man's day, and is to be known as "Trades and Industrial Day," which will be specially commemorative of the past progress and present condition of the commercial interests of the city. Connected therewith there will be a street parade, which will comprise members of labor organizations, each with a tableau illustrative of the trade followed; representatives, with illustrative tableau, from railway, telegraph, express, and manufacturing companies, Board of Trade, etc., and waggons, or floats, laden with goods dealt n, artistically designed, from each firm doing business in the city. Band and J. A. Barrett, E. E. Clexton, M. doing business in the city. Band and choral music will fill the air for the rest of the twenty-four hours. Thursday will be U. E. Loyalists' Day, which is to commemorate the settlement of the opponents of American independence on Canadian territory. The Lieut.-Governor will be the centre of attraction in the afternoon. Towards midnight, when all is dark, a grand harbor parade will take place. The programme announces that all the steamers. tugs and craft of every description will form in line and move around the Bay; they will be illuminated by Chinese lanterns, etc., and all along the line a continuous shower of rockets and Roman candles will be discharged. Forts will be crected on the Bay, and for over an hour a mimic naval combat will be waged, closing with the most magnificent display of closing with the most magnificent display of ferry grandeur ever witnessed in Canada. On burg: P. P. Carlon, Providence; H. Filia-resident the "Benevolent Societies" of the treault, St. Hyacinthe; F. H. Gores, D. F. Friday the "Benevolent Societies" of the city will do honor to the day. The last day of the fête, Saturday, July 5th, is to be known as "Educational Day." All the institutions devoted to public instruction will turn out. parade, which will be distinguished by tableaux illustrative of the educational progress of Duane, T. J. Gibbons, P. R. Heffron, P. M. and their officers and pupils will hold a grand the Queen city.

It is evident from the rapid and brief outline of the events that are preparing, that no effort is to be spared in making the demonstration a success. The attractions and amusements are as interesting as they are numerous, and, if properly carried out, cannot fail to add immeasurably to the fame and credit of Toronto,

BLAINE'S RELIGION.

WEAT FATHER LAMBERT SAYS OF HAS EARLY LIFE. In an interview with a reporter, Rev. Father Immbert, of Waterloo, says that James G. Blaine was confirmed in the Catholic Church in 1836 by Bishop Kendrick, of Philadelphia, Blaine and his mother were Catholics, as were at least two of his brothers, and his father was converted and became a member of that Church about five years before his death. Father Lumbert was brought up with the Blaine boys and knows a good deal of their early life. He apparently sets at rest the controversy over Blaine's religious views. "I knew the Blaines well," said Father Lam-

"I graw up with them, and have always friendly with them. My father was of the pioneer Catholies of Western bert. bert. "I grew up with them, and have always been friendly with them. My father was one of the pioneer Catholies of Western Peansylvania when Ephrain Blaine, James G.'s father, settled near Brownsyille, away back in the twenties. James was older than I. and was at school a good deal, so I did not see as much of him as of the rest of the family. as much of this as of the rest of the family. Ephraim Blaine married a Miss Gillespie, whose family were intense Catholics. Their children were all brought up in the mother's faith. John Blaine, Jim's brother, and I used to serve Mass together in Elizabeth His mother made the cassocks we were during the service. As regards James G., I have not the slightest doubt that the parish register at Drownsville will show him to have been baptised a Catholie. I am told on what I consider good authority, which I do not care to divolge, that he made his First Communion and was Confirmed by Bishop Kendrick. I have been told that if e were asked to-day whether or not he was atholic, he would say yes or refuse to answer. the is nota knave. No one with the Gillesoic blood could be a knave. business. DROWNED IN A MILL POND.

