

Insist

Upon having just what you call for when you go to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla. There is no substitute for Hood's. It is an insistent to your intelligence to try to sell you something else. Remember that all efforts to induce you to buy an article you do not want, are based simply the desire to secure more profit. The dealer or clerk who does this exacts nothing for your welfare. He simply wants your money. Do not permit yourself to be deceived. Insist upon having

Upon

Hood's Sarsaparilla

And only Hood's. It is the One True Blood Purifier. Hood's Pills are easy to buy, easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Sent to the Central.

Tim Sullivan's Twenty-Ninth Appearance in the Police Court.

David Borland's Domestic Life Ventilated—He Must Keep the Peace.

This morning several old-timers appeared before Police Magistrate Parks. Tim Sullivan was up again for drunkenness. He pleaded hard for liberty, and offered to take the pledge if he were released.

"No," said the police magistrate; "you have served three terms in the Central Prison, and you'll have to go back again. This is your 29th time before me, and your fifth time this year. I'll give you six months."

Joseph Coombs and Christopher Mortality, Sullivan's companions charged also with drunkenness, were given the option of a $5 fine or 20 days in jail, and they took the days.

David Borland was charged by his wife with abusive and threatening language. Mrs. Borland said they had an altercation Monday. He was having breakfast in bed, and when his wife brought him a cup of tea he became enraged about being kept waiting. He accused his wife of misconduct, and said, "There are three people I have to kill—your brother, your sister-in-law and you, and I'll settle you now."

Mrs. Borland said that when he jumped out of bed she ran, and he threw the cup after her, which smashed against the wall. She went away, and on Monday evening, when her son went round with her to get her clothes, the old man accused the son of enticing his mother away, and "went for him" with a knife. The father slashed the son's arm, and the son returned the blow, and the father down the son. Mrs. Borland said she was in dread of her husband, and the magistrate bound him over in $200 in his own recognizance, and two others of $100, to keep the peace for one year towards his wife.

Martha Reidley, a prepossessing young woman, was charged with the theft of $12 from the house of Mrs. Annie North, of Ridout street. From the evidence of Mrs. North, it was learned that she accused early in the summer had engaged room for two men, house under another name with a man, whom she said was her husband, and had lived there for two months. One day while Mrs. North was absent her pocket-book in her bureau drawer was relieved of $12. When Mrs. North returned she found her roomers gone and also her money.

Chief Williams swore that Mrs. North had lodged a complaint against the prisoner some time ago, but no trace of her was found until she was arrested at Brampton for two months. He had identified the woman as Mrs. North's boarder. The prisoner had told the police that she was a more and finally they went to Brampton. The woman said she had to prevent her husband stealing several times by removing her clothes and that when he stole money he redeigned them.

Mr. McKillop, who prosecuted the case, thought the woman equally guilty with her husband, as she knew it had been stolen, and as it had been spent on her.

The police magistrate thought that, though the circumstances were suspicious, there was no evidence to convict, and he discharged the woman.

Wm. Dyer, a drunk, was up for the first time, and was allowed to go.

Corn Sowing. Is a process conducted by the agency of light boots sowing the seed. The reaping is best conducted through the agency of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, the only safe and sure-pop corn curer. Putnam's Corn Extractor is now widely imitated. Beware of all poisonous and sore-producing substitutes; they are dangerous to use and are sold simply because they afford the dealer larger profit.

Italian Cream keeps the skin clear. 25c a bottle at Anderson & Nelles' Drug Store.

BIRDS on COTTAGE Seed with patent Bird Feed are enabled to appropriate more nourishment than from any other food. Manufactured under four patents, it is double the value of its closest competitor.

BE SURE "BART COTTAGE & Co. Ltd." is on each label, and patent Bird Feed patent B. B. and Sanitary Perch Holder, with Hood's Sarsaparilla, are sold everywhere. Read Cottages' new illustrated "Book on Birds." Post free 25c and this ad.

You May Have Heard such expressions as "The overcoat is a good one, but the collar doesn't fit right," or "The necktie is a good one, but the buttons are loose." We make a study of these little wrinkles and avoid them. A good fit is guaranteed by us. Send an excellent range of goods in all qualities.

