

Catherine, the eldest of John of Lick's daughters, married William McLeod, of the Front of Charlottenburgh, and was grandmother to Mrs. James Craig. Harriet, the second daughter, married Macdonald, Balnavane. Mary, the third daughter, married Colonel Thomas Fraser, and died childless.

Isabella, the fourth daughter, married Colonel the Honorable Neil McLean. He had served in the Revolutionary war as an officer in the first battalion of the Royal Highland Emigrants, afterwards the old 84th. He was also a captain in the second battalion of the Royal Canadian Volunteers, raised in 1796 and disbanded in 1802, and he served in the war of 1812. He and his wife had a large family: Archibald, who served in the war of 1812, was made Judge in 1837 and Chief Justice in 1862; Alexander, who served in the war of 1812, and was for many years Treasurer of the Eastern District; John, who was at one time Sheriff of Frontenac; Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Hopper, Mrs. McGillivray, Mrs. Trew and Miss Jessie. Both Archibald and Alexander represented the county of Stormont in Parliament several times.

NOTE 14.

Connected with Alexander Chisholm, of Muckerach, (son of John Chisholm, of Chisholm, and father of Jane Chisholm, who married John Macdonell, of Lick), there is an interesting and well authenticated story, which his numerous descendants may recall with satisfaction and pride. His brother Roderick, who had inherited the Chisholm estate, took part in the rising of 1715, under the Earl of Mar, in favor of the exiled Stuarts. The Chisholms under the young chief distinguished themselves at Sheriffmuir, but the rebellion was soon put down and Roderick Chisholm was attainted and his estate sequestered. By the adroit intervention and management of prudent and influential friends, the confiscated estate was conveyed through several persons to Alexander Chisholm, of Muckerach, brother of Roderick, the attainted and dispossessed chief. Thus Alexander was absolute owner of the property, and there was nothing