SHERMOOKE, June 7.—The coroner has just returned from the scene, and furnishes the following particulars :- Calixta Reil, aged 19, Joseph Costonier, 15, and Octavia Hupe, 18, were found this morning in the mill pond of William Long, Key Brook, Brompton.
They had all been in the employ of Mr. 5th, in consequence of repairs to the mill, and went ishing in the forenoon, and, as was sup osed by the foreman and others, went again in the afternoon, and not returning in the evening, it was taken for granted that they had gone to their homes at Wakefield Hills settlement, Windsor. The hat of Costonier having been found floating on Friday afternoon caused uneasiness and a messenger was sent to their home, when it was found that they had not been there. The water was at once drawn off, when the three bodies were found. They had put their clothes under the bridge, where they were not very easily seen. The evidence at the inquest held by the coroner showed that none of the three could swim and the water where they were found was 12 to 13 feet deep. verdict of found drowned was returned.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

QUEBEC, June 6.—The marriage of Miss Kate Carbray, daughter of Felix Carbray, Esq., M.P.P., Consul of Portugal, to James Maguire, Esq., of the firm of D. & J. Maguire, of this city, took place yesterday morning, in St. Patrick's Church. The sacred edifice was beautifully decorated with flags and banners and was crowded to repletion with friends of bride and groom. Mr. Adolphe Hamel presided bride and groom. Mr. Adolphe Hamel presided at the organ and was supported by a full choir, Are Maria and other solos being effectively rendered by Misses Maguire and Boisvert. At the close of the service Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played by Mr. Martin, organist of St. Matthew's. The marriage cermony was performed by the Rev. Father Cronin, C.SS.R., assisted by the Rev. E. A. Maguire. The bride, who entered the church on her father's arm, wore a magnificent Suret silk, a beautiful wreath and orange blossoms with diamond ornaments and a massive gold with diamond ornaments and a massive gold collaret, the gift of the groom. Mr. Maguire was supported by John Stanton, Esq., who acted as his father and by J, Arthur Maguire, Esq., Argentine Consul-General, brother of the groom. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the residence of the bride's father, where a sumptuous dejeuner was served. AMES GILLESPIE BLAINE-JOHN A. LOGAN

-BOTH OF OLD IRISH STOCK. At Indian Hill Farm, near West Brownsville, a little town on the Monongahela River, in Washington County, Pennsylvania, James Gillespie Blaine was born on the last day of January, 1830. His ancestors originally came from Ireland. He was named after his grandfather, a gentleman of independent means, who acquired con siderable distinction as a diplomatist in Europe, whence he returned in 1793, and settled in Carlisle, Pa., where Ephraim L. Blaine, the father of the present sketch, was born. Ephraim L. Blaine was a skilful business man, and purchased large tracts of land in Pennsylvania, enough of which he re tained to leave a very handsome property to his son, who is to-day the owner of some of the most valuable coal lands in Monongahela County, Pa. Epraim married a Miss Maria Gillespie, The Gillespie family were all Catholics, and had a great reputation for "smartness," though they were not spe cially money-making people, Old Gillespie used to call Ephraim Blaine his "gig and tandem son-in-law," because he always drove tine horses. Ephraim's distinguished son, the present James G. Blaine, was born, as we have said, on January 31, 1830. He had every advantage in the way of education, being provided with special instructors. He also atcaster, O. He graduated from the Washing bonds. ton University of Western Pennsylvania in 1847. As a student he was unusually successful. After teaching school for some time James

