OZŒNA.

Ozœna is the professional or technical name given to an advanced form of catarrh in which ulceration has eaten through the membrane lining of the nose to the cartilage of the bone. Any case of catarrh may end in ozœne, but it most frequently occurs in those who are naturally scrofulous. The discharge takes placethrough the mostrils or drough the throat, and is generally of a yellowish or greenish yellow color, frenquently tinged with blood, and himost always attended by an offensive smell. In the language of Dr. Wood, of Philadelphia, "the disease is one of the most obdurate and disagreeable which the physicians has to encounter. In bad cases the breath of the patient becomes so revolting as to issolate him from society, and to render him an object of disgust even to himself."

In some instances pieces of bone become separated and though off, leaving deep, unhealthy ulcers, which secrete a blood matter, and are extremely difficult to heal. and though off, leaving deep, unleatenty which secrete a blood matter, and are extremely difficult to heal.

After Ozena has continued some time the sense of smell usually becomes impaired and often lost.

Deafness is one of its most common consequences, and results from its extension through the custachain tubes to the internal ear.

Pains in the head and over the frontal sinuses, imprring memory, and even insanity, frequently spring from its extension to the brain.

The greatest danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs. In most cases of pulmonary disease catarrh is present in some degree, and in many instances it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

catarrh is present in some degree, and the stances it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable te spring from scrofulous catarrh or Ozena, where are others which, if less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant. It occasions great unhapiness to thousands of both sexes, by isolating them and preventing their settlement in life. An offensive running from the nose, with foul breath, is about as great a calamity as can befall young people.

The treatment of this disease requires much care and perseverance to conduct it to a successful issue. The remedies must be carefully adapted to the stage of the disease in each case, and applied the stage of the disease in each case, and applied the stage of the disease in each case, and applied the stage of the disease to their daily occupation.

I have seen so many of those cases saved by inhalation that I cannot doubt its curative powers or regard any case necessarily hopeless unless both rungs are extensively ignoved. The great vrlue of inhalation in the treatment of all head, threat and lung complaints has been indorsed by all the leading medical journals of England, France and Germany.

PEECH OF SIR LEONARD TILLEY INTRODUCING HIS BUDGET.

nds that the Country has Been Made Unprecedentedly Prosperous Without Adding to the Taxation—Sir Richard Argues (From The World's Special Correspondent.) OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—Sir Leonard Tilley

p.m., amid great applause on the ministerial side. The galleries were filled with the public including a large number of the public inc ose to make the budget speech at 3:30 ladies, among whom were Ladies Macdonald and Tilley. The members were pletty generally present. Mr. Blake was absent n account of the serious illness of his sister and much sympathy is expressed for the eader of the opposition in his unfortunate at no period in the history of Canada has the government met parliament with the inancial condition of the country in the position it is to-day. (Hear, hear). The prosperity of Canada to-day is in a great neasure dependent on the fiscal policy of the government. The policy of the last government was reviewed. That government gave the people stone when they asked for bread. The condition of all industries accounted for that difference. Among those undertakings were 401 additional miles of railway to run which cost $802,000; the expenditure on account of Indians; the census; sinking fund, etc.

THE FUTURE AND THE DEBT.

The speaker proceeded to show that there was no alarm for the future of the country on account of the increasing public debt. The speaker proceeded to show that there was no alarm for the future of the country on account of the increasing public debt. The speaker proceeded to show that there was no alarm for the future of the country on account of the increasing public debt. The speaker proceeded to show that there was every reason for hope. In 1867 the public debt was $29 per head. The construction of the Pacific railway added $6 per head, which made the sum $35. In 1879 it was $34 and some cents. Now it is $25 per head. A coalculation was then made to estimate what the per capits debt of Canada would be in 1890. On the contrary there was every reason for hope. In 1867 the public debt was $29 per head. The construction of the Pacific railway added $6 per head, which made the sum $35. In 1879 it was $34 and some cents. Now it is $35 per head. A calculation was then made to estimate what the per capits debt of Canada would be in 1890. Considering the surpluses likely to arise and the population to inbe in 1890. Considering the surpluses likely to arise and the population to increase at the rate of only 18 per cent, the public debt in 1890 would be $34 27 or less than it is to day, (hear, hear) or if account were taken of the proceeds likely to be received for expect, the armillion ages of land.

