

Liberty : Liberty lost by their Effeminy and Cowardice.

And may it ever be lost to those who basely betray it! May divine Providence blast them where-ever they go ; confound and scatter them by Sea and by Land ; and, rendering them Fugitives and Vagabonds in the Earth, vex and plague them with their own coward Fears, and for ever spoil and plunder them of that Happiness, which they had neither Sense to value, nor Courage to defend.