G. Blaine married a lady from Maine and removed to that State, where he entered journalism, editing the Portland Advertiser and the Kennebee Journal with pronounced success. He was elected to the State Legislature and served there from 1859 to 1862, being for the last two years Speaker of the House. Shortly afterwards he was sent to Congress. serving there until 1876—and being twice elected to the Speakership -- when he was ap pointed to fill the vacancy in the Senate chen Mr. Morrill became Secretary of the Freasury. In that same year nominated for the Presidency by Robert-G. Ingersoll at the Cincinnati Convention in a speech which has been spoken of as the most eloquent ever heard at a convention. It was on this occasion that Mr. Blaine received alleged to prove that he profited by a decision concerning a land grant to an Arkansas rail- | Congress by 159 to 10. way, which decision was given while he was Speaker. In 1880 Mr. Blaine was again a candidate, and at the Chicago Convention was nominated by Mr. Joy, of Michigan. The contest between him and Grant on that occasion was extraordinarily close up to the thirty-fifth ballot. At the thirty-sixth ballot Blaine's forces went over to Garfield, who accordingly was nominated. When Garfield became President he made Blaine his Sceretary of State. Since Garfield's death Mr. Blaine has devoted himself to his death Mr. Blaine has devoted himself to his to Westport, Leeds County, was among the private business, and for the last two years schemes killed in the Wall street collapse. he has been engaged with his "History of the United States," just published. He is described as a man who is simple and unaffected in his habits and manner of life. Mr Blaine is many-sided enough to be classed as a man of genius. As an orator, a writer, a student of history, and a tinancier, he has won renown. He has also a wide acquaintance with literature. He is a thorough man of the world, and gove is said to be completely master of the bill. art of pleasing in a social way. As a conversationalist he has few equals. He was re-elected to contain the foreign and as the State Legislature in 1853, 1856, and 1857, and was presidential elector on the Buchanan and Breckenridge ticket. In 1858 and 1860 he was elected representative at Congress. In July, 1861, he enlisted in time to be in the first battle of Bull Run. His bravery in Grant's Northern Mississippi movements met with a promotion to the rank of Major-General. At Vicksburg his column led the entrance on June 25, and he was the first military Governor. He succeeded Sherman at the head of the Fifteenth army corps in November, 1863, and when McPherson lost his life, on the 22nd of July, Logan succeeded him and commanded the Army of the Tennessee, going with Sherman on the march to the sea. From the close of the war to 1871 Gen. Logan served in the House. In that year he was elected Senator. He was defeated for re-election in 1877 by David Davis, but was returned at the expiration of Governor Oglesby's term in 1879. He is a man of great decision, some learning, and is p lingering monument of the machine period in American politics. He was Grant's lieuten Et in 1880, and has for some months been acting in concert with Blaine.

OBITUARY.

General Jas. Watson Webb died in New York, June 8th.

H. C. Work, the song-writer, died in Hartford, Conn., on June 8th, of heart disease, He wrote "Marching Through Georgia" and "Grandfather's Clock."

William Pryor, an old and respected citizen of Halifax, N.S., died syddenly on June 8th of heart disease. He was a member of the commission that thirty years ago inaugurated the first railway in Nova Scotia and was author of probably the first pamphler urging the construction of the Intercolonial 31 away.
Mr. Pryor was the head of the firm of William Pryor & Sons, some years ago one of the leading houses in the West India trade, and for a long time held the position of President of the Halifax Chamber of Commerce. He was eighty-four years of ago.

Henry G. Vennor, the world famous weather prophet, is no more. He passed away on Sunday, at his residence, in his fortyfourth year. For months past he has been ailing, suffering from partial paralysis of the lower limbs, contracted from exposure to all kinds of weather during his surveys and scientific researches. Mr. Vennor was born in 1840, in this city of English parentage, his father, but recently deceased, being a member of the firm of Budden & Vennor, in the hardware business. He was educated at Phillipp's School and the High School, and during his boyhood showed a strong inclination for natural science, collecting and exhibiting specimens which are now in the McGill College University. He went through a course in the zoological and geological classes of McGill, and attended a session of the classes in land surveying and civil engineer-ing. In 1860 he tried mercantile life and spent five years in the wholesale warehouse of Frothingham & Workman, but receiving an appointment as assistant to the late Sir William Logan took part in all the surveys of the geological commission for the ensuing fifteen years, serving under Sir W. E. Logan, Dr. Sterry Hunt and Dr. Selwyn. In 1870 he was elected a fellow of the Geological Society of England, and in 1872 his ability gained recognition by his researches into the phosphate resources of Ottawa County. In 1880 he resigned his Ottawa County. In 1880 he resigned his position on the survey and occupied his time in making prognostications regarding the weather, publishing Vennor's Almanacand the Monthly Weather Bulletin. His most filicitous prophecy was predicting that the Christmas of 1875 would be a green one, followed by a muddy New Year's Day. Of late years his predictions were so frequently erroneous his predictions were so frequently erroneous that he lost much prestige. No doubt the state of 'his health and confinement to the house prevented him from making those observations among the resources of nature which lead to accurate predictions.