A. SLATER Merchant Tailor, Corner Richmond and Carling Streets, ywt

City Hall News.

The Voters' Lists for 1897 Are Issued.

Small Results From the Raid on the Bakers—Thomas Brown's Request Refused—Mrs. McGinty Calls.

The voters' lists for the municipal and Legislative Assembly elections were issued from The Advertiser book and job presses today. Like every product of the establishment, the workmanship is excellent, while the contract was fulfilled in less than the specified time. The books will be posted in public and conspicuous places. On last year's list were the names of 4,332 freeholders, and 9,012 people qualified to vote at municipal and Legislative elections. As the population has not increased greatly in the past year, the number on the present lists is about the same as on the last.

DID NOT WANT MUCH. Thomas Brown, who used to keep a second-hand store on Richmond street, asked the mayor today for free passes to Nebraska for himself and wife. The request was refused. Brown was hurt last autumn while driving where the street railway work was being done, and he has been in the hospital a long time, the city occasionally aiding him. He is an American, and was offered tickets to Detroit for himself, besides $10 by Manager Carr and $10 by the mayor, but he insisted on passes to Nebraska. This may show that the request was unreasonable, as the city street railway company are in no way to blame for Mr. Brown's accident. His claim for damages was investigated by the Board of Works and filed.

THE BAKERS' RAID. Inspector Latham continued his raid on the bakers' wagons yesterday afternoon, but secured only three short-weight loaves. In all fewer than 40 loaves under weight were captured. This is much lower than the average results of these periodical raids, and speaks well for the leading of the bakers. The city poor were given the loaves today.

MRS. MCGINTY PASSED ON. Mrs. McGinty, an antique old creature, who has figured in the Police Court, wanted a pass all the way to Perth, Ont., today. She was given one to Woodstock. Mrs. McGinty seems to have neither husband nor home. Her last domicile was a fence corner on Oxford street, between Wellington and Waterloo streets. She was seen sleeping there. She is said to be nearly 80 years old.

FORMER LONDONERS THREATENED. Extraordinary Charges Made by Two Well-Known Vocalists.

A dispatch from Montreal says: A big sensation in church circles was caused today, when Mr. William J. Birks, organist of St. James' Methodist Church, entered suit against Mr. Herbert J. Patton, organist of Emmanuel Church, for wilful and malicious slander, claiming the sum of $2,500. In the same court Mr. John Marshall Williams, choir master and bass soloist of St. James' church, entered suit against Mr. Patton, making the same charge and asking for the same amount. Mr. Birks was formerly organist of Dundas Methodist Church, and Mr. Williams was a soloist in the choir of the same church. Shortly before noon the two plaintiffs became alarmed for their personal safety, and applied for a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Patton, saying he had declared his intention to murder them. The warrant was at once granted, and Mr. Patton will have to show cause why he should not be bound over to keep the peace. The story of the trouble dates back to two years ago, when Mr. Patton lost the organist of St. James' and Mr. Birks was appointed in his place. Mr. Williams was appointed in the choir of the same church. Remarks about the change were many, and they were not of the most friendly nature to the opposite party.

A FORMER LONDONER. Rev. Dr. Scott, Methodist Missionary, Writes a Harrowing Letter About the Floods.

A private letter from Rev. Dr. Scott, of the Methodist College, Tokyo, Japan (formerly of this city), says that the poor people have suffered terribly from the floods.

"The water rose in the house of Rev. Wm. Elliott, our missionary at Toyama to the height of five feet. Great numbers of poor people have been drowned. People who have been out fishing since the flood have hauled up dead body after dead body with their fishing hooks."

"On the day after our arrival two lady missionaries started for Kofu. Part of their road led through a mountain pass, where a stream runs. The road there was submerged, and those heroic ladies of our own Women's Missionary Society were obliged to walk one mile and a half through water well above the knee, while the current was so rapid that all the strength they could command was needed to withstand its force."

Speaking of the students in the college, Dr. Scott says they are very bright and eager to learn. "It is not surprising," he says, "that there should be great ignorance of Christian truths, but there is no ignorance of Christianity, and no lack of a keen, long spirit of inquiry that will not be easily satisfied with anything short of solid truth."

