Officials Believe "Big League" Olga Miller and Atmosphere of Arena Will Better Hockey Brand.

Announcement by Roy Dale, newly appointed manager of the new arena, who attended the meeting of the Western "U" Tennis. who attended the meeting of the Manufacturers' League last night in Brisco's store, that the league would be given at least one night each week in the new structure, and possibly more accommodation, gave the officials the word they had been expectantly waiting for and, at the same time, expansion ideas. The result is that instead of the normal eighters will be account to the manufacturers will merhan blossom out into a ten-team. rhaps blossom out into a ten-team op if applicants for berths can as-re the officials they have mustered teams capable of playing the brand of hockey which will be inspired by playing under "big league" condi-

The state of affairs is that every team will receive consideration, and the league looks forward to one of the most successful seasons it has ever had.

McClarys, McCormicks, C. N. R.,
Civil Service, Perrins and Bell Telephone are the old stand-bys which already have applied for admission to the league. Jones & Son and Standard Drug are almost certain-

Manager Dale of the arena said Manager Dale of the arena sald that no matter how much the arena might be pressed for accommodation, the Manufacturers' League could not be overlooked because it developed future hockey players and had built up a large and loyal following. He stressed the point that the league and arena officials must co-operate, especially as both would have much J. I. especially as both would have much to learn their first year in the new to tearn their instructure.

President "Cap" Graham had outlined the achievements of the Manufacturers' League since its inception in 1901. It had during that time been the developing ground for many of London O. H. A. teams.

"This year," said the prexy, "most of the O. H. A. material is lined up with the Manufacturers. The firms employing O. H. A. hockey men naturally expect that they will play for the firm team, but I do not believe there is any room for conflictlieve there is any room for conflicting with the L. A. A. A teams. A little co-operation when needed will make rules barring O. H. A. players from the Manufacturers' unnecessary."

A communication was received from President J. J. Foote asking the co-operation of the Manufacturers' League this season.

Down the Line In All Sports KENAULT RULES

Local hopes were raised on the eve of the Petrolia-Sarnla rugby battle when it was learned that Newton's crew will start without the services of three regulars. "Red" Cowan threw his crutches away Thursday, but his knee will not be strong enough for this tilt. Smith on the line and "Dolly" Gray, a halfback, are the other absentees.

The absence of Cowan will enhance the Hard Oil chances considerably. Cowan is one of the best quarterbacks playing Canadian football and without the confidence Cowan's generalship gives the Blue and White, they are likely to be far from the perfect machine they've seemed in the rest of their games. And the local view is that they'll need everything they've got to turn back the Hard Oil rush.

Over the telephone it was learned that seeing the trains come in a Petrolla has lost its fascination in the rugby fervor that has swept once more over the Hard Oil town at the prospect of a chance to spill Sarnia's chances of a group title. Stonehouse, the Wallaceburg halfback who performed so well against London here, has become a resident of Petrolla during the last few days, and before that motored over for every drill the Hard Oils put on. Several of Petrolla's famous old linesmen who have been trying to retire for the last ten ways have offered their services as substitute. trying to retire for the last ten years have offered their services as subs.

It develops that the "Wossa" rugby rule which bars interscholastic O. R. F. U. players from "Wossa" games does not extend to the other series of the O. R. F. U. The game which is being played off between Petrolia High and St. Thomas C. I. is really a play-off, both teams having won

Trying to study the American style of fighting did not apparently do Billy Wells much good. They are beginning to accuse Roland Todd of studying American methods too. They accuse him of ducking all contenders. Up to date he's been more successful than the Bermondsey party was.

The fact that Joe Beckett announced before he met Carpentier that it was his last fight probably saved him from getting a louder "rawsberry" than he did from the long-suffering British fight fans.

The British Olympic committee has suggested for opening day parade in the stadium that Great Britain and the overseas dominions should march in together, each dominion being self-contained with its own flag, but at sufficient intervals to make its identity clear to the spectators. In this way o her tennis the world, which flocks to the stadium on opening day, will see the mother-by taking the land with her children solid and compact behind her—a real and living Western U. example of an empire united in every sense of the word.
