CHOSEN AFTER A HARD FIGHT

Warren G. Harding Nominated by Republican Conven-

DEADLOCK

Candidate For the Presidency Entered Race Only Four Days Ago.

Chicago, June 13.—Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Chio. was nominated for the presidency last night by the Republican national convention after a deadlock which lasted for nine ballots, and which finally forced out of the running all the original favorites.

As his running mate the convention named Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, upsetting a plan of a combination of the Harding backers to nominate for the place Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin.

The collapse of the forces of Governor Frank O. Lowden and their transfer in large part to Senator Harding ernor Frank O. Lowden and their trats-fer in large part to Senator Harding put the Ohio candidate over. General Wood lost heavily, however, when the Harding drift began, and Senator Johnson, the third of the trio of leaders in the early balloting, also went steadily down hill.

of leaders in the early balloting, also went steadily down hill.

Entering the convention four days ago as a candidate distinctly of the "dark horse" class, Senator Harding got only 64 votes on the first ballot, and on the second he dropped to 56. When the convention adjourned Fr'day night at the end of the fourth baliot he had 61.

Most Likely to Break.

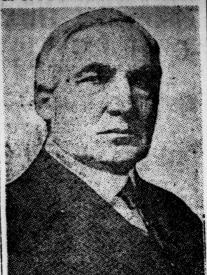

In all-night conferences among the party chiefs, however, he was mentioned many times as the most likely to break the nomination deadlock should neither Wood, Lowden nor Johnson take a commanding lead yesterday. They all failed to do so, Wood and Lowden running a neck and neck race for leadership on four more ballots, while the strength of the California candidate dwindled steadily. Meantime Harding pushed his total to 133. In dividuals from many states swinging to him from the columns of the leaders and of their favorite sons.

Mr. Johnson's supporters, fearing a landslide was impending, then made a last play to save the fortunes of their leader. They moved to recess for a couple of hours for the purpose of taking an inventory and seeking new combinations. The Wood and Lowden forces, both virtually at the peak of their strength, but both disheartened at the long string of ballots without material gains, fell in with the recess their strength, but both disheartened at the long string of ballots without material gains, fell in with the recessible, and the convention adopted it.

Dramatic Succession.

In the dramatic succession of conferences that followed, the fate of the candidates virtually was sealed. Some of the Wood and Lowden managers tried ineffectively. On an agreement which of the Wood and Lowden managers tried ineffectually for an agreement which would hold their delegates in line and kill off the Harding boom. Some tried to get a Wood-Lowden-Johnson agreement to adjourn until Monday without making a nomination. There was also a conference between Johnson and Harding supporters, in which the Ohioan's supporters, in which the Ohioan's supporters tried without success to have the remaining Johnson strength swing to Harding. It was the parleys between the Harding and Lowden men, however, which apparently bore the most fruit when the balloting began again, for Governor Lowden came to the convention during the ninth roll call, and, reversing a previous plan to go before the convention itself, is-sued instructions from behind the scenes releasing his instructed delegates. Almost as soon as the alphabetical call of states began after the recess, the groundswell for Harding demonstrated that it could not be forestalled. Connecticut, when her name was called took thirteen of her fourteen votes from SENATOR WARREN G. HARDING of Ohio, who was the choice of the Republicans for the presidential race.

WHO HARDING IS

Warren G. Harding has always been a resident of Ohio, which state he has represented as United States senator since 1914. In private business life he is publisher of the Marion, Ohio, Star.

He was born on a farm near the village of Blooming Grove, Morrow County, Ohio, November 2, 1865, the eldest of eight children. His father, George T. Harding, was a country doctor, whose forebears came from Scotland. Before going to Ohio, the Hardings were residents of Pennsylvania, where some of them were massacred by Indians. Others fought in the revolutionary war. The mother of Warren, Mrs. Phoebe Dickerson, was descended from an old-time Holland Dutch family, the Van Kirks.

Was Born on Farm.

