

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES

Edited by GEORGE MORRIS PIERSOL, M.D. Monthly. Illustrated. 1920 pages yearly. Price, $5.00 per annum.

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES, founded in 1820, has long been recognized as the leading medical journal of the English-speaking race. From the first it sought the epoch-making papers, and becoming recognized as their medium, it has, in turn, been sought by those who have had discoveries or real advances in the art and science of medicine to announce in its Department of Original Articles. During 1915 The American Journal will still further develop a feature that has proved most useful and popular, namely, a series of Special Articles, written by prearrangement with men of the highest authority, and covering present-day topics of the greatest importance and interest. These articles are designed to be clinical and practical, and to present important advances and the latest knowledge clearly and concisely, with particular reference to application in daily work. The Department of Book Reviews will continue to comprise critical and discriminating estimates of important new books, as well as briefer notices of books of less importance and of new editions. The Department of Progress of Medical Science, under the charge of recognized specialists, will continue to summarize the actual advances in the art and science of medicine appearing in the leading medical periodicals of the world.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE is the story of the progress, discoveries and improvements in the various branches of the medical and surgical sciences, and is published four times a year, in March, June, September and December. The matter presented is the digested essence of the entire medical literature of the world published during the previous twelve months, modified, explained and criticised in the light of the personal experience of the contributor. By this method useless information is discarded and only that which is valuable and really helpful to the practitioner is retained. Practicality and thoroughness are the controlling features. The contributors are authorities in their respective lines, and their experience in private and hospital practice enables them to choose unerringly that which their brother workers require. Every article is original, the veritable product of the author whose name it bears. The style is narrative in form, hence easy to read. The interpretation of the facts stated is given and their bearing upon the whole subject under consideration is clearly and simply indicated.
