

The Mighty and the Lowly

BY KATRINA TRASK

Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

As "In the Vanguard" was a stirring plea for universal peace, so "The Mighty and the Lowly" is a plea for social reform through a right understanding of the teaching of Jesus. Writing with her accustomed vigor and charm, Mrs. Trask combats the idea that Christ was set against any particular class — rich or poor. The theme is built around actual events in the life of Jesus, and the reader will find his interest stirred by the dramatic power of the book as well as by its argument.

What is a Christian ?

BY JOHN WALKER POWELL

Cloth, 12mo, $1.00

This is a clear, straightforward discussion of the qualities which to-day characterize a man who believes in Christianity. Special emphasis is put upon the Christian's relation to war: "how far can a man lag behind his Master in thought and practice without forfeiting his right to the title" of Christian? Other chapters treat of the Christian and Wealth, the Christian Church, the Christian Ideal. The book is well balanced, and a distinct contribution to the subject of the relation of the modern world to the religion of Christ.

CONTENTS

I. The Faith of a Christian. II. The Ethics of Jesus. III. The Christian and the War. IV. The Christian and Wealth. V. The Christian Ideal. VI. The Christian Hope. VII. The Christian Church.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY

Publishers 64-66 Fifth Avenue New York