In his youth Warren Harding lived the life of a farmer boy, attending the village school until 14 years of age, when he entered Ohio Central College of Iberia, from which he was graduated. As editor of the college paper he first displayed a talent for journalism. He was obliged to stop school now and then to earn the money with which to pursue his college course. At one time he cut corn, at another he painted barns, and at still another drove a team and helped to grade the cut corn, at another he painted barns, and at still another drove a team and helped to grade the roadbed of a new railway. At 17 he taught a district school and played a horn in the village brass band.

At odd times he worked in the village printing office, in time becoming an expert typesetter and later a linotype operator. He is a practical pressman and a job printer, and as a "make-up man" is said to have few equals. The luck-piece he has carried as a senator is the old printer's rule he used when he was sticking type. In 1884 Dr. Harding moved his family to Marion. A short time after the father purchased for Warren Harding the Star, then warren Harding the Star, then a small paper.

Held Many Jobs.

On the paper Warren Harding performed every function, from devil to managing editor. In all the years the senator has owned it there has never been a strike or a threatened one. it there has never been a strike or a threatened one.

Senator Harding is closely identified with many other large business enterprises in Marion and other parts of the state. He is director of a bank and several large manufacturing plants and is a trustee of the Trinity Baptist Church

Mr. Harding has twice represented the thirteenth senatorial district of Ohio in the state legislature, and served one term as lieutenant-governor. At the 1914 election Harding was elected United States senator by a United States senator by a majority of more than 100,000 running 73,000 ahead of the next running 73,000 ahead of the next highest on the ticket. In the Senate he is a member of the committee on foreign relations. Senator Harding married Miss Florence Kling in 1891.

Lowden and gave them to Harding. In Florida he got seven from Wood, and then Kentucky, almost from the first a solid Lowden state, flopped com-pletely into the Harding Column.

Rising Enthusiasm. Amid scenes or rising enthusiasm other blocks of Lowden delegates fol-lowed suit, while many of the routed Wood supporters also went into the Harding camp. By the end of the roll call Senator Harding had rolled up a total of 374 votes, putting him far into the lead, and several score of votes the lead, and several score of votes nearer to the nomination than any other candidate had received.

As the tenth roll call began, delegates quit Lowden, Wood and Johnson right and left, and the big hall was in almost continuous applause, as state after state announced accession to the Harding standard. It was reserved for Pennsylvania to add the crowning touch of enthusiasm. When the keystone state was reached, the Ohio senator needed 32 votes to nominate him, and Pennsylvania gave him 60. It was Governor Sproul himself, the candidate of his state on every pre-candidate of his state of the preceding ballot, and mentioned many times us a possible dark horse, to break the deadlock, who announced the Pennsylvania vote for Harding.

Entering the Coliseum floor for the first time since the balloting began, he made his way to the Pennsylvania standard, and, amid cheers, released the delegation from longer supporting him. Then he took a poll, got the floor, and threw in the winning Harding votes. A demonstration of several minutes followed, most of the delegates and visitors standing and cheering, while a procession took up its march around the hall. But it was too tired a convention after the gruelling exciteeding ballot, and mentioned many times a convention after the gruelling excitement of two sweltering days of balloting long to keep up such a demonstra-

ing of votes began, with a half-dozen who had voted for other candidates switching over so as to appear in the winning column on the last ballot. Most of Illinois deserted its governor, and many of the Wood men, too, asked to have their votes recorded for Harding. The final check-up showed 692 for Harding, with only 12 left supporting Lowden, 157 for Wood, and 80 for Johnson.

The plan to nominate Senator Lenroot for the vice-presidency had the backing of many of the men who had helped put Harding over, but the name of Governor Coolidge stirred the delegates and galleries to repeated cheering, and he was swept into the second place on the ticket before the first roll call had gone two-thirds of its length. Again it was Pennsylvania which furnished the winning votes.

Governor Coolidge got 674 votes to 146 for Senator Lenroot, and 68 for Governor Allen of Kansas.

Several others got scattering support without being placed formally in nomination. The result was greeted with another demonstration, and there was renewed cheering a few minutes later, when the tired delegates were told that their work was done. It was early evening by the time adjournment was reached, but before midnight hundreds had checked out and were on their way.