A young Buddhist priest, dissatisfied with Buddhism, has become an earnest inquirer. He attends the services regularly, and in the school is studying English, as well as other branches."

THEIR CONCLUSIONS. Two scientists of the 19th century were examining with deep interest a petrified body which had just been discovered.

"Yes," replied the other, "but not more than 150 years. I should say. You will notice that it has the bicycle face and the telephone ear. Those peculiarities did not develop until near the close of the nineteenth century, according to the best authorities."

Dr. and Mrs. Nansen will visit England during November, and will be the guests of Sir George and Lady Baden-Powell at Eaton Square.

Local Brevities.

Jailor Kelly is improving steadily. There was no sitting of the weekly High Court again today.

London West's court of revision will be held next Friday.

Rev. D. Stalker, of Calumet, Mich., passed through the city this week on the way to his home at Crinan.

The Starlight Pleasure Club held their usual hop in Hunt's Block last evening, with an attendance of 57 couples.

The many friends of Mr. McConnell, of King street, will be pleased to know that he is recovering from a serious relapse.

The fact that several policemen will patrol the outlying districts of the city tonight may possibly act as a deterrent to the small boys and foolish young men, who may be on mischief bent.

The Hort Comedy Company played "A Texas Steer" at the Music Hall last night. They will close their visit tonight with two more performances. "A Noble Outcast" will be the main performance, and "Lights of London" the evening.

A special meeting of the Owen Sound Presbytery will be held in Owen Sound next Tuesday morning to consider a call from Dutton in favor of Rev. John Little. Thomas Wilson, of King Street, will appear to press the call on behalf of London Presbytery.

There was a splendid market this morning, and the various commodities offered for sale were of an exceedingly fine quality. There were hundreds of bags of potatoes, which sold at 35 cents by the load and 40 cents by the single bag. The supply of poultry was large, and chickens were cheap.

The funeral of Miss Meda Crawford, York street, yesterday, was attended by many members of the police force, desirous of showing their sympathy for Sergeant Crawford and his wife. Rev. T. Smith conducted the services at the house, and grave. The pallbearers were Police Constables James Heigham, Daniel Thompson, R. Johnston, Robert Egleton, Robert Black and Walter Smith. A beautiful floral design came from the members of the force.

Gus Thomas' play, "The Burglar," at the Grand theatre, takes a position in the history of the comedy drama, and will easily hold its place with the very best of plays. It is a play which the most fastidious, the most exacting, could view without offence, and merited the successful run which it is having. The sentiment of the play is true to nature, and on that account not only intensely interesting, but instructive as well, and can be properly called a comedy drama. The excellent company, a dramatic treat.

The "At Home" given by the Royal Templars of Temperance in the Forest Theatre last night, was a brilliant success, the hall being comfortably filled. Brevities of the programme and the entertainment were different. After a few numbers had been given, refreshments were served, which were greatly enjoyed by all. The programme consisted of a chorus, by members of the lodge; piano selection, by Hal and John; vocal solo, by Ramsey; guitar selection, Mr. Chapman; guitar and mouth-organ selection, by Mr. Littlejohn; solo, Miss Aldice. Mr. C. Young sang a duet with the lodge's "Closing Ode."

LONDON ELECTION PETITION. Yesterday afternoon, Mr. B. B. Usler, completed his examination of Mr. Thomas Beattie, M.P. The examination was held in private, on the demand of Mr. Beattie, that it should be secret. At Toronto, similar proceedings were conducted in the presence of newspaper reporters. Orders have been formally issued for the supplying of particulars of the charges against Mr. Beattie fourteen days before the day of trial.

DEATH OF REV. DR. ALLWORTH. The following dispatch from Lapeer, Mich., dated yesterday, relates to a minister who had many friends in this city: "Rev. Dr. W. H. Allworth, one of the best-known Congregational ministers in Canada and Michigan, died in the harness last night. While speaking at a prayer meeting at Plymouth Church, he reeled and fell, dying instantly of heart disease. He was 64 years of age. His son-in-law is Rev. W. H. Ewing. State superintendent of the Congregational Sunday School and Publishing Society. He formerly was the pastor of Church at Paris, Ont. for a number of years, and was a highly valued contributor to the Advertiser."

