ACTION WAS ILL-ADVISED

Rev. Dr. Johnston Was an Eye-Witness of Saturday's Disturbances.

And Was Astonished at the Calling Out of the Militia—He Deprecates the Display of Military Force—Authorities Showed Lack of Prudence

Rev. Dr. Johnston, when interviewed this morning regarding the disturbances Saturday, and the calling out of the militia, said that absence of discussion or criticism was probably most desirable at this juncture until men's minds were calmer. Speaking, however, from what he had himself observed on Saturday, when on two occasions at 4 and again at 10 o'clock he had happened to pass through the crowd he was astonished beyond measure to hear next morning that extreme measures had been resorted to. The crowd, to him, had seemed made up mainly of respectable citizens, with a few more careless characters, who might be incited to acts of violence.

Dr. Johnston feared that the calling out of the militia had had the effect of unduly exaggerating the unhappy situation, and he regarded it as a mistake, perhaps hastily decided upon by the authorities without a due consideration of the effects that would be produced.

"Any display of military authority at this time," said Dr. Johnston, "when the city is as quiet as a village, and there is no appearance of violence, can only produce a feeling of resentment.
To exaggerate law and authority is quite as great an evil as to be lax in its administration."

"The worst effect of the whole matter," Dr. Johnston added, "is that a sentiment is being created and developed in our city that is separating classes, and from which the city will not free itself in many years; it is too bad that the closing months of the century should be marked by such scenes which prudence and firmness on the part of those in positions of authority should have prevented."

THE MAYOR'S WEAKNESS.

[Woodstock Express.]

Mr. James Carle, of Runians, Gray, Carrie Company of London, and formerly of Woodstock, told an Express reporter yesterday that the business men of London viewed with great alarm the prospect of a protraction of the street railway strike into the fall season. He explained that the loss had already been very great, and that the big military camp this season had been of little benefit to the city, as, on account of the strike, the soldiers and camp visitors
