs. Stevenson, with Mrs. Wesley Hunt as assistant; home helpers, Mrs. Davidson; strangers, Mrs. George Burt; whistlers, Mrs. Ed. Scott; organist, Mrs. Gowanlock.

WILTON GROVE W. M. S.
Miss Manning, missionary from China on furlough, gave a most interesting talk on the Chinese people at the annual meeting of the W. M. S. of the First Presbyterian Church, Westminster, held in the Sunday school, Dec. 15.

The reports of the different branches of the society showed a good advance for the past year.

The officers for 1922 are: President, Mrs. George Elliott; secretary-treasurer, Miss Eva Elliott; supply secretary, Mrs. L. McKillop; Home Helpers, Mrs. L. McKillop; Messengers, Mrs. L. McKillop; Literature Secretary, Miss Violet Grive; Literature Secretary, Miss Mabel Wilson.

PERSONALS
Miss Nancy Hunter and Mr. Fred Hunter of Ottawa will spend Christmas with Miss Fairbairn, Colborne street.

Mrs. W. S. Fenton was the hostess of a bridge of two tables Tuesday afternoon, a number of friends dropping in at the tea hour.

Miss Agnes Stewart of the Technical School staff is going to Toronto to spend the Christmas holidays with her sister, Dr. Elizabeth Stewart.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

"I'M ON THE JOB."
Dear Miss Grey:—As it is near Christmas I thought I would drop in and leave a wee mite for the kiddies.

Have any of your readers the dialogue, entitled "Uncle Pike From Way Down East"? I would like to get it. If any of the readers would send it I would copy and return.

If any of the Mail-Box readers would care to correspond to pass away a little time during the winter months, "I'm on the job."

GIVES HER DOLLS.
Dear Miss Grey:—I saw in last week's paper where a lady wanted some dolls for her children. I am a little girl, 9 years old. I did not keep the paper, but I think she signed her name "Three in Need." If you could send me her address I would be able to help her. D. W. S.

It was sweet of you, D. W. S., to offer your dollies to these poor little children. I have sent you the address as requested.

OUR AIN FOLK.
Dear Friends:—When the last glimmer of daylight dies, and dark forms of trees whisper together, and faces as we press onward against the chilly night wind. When bright lights from cottage windows cheer us, and every opening doorway sends us long "snuffs" of sage and onions, when daddy comes home laden with mysterious packages—let us thank God for one more Christmas to spend with our loved ones, more chance to amend our lives, and we sit by our "wee bit ingle," let us be thankful for the simple joys of home, which never fail us.

Blow winter winds! 'tis bleak December!
But what care we! June's blushing rose we will remember, With constancy.

Shine Christmas star—thy silvery pathway lend us, To light our way; With gifts from our hearts' garden send us, To Christ, this day.

MARCH WIND.
Well, Christmas has already brought the Mail-Box one gift—a letter from March Wind. Do come back! It is like old times to have you with us again, March Wind. The poem has been forwarded to Fern, but the address you ask for is not on the family list.

EASTERN STAR SENDS CONTRIBUTION.
Miss Grey:—Inclosed you will find $1.40 Canadian postal note, $1.50 in bills and 15c in stamps. There was $2.10 for block money and 95c for corn cobs. Please let me know through the columns of your paper if you receive same.

EASTERN STAR.
Thank you very much, Eastern Star, for this nice contribution to our hospital fund. Nearly all the returns are in from our quilt, so I will be able to announce very soon the total amount realized from it.

POOR LITTLE BLOSSOM.
Dear Cynthia:—Have you or any of the Boxites a reading entitled "Poor Little Blossom," the first lines of which is: "Oh, dear, I'm so tired and lonesome, I wonder why mother don't come."

MARY JANE.
If this recitation is sent into the Mail-Box I shall forward it to you immediately.

WITH THE BRIDES
McKAY—CREASEY.
The Divine Street Methodist parsonage, Sarnia, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, Dec. 14, when Hazel Irene, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Creasey, of Springfield, became the bride of Wesley McKay of Lang, Sask., son of Mr. M. McKay, Old Springfield, Rev. Dr. Knowles officiating. After the ceremony the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

FORRO—COTTERILL.
A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cotterill, 81 Briscoe street, Wednesday, Dec. 14, when their eldest daughter, Myrtle Lorena, was married to John Henry Forro of Windsor, Rev. W. Leslie Armstrong officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. Symington. Miss Ivy Cotterill, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Thomas Wheeler was best man. The house was adorned with Christmas decorations. After the ceremony, supper was served, about forty guests being present. Mr. and Mrs. Forro will reside in London.

ROSS—HOLMES.
The wedding of Miss Leah Holmes, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Holmes of Wabash, and Lorne Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross of Kent Bridge, took place at the Victoria Avenue Methodist parsonage, Chatham, The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Hicks, the bride wearing a gown of brown crepe de chine, with hat and veil to match, and a handsome seal-skin coat, with opuscul collar. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with maidenhair fern.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ross left on the afternoon train for Detroit and Windsor.

