Tribute Is Paid Chapman

The three-minute slient tribute paid the memory of Ray Chapman, who was buried yesterday afternoon from his Cleveland home, by both the London and Brantford players during the game yesterday at Tecumseh Park was exceptionally impressive.

Between the third and fourth innings, the game was halted, and the players gathered at the short field position with heads bared, while President Maines of the Mint League and President Heard of the local club placed a wreath at shortstop position. "Last Post" was blown, giving added solemnity to the silent tribute of the players and the fans to a player who had done much to add to the cleanliness and honor of sport in all branches.

It is Expected a Sudden-Death Game Will Be Staged at Brantford To Break the Tie.

WOODSTOCK, Ang. 20.—After getthing away to a bad start in the first inning, when Cayuge hit the ball hard and scored five runs, the Bains went out and defeated the visitors by 12 to 10, in the second of the home-and home games in the Ontario O. The game today did not display any too good ball. The visitors can certoo good ball. The visitors can certainly hit the ball, but their fielding was poor.

Locals Blanked 5 to 0 by Herbst and Red Legs Even Series

Devinney, Boston Red Sox Recruit, Hurls Hitful Ball and His Help Showed Four Errors in the Collection Box.

To Mr. Herbst was assigned the task of slowing up the leaders yesterday n the shady twilight over the river and he turned in an entirely spotless job 5 to 0. Devinney stood on the same mound, but he found it hard sticking up there, and eight bingles with muss-ups behind him made the hillside slippery. "Babe" Dye sat in on three hands in which Devinney got nicked, driving n the first Brant counter with a clean single, bunting in a run and sacrificing n a third in the seventh just along about the time the Tribe should have been coming through with one of their noted rallies. However, there wasn't even banner to rally around yesterday. Herbst had them all hidden Devinney pulled off the only sensational play of the whole game, where he showed that there was nothing knocking above his waist by taking Brady's low pop in the sixth and whirling around to get Byrne in the middle of a snor at the second flag station, saving himself a lot of trouble thereby, for a hi came right after that which would have sent Byrne across the plate. The Red Legs didn't leave anybody in suspense as to what they were going to do right from the ump's word. Orme singled sharply to centre for the first up, stole second and Dye's single scored him.

The Brants threatened again in the third with one gone, when Orme collected himself another knock, this time lected himself another knock, this time for two sandbags. A choice and a walk made them look double on the sacks, but Clark bronzed over a golden opportunity when he popped out to Kuhn. They came back to the attack in the fifth with renewed wigor. Herbst singled to right, Orme sacrificed him along and Murphy was on when Calbert dropped his hard bending fly to the forth interest of the same of the sa foul lines. Dye tapped out a grounder, which caught Devinney going the wrong way and scored.

In the seventh Murphy rapped one at Neitzke and went to second on Neitzke's bad throw to first. He pil-fered third and came home while Kuhn and Dowling juggled around first to get a run. In the ninth the Brants made rally look one more run harder by Moorefield and Orme working around to third and the backstop came in on Murphy's long sacrifice fly to the middle The Tribe didn't even threaten very hard. Witry's single and Crichlow's nice double to right with one gone in the second canto made it look as if the second canto made it look as if the Tribe would tack up something not so curved on the score board, but the next two were easy infield outs. Neitzke poled out a double to right in the sixth with two passed away, but Calbert popped out to Murphy at short. In the ninth King Brady retired the side along with Werre, the whole three outs going to that corner.

Stan Coveleskie Joins Ranks of Three Balls-Three Out Hurlers

George Dauss Was Only Man To Accomplish Feat in 1919, Getting Three White Sox in Row.

Stanley Coveleskie of the Indians joined the limited few who have used only three balls in retiring the side in one inning, in the seventh session of the game in Speakerville on Friday, August 6, his victim's being Clarence and Frank Walker and Joe Dugan of the Athletics. Clarence Walker flied to Speaker on the first pitch. Frank Walker grounded out to Chapman on the first pitch, and Dugan rolled out to Wambsganss on the first pitch. George Dauss of the Tigers was the only man who accomplished a feat of this kind in 1919, getting three of the White Sox on three pitched balls in the sixth inning of the contest of June 3.
