

Before the Gringo Came

Once we were happy — once, I say —

And life a living flame,

But lo! dead ashes strewed our way

The day the Gringo came.