WHERE IS GEORGE VICK? Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vick, Robinson Hall Chambers, are still ignorant of the fate of their 14-year-old son, George, who was last heard of in Cleveland. Anna Eva Pay announced that he was in Akron, Ohio, and Mr. Vick the other night dreamt that he saw his boy there, on the beach with a couple of girls, and apparently killed, by a vicious-looking fellow, while the two were in a box car. He and his wife are naturally very anxious.

DEATH OF TWO FORMER LONDONERS. News is received of the death of Wm. A. Coyne, of Lebanon, Ohio, after a lingering illness. Mr. Coyne was in his 54th year, having been born in this city in 1813. He was the second son of the late Thos. G. Coyne, also a resident of London for many years. Deceased was a highly valued citizen of Lebanon, O. since 1888, when he was elected mayor of the town for 14 years, and also acted as an officer of the corporation in other prominent positions—in the council, on the board of health, as chief of the fire department, and superintendent of the Orphan's Asylum. His active public life in that town covered a period of 20 years. He was also a prominent member of the I. O. O. F., and that order took charge of the funeral services.

Word has just been received of the death of George W. Richards, aged 24 years and 4 months. Deceased was the second son of Obadiah Richards, foreman of the confectionery department in McConnell's factory here, who lives at 647 Queen's avenue. Interment will take place in Chicago.

Mittand's Liniment for Rheumatism. Leuenhouck says that the common catarrhal pain is not less than hundred muscles.

Kindness to Animals.

Unwarranted Cruelties Inflicted by the Carcass.

The Duty of Mercifulness Explained by Numerous Illustrations.

From the New York Observer.

It is not often that warm words of praise can be given in a religious journal to any article that comes from the pen of Ouida, but her contribution to the current issue of the Nineteenth Century must meet with the cordial approval of every follower of Jesus Christ. It is a singularly pathetic and powerful plea for mercy towards dumb animals. With burning indignation she relates the woes of dumb creation from the lion tortured on a bicycle in a circus to the little cub playing a drum in the streets, arguing that if the world were really civilized such exhibitions would be so sickening to the public that they would be abolished. A striking contrast is drawn between the apathy of today and the active indignation of centuries ago. We are reminded of the fate of the Roman who wrung the neck of a dove who flew for shelter from his bosom from the pursuing hawk. He was promptly stoned to death by his fellow citizens. In striking contrast to this was the experience of that inhuman brute of a footman in an English nobleman's castle, who, some months ago, beat a little dog with a red-hot poker, and piled burning coals on it until it died; a paltry story, but the punishment inflicted on him. He was not even dismissed by his master. Ouida sarcastically remarks that Englishmen would show no indignation at the act of the Roman, for "animals have no votes." She takes a very gloomy view of the future, winding up with the hopeless wall that in a few generations more there will be no room for animals, especially in the crowded cities of this world of ours. "An immense agony will have been caused, but with it will also have passed away the last smile of the world's youth. And when the human race will have no tenderness for those of its own kind who are feeble or aged, and will consign to death all those who weary it, obstruct it, or impede it. Serious as the situation is it does not seem to so pessimistic a conclusion. A brighter day will yet dawn. The awakening of the public conscience, the duty of mercifulness, and the constant emphasizing of the rights of dumb creatures to the protection of the lords of creation, would speedily work a revolution in present customs, and bring in an era of happiness for the poorer animals in which they would be made partners of the liberty and privileges of a thoroughly Christianized world."

The first step towards a consummation devotedly to be desired is the enlightenment of the public conscience in the duty of mercifulness. More evil is wrought through the want of thought than through want of heart. Make thoughtfulness impossible by burning in upon the minds of the votaries of fashion a knowledge of the fearful sacrifices that are made upon to offer. Careful statistics declare that last year over 8,000,000 of birds were sacrificed to the vanity of man. West Indies alone in order to provide plumage for the hats of ladies. Many bonnets are decorated today with an egret's plume which was torn from a living heron. Gloves are made of the skin of a kid which was stripped from its living body. Jackets are lined with astrakhan fur which was taken from an unborn lamb. Such facts must stir every generous heart and lead to immediate departure from habits, however fashionable, which involve terrible wrongs to the relations in the lower orders of life.

