THE MACDOUGALL MATCH.

This, restricted to the military, came on immediately after the Nursery, and was as usual remarkable for low scoring, only nineteen of the four hundred competitors averaging above inners in the five shots at 400 and five at 600 yards. The riflemen will not practise at 400 yards for the five shots of this match, the only firing at that distance at the meeting, and consequently they fail to score high there; and at 600 yards with only five shots they cannot make up their losses. The match is retained under its present unsatisfactory conditions on account of the stipulations attaching to the Macdougall Challenge Cup offered with the first cash prize. This cup has to be won twice consecutively in order to become the absolute property of the winner; and the contest for it bids fair to go on forever, as only the merest chance could put the same man at the head of the list two years in succession. Since the cup was presented by Lady Macdougall in 1868 only one man has succeeded in winning it twice at any time, he being Dave Mitchell, now Staff-Sergeant in the 13th Battalion, who headed the list in 1873 and again in 1875. As an evidence of the uncertainty of a match of this kind it may be mentioned that last year's winner though competing on this occasion did not even secure a place in the list of sixty-five prize winners. On both occasions 45 out of the 50 points possible took first; but last year twenty-one 37's were counted out, whilst one 36 came in this:—

Twenty-two 36's counted out.

THE MILITARY MATCHES.

These commenced about three o'clock in the afternoon, and continued until dusk, the waning light adding to the uncertainty of the contest. In the Gzowski match, however, this difficulty was not felt, and the scores there ruled high, no less than three being above the best of last year. Singular to say, the same three teams head the list, though for second and third places the order is reversed. The Governor-General's Foot Guards, winners last year, were first again on this occasion, making their fourth victory in the eight contests for the cup. In skirmishing and in independent firing they were a few points behind the 43rd Battalion, though ahead of all the rest of the field, but their great lead of 20 points in the volley firing sufficed to place the Guards just one point ahead in the aggregate. Both teams fired irreproachable volleys, but the 43rd seemed to have sacrificed the hits in order to secure the good volleys. The 43rd took third prize last year. The Queen's Own Rifles, who were second last year, are a close third on this occasion with a much higher score. In the volley firing they led the field, both in the number of hits and in the points scored. Here are the complete scores of all the teams, of five members each, firing 20 rounds skirmishing between 450 and 100 yards; 5 rounds in volleys at 300 yards, and 5 rounds in independent firing standing at 150 yards:—

The British Challenge Shield match followed the Gzowski, and was contested by teams of four members each, firing twenty rounds skirmishing between 100 and 450 yards. It was so late when the match was finished that the light was very bad, and this fact is no doubt responsible for the low scores prevailing, compared with those of last year, when the Grenadiers were also the winners:—

Tuesday, 2nd September.

The first match on this day was the Manufacturers, seven shots at 500 yards. The scoring showed a marked improvement over last year, for while there were no "possibles" in either case three 34's headed the list and eight 29's were counted out on this occasion, though last year all the 28's save one came in, the best scores then being two 34's.