were taken of the proceeds likely to be re-ceived for seventy-five million acres of land, that amount would be still more consider-ably reduced. (Applause.) Viewing this question from another standpoint the speaker showed that while the interest per capita in 1867 was $1.27, and in 1881 $1.57, in 1802 according to his best calculations. in 1890, according to his best calculations, the interest per capita would be $1.37. to be made in the tariff as follows:

The Canadian coal industry has increased in 1882 over the previous year by an output of 400,000 tons.

Mr. Plumb was so much struck with the budget speech that he could by no means be kept in check. Sir John, Tupper and other ministers tried to do so, but failed to restrain the poet in his boisterous exuberance.

Cartwright appealed every short time in his speech last night to what he termed "the fountain head" an actavo scrap book, filled with manuscript and newspaper extracts, thoroughly indexed and containing hortest notice. Cartwright in his speech made a fierce indictment against the department of the interior. The condition of that department interior. The condition of that department was a byword in Ottawa and throughout the whole of the Northwest, where you would hear one chorus of discontent at the lack of efficiency and the want of courtesy on the part of the officials. The premier was not the man to run that important department, the copractical work of which he was quite indifferent. Sir Richard referred to his octave scrap book and read letters to substantiate the facts he had asserted. The premier acknowledged the impreachment premier acknowledged the impreachment with the most genial smiles imaginable.

The average annual increase in exports since 1878 is, according to the finance minister, $1,792,148. This statement was made as an offset to Patterson's speech in which he maintained that the exports were falling off.

The revenue collected last year on wines, silks, satins and some other expensive articles was $765,000 more than on the year previous—an argument to show that the tariff did not bear heavily on the poor man.

he Toronto Teachers' Association in Session— Instructive Addresses and Readings—The

The first semi-annual meeting of the Toronto Teachers association was held at the Wellesley school yesterday, opening at 9 clock, Inspector Hughes in the chair. The Yorkville teachers were admitted to the convention and together with the city eachers made up about one hundred and fifty. A discussion on reading, as contained in Park's Manual on Method drew out remarks from Messrs. Lewis, Spotton, Campbell, Powel, Body, Hendry and McAllister. An address on "The moral power and duty of teachers" was delivered by Mr. Richard Lewis, who devoted considerable time to Lewis, who devoted considerable time to the subject. He thought moral sussion must commence in schools and the teachers were the proper lecturers. The thanks of the association was tendered to Mr. Lewis for his favor and the association adjourned to meet again at 2 o'clock.

In the afternnoon Mr. Cassidy gave an address and examined a class in hygenie, showing how air was pure and impure: how it affected the system by spreading diseases, etc. He made a few experiments

After recess Miss B. M. Wallace was called on for a reading. She recited Gerald Massey's poem, "To-Day," which like all other of his poems was written in smoothly-gliding, though somewhat difficult verse, fraught with a beauty of imagery rarely equiled. She was approuded and tendered was applituded and a vote of thanks.

BROOKLYN. N. Y., Feb. 24.—Methurin, sprvivor of the lost steamship Bahama, brought here yesterday, states that Felix, the second cook, Bickner, the porter, and himself refused to leave the vessel in the boats. When the captain's boat capsized Charlie and Charlie Smith, Swedes, Charlie—and Charlie Smith, Swedes, swam back to the ship. Both were exhausted. Ten minutes after the last boat started off the ship sank, carrying the men down with it. When Methurin came to the surface he heard a loud noise, which he attributes to the explosion of the boiler. Bickner also came to the surface, and both men made for the same plank. Bickner was washed off and lost, Methurin afterwards out on a larger piece of the wreck. wards got on a larger piece of the wreck. He floated on this six days with nothing to eat but a single biscuit, and no water except a little caught in the fold of his oil cost during a shower.