The rights of a dumb creature may be laughed to scorn by the flippant majority of the club room, but they are bound to appeal with convincing force to every follower of Jesus Christ. They are bound to us that when a mere lad he saw a turtle on a log, and, seizing a stone, crept cautiously up to it, raised the stone, but heard a voice within and could not throw it. He ran to his mother and asked her what this voice meant. She told him that it was the protest of the doctrine of rights. Lordship over creation involves responsibility solemn and sacred. It ought to be the shield of protection over weakness, and exercise the tenderness of superior skill in the care of the weak. It is not as a conqueror or as a conqueror of the interests of his subjects as he should have been, but we need not despair of his improvement under the influence of enlightenment and responsible public sentiment.

STRATHROY. Advertiser Agent, J. D. Meekison, Strathroy, Ont., Mrs. Willmott, of Milton, is visiting in town this week.

Mr. D. H. Murray left on Thursday for Minneapolis, having received word of the death of Mrs. Macintosh, of that city.

On Wednesday, Oct. 28, Miss Pedden and Mr. A. Brown, of Adelaide, were married at the First street residence of Mr. Chas. Gould on Wednesday evening.

The Band of Hope of St. Andrew's Church are preparing for their first public entertainment of the season, to be held on Friday evening, Nov. 13.

Dr. Neville Lindsay, of Calgary, is visiting friends in Strathroy and Carleton Place.

Arrangements are being made to hold the Collegiate winter concert on Dec. 11.

Rev. W. G. Jordan will preach in Galt next Sunday.

The Bishop of Huron and Mrs. Baldwin were guests of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Newton during their stay in town. An "At Home" was given at the rectory yesterday afternoon from 4 to 8 o'clock, to meet them. The ladies of the auxiliary of St. John's Church aided Mr. and Mrs. Newton in the reception.

Mr. H. J. Miller, township clerk of Adelaide, has been appointed an assessor of municipal licenses for the county of Middlesex.

Steamship Arrivals. From Labrador.....Liverpool
Aux Victoria.....New York.....Hamburg
Nunidia.....New York.....Liverpool
St. Louis.....New York.....Santiampton

Orthologists have discovered that crows have no less than 27 different notes, as distinctly referable to a different action.

FREE TO BOLD HEADS. We will mail on application, free information how to grow hair upon a bald head, stop a falling hair, and remove scalp diseases. Address, Attention Medical Dispensary, Dep't. B. V. Box 774, Cincinnati, Ohio. ywt 3

Use Kur-a-Kof, the cough and cold cure, 25c, at Anderson & Nelles' Drug Store. ywt

E. & E. Points to Consider.

First consider the last purchase you made here. Was there any fault to find with the quality, the price, the style, or the service? If you have never bought here, today will be a good time to begin. You will have to go far to find bigger stores than ours, and you will travel farther to find such choice selections, high quality and reasonable prices in Drygoods. We choose the newest and best of every line. Everyone finds their choice here if the newest and best of every line. There's a good deal of difference between these two ways of doing business. Customers should bear in mind, however, that high-quality goods can never be sold at the same prices as shoddy. So if our prices should ever be placed in comparison with others, think of the quality and style.

ART MUSLINS not expensive, but just what you want for curtains and drapery. We have a very nice line, new designs, in a variety of colorings, at 50c yard. A finer quality, wider widths, at 12 1/2c yard. A better quality than either at 30c. Make home look comfortable and cozy for winter.

SILKOLINE American goods, also for curtains and drapery, a very fine line, now offering at a decided bargain. Patterns—sweet pea, pansy and spring. Grounds—tinted green, cream, blue, pink, buttercup and cardinal. Lovely goods. Will make home look lovely. Finer qualities at 15c, 18c and 20c yard.

