Report of Receipt of New Corn From Argentina Worried Bulls.

CHICAGO. March 24.—The advance in prices for grain was stopped today by reports that new corn from Argentina was already at the wharves in Galveston. These reports were later disputed. After reaching a new high level for 1914, the corn market closed nervous at same as last night to 1-4c down. The outcome in wheat and oats coincided, both unchanged to 1-8c to 1-4c off. In provisions there was a net decline of 2 1-2c to 10c.

Before word came that some of the new Argentine crop was actually almost at the doors of hard pressed consumers in Texas and northward to Nebrasks and Missouri, many bull seculators seemed determined to lift the corn market in a way that would be loss remembered. The effort, however made a tempting opportunity for ther holders to unload and to realize rofits. This was done in wholesale CHICAGO, March 24 .- The advance other holders to unload and to realize profits. This was done in wholesale fashion, and when the Galveston re-ports became current a number of be-lated longs found themselves sacrificon stop loss orders, the action of which had previously appeared a remote chance.

Fear was expressed by one authority that Argentine corn had been overbought for Galveston. It was said that a single concern had purchased 300,000 bushels to arrive there, and that other firms had booked similar amounts. On the other hand, primary receipts today thruout the United States were only $40,000 bushels, as against 4,442,000 bushels on the corresponding day a year ago.

Dry weather advices from Kansas and also from Minnesota and North Dakota helped wheat upward while corn was on the advance, but after the big spill in the coarser grain wheat quickly receded. There was no export demand and the mills were not buyers.

corn. Shipping call was light.

It was a tame market in provisions.

Moderate selling by packers near the end of the day brought on the final down turn. Oats merely imitated the behavior of