Dr. Rebecca and Dr. Marie Harkins leave on Thursday to spend Christmas with their father, Mr. Daniel Harkins, in their former home in Blairsville, Penn.

Mr. F. S. Fisher of Hamilton and Dr. R. H. Fisher of Sarnia will spend the Christmas week-end with their parents, Col. and Mrs. C. H. Fisher, Waterloo street.

Mrs. J. R. Henderson goes to Toronto Thursday to spend Christmas with her son, Mr. Rab Henderson, and daughter, Miss Jessie of Kitchener, who will join the family party Friday.

Miss Willena Rose Crawford of the Detroit Y. W. C. A. staff will be a Christmas visitor in town, spending the holiday with her parents, Rev. John Crawford and Mrs. Crawford.

A pretty winter wedding took place Wednesday at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 5 Stanley street, when Doris May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Rowntree, was married to Dr. John Fetherston Garfield Colling, son of Mr. Ellen Colling, and the late Rev. Colling. Rev. Morley Colling of Fullarton officiated, assisted by Rev. J. Cusby Morris. The drawing-room was effectively decorated with palms, ferns and flowers, the ceremony taking place under an arch of evergreen, entwined with flowers. In the centre of which was hung a large white bell, with streamers radiating to the chandelier.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely wedding gown of grey canton crepe, with touches of Harding blue and trimmed with sequins, grey slippers and stockings, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, with silver streamers. Dr. E. McNiece and Mrs. McNiece of Springfield were the best man and matron of honor. Mrs. McNiece was groomed in black canton crepe, trimmed with flame, and carried Richmond roses. Little Miss Dorcas Rowntree Harbottle of Hamilton, Mr. Hugh Fletcher of Stratford, and Messrs. Fred and Walter Harbottle of Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Colling left on a honeymoon, which will be spent in Toronto and other eastern points.

An event which made a number of little people happy on Wednesday afternoon was a Christmas treat given by Dr. Robinson and Dr. Marie Harkins, St. George Apartments, Wednesday afternoon, for the children of their ostensible clinic, when the mothers of the kiddies were also guests of the occasion. Dr. Rebecca Harkins gave a helpful talk to the mothers on things to do at home for the children in acute conditions, in order to promote the health and welfare of the boys and girls.

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]
Nancy and Nick told Whizzy Tornado in his cave at the End of the Earth all their troubles—how the sorcerer had twisted the passages that led to Brownie-land so that they were taken hundreds of miles out of their course and all about it.

"Well," answered Whizzy. "Perhaps I can help you have a good name of myself ever since I played nob with all the creatures last spring, that I've been anxious for a chance to make up for it."

"This seems to be my opportunity. I'll tell you what I'll do. As I am not allowed on top of the earth at this time of year myself, I shall speak to my first cousin, North Wind, and to my second cousin, West Wind, and see what we can do for you."

A Charming Frock For the Dance

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Like the blue and silver mist of summer evening skies is this charming frock.

The skirt, trail wisps of cornflower blue chiffon, shimmers over silver cloth and is caught at the waistline by a band of colorful hand-made flowers exceedingly fresh in appearance.

Flowers have become something of importance to the evening frock, scarcely a one but boasts of a trail of artificial flowering vine at waistline, hem line or shoulder, a pretty conceit it is—and youthful.

The waist of this fascinating little gown is strangely like the back, but quite as transparent. Bands of opalescent iridescent trimming cling sparklingly to a foundation of chiffon and cross the shoulders to meet a prettily low bodice.

The fluffy head of the wearer is adorned with a Rhinestone band which hangs at the left in a glittering trail. Miss Pearl Rowntree sang, "Until." The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls. Mrs. Rowntree, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue charmeuse, heavily beaded, with jade girdle and a corsage of Richmond roses.

Immediately after the ceremony, lunch was served in the banquet hall, which was gay with Christmas decorations. The table was very artistic, decorated with ferns, pink and white carnations, all silver candelabras in the centre, and at each end, White streamers fell from the centre light to the places of the guests of honor, and at the foot of the table was a miniature bridal party.

A large number of guests were present. Among those from out-of-town were: Mr. Jesse Homer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowntree, and Dorcas, all of Detroit; Mrs. McLean of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Harbottle, and Miss Rachael Harbottle of Hamilton, Mr. Hugh Fletcher of Stratford, and Messrs. Fred and Walter Harbottle of Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Colling left on a honeymoon, which will be spent in Toronto and other eastern points.

Whizzy whistled up his chimney, and instantly there was a loud answering whistle from above. North Wind's gruff voice called down, "What can I do for you, cousin?"

"Please blow the toy-maker up to Santa Claus' house at the North Pole without delay. Santa needs his help badly and he's been delayed."

Before the toy-maker could make a sound, he found himself drawn up the great chimney by an irresistible force. "Good-bye," came his voice feebly.

"Go!" but the rest was drowned by a great roaring. He was gone!

"And now," went on Whizzy, "just wait until I whistle up the chimney again," which he did.

An answer came as before, but West Wind's voice called down this time, "What do you want, Whizzy?"