ART SATEENS new goods, new patterns, new colorings, suitable for art cushion covers and home decorations. A home with cheerfulness is what every good housekeeper aims to have. We will help you to bear the expense by selling these at 18c yard.

DOUBLE-FACED CRETONNES. Splendid for Portiere Curtains. Attractive but not loud; all new colorings; all new designs. Worth more and usually sell for more than are asking—35c and 50c yard wide width.

DOUBLE-FOLD TAPESTRIES also very much used for Portiere Curtains, serviceable goods, choice rich colorings and decidedly new patterns. Every lady requiring curtains should call and examine. 50c and 75c yard.

These lines are all specials. These lines are all worth examining if you don't buy. We promise not to coax you into purchasing if you don't want to. We treat others the way we like to be treated ourselves, and we invariably fight shy of those houses and dealers who endeavor to load us with goods that we know are not what we want and which our customers wouldn't buy.

Smallman & Ingram, 149 AND 151 DUNDAS STREET.

A FRENCH BABY. Legal Formalities on the Birth of a Possible Soldier.

The Century.

The birth of a new citizen in France at once gives rise to countless formalities, and an avalanche of legal scrabbles, which would teach him, could he understand, that his country is part of the great republic of the world, and administration. Within the first 24 hours notice of the birth must be sent to the mayor's office (there is such an office in every village in France), so that the official physician may call and make the necessary legal statement. I suppose the wants to convince himself that the declaration already made was correct, and that the family, while it announced the birth of a girl, was not trying to screen a future soldier from his compulsory service. Then the father, accompanied by two witnesses, goes to fill out the birth certificate, and give his child's legitimate, documented position, to which he or she will be obliged to have recourse in all the great, and frequently in the minor, circumstances of life.

It is a rather tedious business, but out it the child could not enter a school, draw lots on entering the army, or get married, or be buried. The least mistake of form would have most serious consequences; the baptismal names declared must always be placed in the same order on all future deeds. These are usually saints' names. I recall the amusing anecdote of a young American father of my acquaintance, who wished to give his son born in Paris the name of the great sailor Duquesne, in remembrance of the avenue where the baby had seen the light of day, and, in addition, the family name of one of his friends, which no Frenchman could pronounce. All this seemed so shocking and incongruous to the registrar that the certificate was made out only after an interminable discussion.

WARDSVILLE. Wardsville, Oct. 31.—Miss Maud Kindness has gone to Detroit, where she purposes remaining.

Miss Jean Russell, of Siloam, who has been visiting in the village for some two weeks, has returned home. The choir of the Methodist Church spent a pleasant time at the residence of Mr. Chas. Gould on Wednesday evening.

Rev. Mr. Russell, of Siloam, called on many of his old friends here last week. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in the Methodist Church on Sunday next.

Rev. Mr. Snyder is conducting special services in the Fleming appointment of the Wardsville Methodist Church. The meetings are very interesting, and much good is being done. Mrs. Cady has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Avey, of Strathroy.

Mr. Bert Simpson is making preparations to move his store and post-office into the Masonic building. A number of sports from Niagara Falls spent part of this week hunting in this locality.

GERMANY AND MILITARISM. Militarism in its ugliest form has recently manifested itself in Germany. Foul indignation over recent murderous attacks upon civilians by brutes in uniform has reached a high pitch, and even the government now realizes the necessity of reforming the code of military procedure.

In connection with this proposed measure of sorely needed reform are projects urged by the emperor for a very large increase in appropriations for the army and the navy. The success of these plans means, of course, new burdens of taxation. If they are voted at all by the Reichstag it will only be after strenuous protest, and with the assurance that a repetition of the recent Brussels outrage at Karlsruhe shall be made impossible.

Throughout Southern Germany the towns are organizing meetings to protest against military ruffianism. When Hans shows signs of revolt, even the German emperor understands it is time to reform.

BEFORE BUYING

Call and see our fine house mantels at lowest prices made to order. Show Cases and Store Fixtures a specialty. Estimates freely given.

LONDON SHOWCASE WORKS, 237 King St., London Ont. Wm. A. HARRIS, P. E. ROSSER, Manager, Treasurer.