THE convenience of transportation from Newfoundland Slate Quarries to various world ports is easily seen from this map. Here we have direct water routes to the principal ports of every continent. From St. John's, Newfoundland, to Liverpool, 1926 miles. To New York about 900 miles. To the mouth of the Panama Canal about 3,000 miles. All the Pacific Coast, American and Canadian cities can be reached either by water via Panama or by rail via Canada. Australia, China and Japan can also be reached via the Panama Canal.