"I want you to blow my friend, the chimney-sweep, to the place where the most poor children live so he can get the chimneys cleaned out for Santa."

A roar and a rush! The chimney-sweep was gone, too!

"And now," said Whizzy Tornado, "that's that! The toy-maker and the chimney sweep have gone where they

Cut Off Babies, Up Spring More

Child Welfare Visiting Lists Grow Each Month—More Clinics Needed.

The kindly and tremendously efficient superintendent of child welfare nursing sounded for all the world like a Lady Blue Beard, the other afternoon, when the editor of the Women's Department of The Advertiser poked her head in the doorway of the child welfare headquarters in the London Institute of Public Health, and inquired anxiously with regard to the knotted brows of Miss Smith and a member of her staff of nurses.

"Knotty problem," said Miss Smith, laughing in spite of herself; then, trying to look very grim, "We are cutting off babies. What do you think of that? And, never in my life did I see such a place as London for babies. Every time you cut one off a list, ten more seem to spring up in the place."

"But I thought it was babies the Child Welfare Association wanted to experiment upon," said the newspaper person.

"Our aim is to see they get such a good start for healthy citizenship that they will graduate quickly from our care, and make room on our visiting lists for those more in need of our aid, thereby enabling us, with our present staff, to give more efficient service. Cutting down our lists, however, is one thing, and making it work out, quite another."

Won't Stay Frustrated.
"In September, we had 470 babies on our visiting list, and that was really too large a number for our nurses to manage. In the interests of better service, we decided to cut off the babies that could do without such attention. We cut them off—on paper—the first week in the month. When we totalled up our number the first week in October, we found, to our surprise, that we had just 479, an increase of nine. There was nothing for it but to prune our list again. When we had it down to manageable proportions, we started out on our October work. Now, I've had 563 on the list, an increase for October of 24. The way to make child welfare popular seems to be through expert pruning."

Need More Clinics.
As the home visiting lists persist in growing, so the clinics have steadily increased in popularity.

"We should have two more clinics right away," said Miss Smith, "another in the south end of the city, where we have an average of 25 to 40 children brought to our weekly clinic, and another in the east end, where the weekly clinic averages 25 to 35. Indeed, we absolutely must have more clinics at once, in order to do justice to the children."

"As the clinics are more largely attended and more are opened, we need more voluntary helpers. In response to the appeal made at the time of our last association meeting, we got two voluntary aids for East London, one for the Talbot street clinic, and two for South London. We would like to have a waiting list enrolled, so be able to call upon."

The suggestion has been made that the social service classes in connection with the Institute of Public Health might furnish recruits for such work.

SALE REALIZES $663.39.
The report read by the treasurer, Mrs. R. G. Kneen, at the meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Adelaide Street Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon, showed that the splendid sum of $663.39 had been realized from the sale recently, which was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. D. G. Kneen, Mrs. W. W. Moore and Mrs. Chas. McViney. During the meeting Mrs. McIntyre presided, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at which the election of officers will take place on Jan. 10.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

PASS WITH FLYING COLORS.
A class of fifteen in maternity nursing, held under the auspices of Florence Nightingale Nursing Division, No. 51, St. John Ambulance Association, came out with flying colors in an examination given by Dr. Bean a few days ago. Seven of the class passed with honors; the other eight with good standing.

Mrs. E. K. Swindall is lady superintendent of the division.

JUST "SIT BY FIRE."
Nothing to do at all but just sit by the gas fire and do as they please, this is the comfortable Christmas celebration program planned by two young women's clubs of the Y. W. C. A. for Thursday evening, the "Optimistic" and the "Nightingale."

The event will also be a little send-off for Miss Ruth Lucas, president of the Federation of Clubs, who is going away for a holiday to Chicago, where she will be a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. Halphen, wife of Rev. Mr. Halphen, director of Religious Education of the Methodist Church in the United States.

Friday evening the "Count On Me" club is holding a Christmas party, packing at the same time a basket of Christmas cheer for a needy family.

TEA PARTIES MAKE RECORD CLINICS.
The annual Christmas tea parties have doubtless been responsible to an appreciable extent for the large attendance at the child welfare clinics during the past week. Talbot street clinic had 60 babies, Rectory street 66 and Victoria School a still further jump, 72. In each case the Mothers' Club for the districts provided afternoon tea for the mothers and there were Christmas cards for the babies, and two busy doctors in attendance at each centre.

AID MANY FAMILIES.
In addition to the other valuable service they are rendering the community, the child welfare nurses have a list of 75 families for which they are insuring relief at the holiday season. A number of good friends have come to their assistance, Mrs. Percy Ball, Mrs. E. W. Seachard, Mrs. Charles Glass, Mrs. A. Durand, Mrs. Jeffrey Hale, Mrs. T. G. Meredith, Miss Meredith, Mr. Stanley Meredith, each of whom has offered to provide a family with a Christmas dinner. Mrs. C. Shanly and others have contributed much appreciated clothing. A number of families have been referred to the churches, Soldiers' Aid, Y. W. C. A. for assistance.
