

SPENDS ANOTHER BAD NIGHT.

London, Sept. 24.—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, was in a very exhausted condition this morning after a night of insomnia, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination League. He spent a very bad night, and in his head, of which he has complained frequently, began again this morning.

ITALY'S FINANCES BAD.

Rome, Sept. 24.—Financial conditions in Italy make it impossible for the Government to sell grain under the present system without raising bankruptcy. Signor Meda, minister of the treasury, announced yesterday. The present deficit of about 5,000,000,000 lire has been caused by the system of purchasing wheat abroad and selling it below cost in this country, is declared.

APPEAL TO CATHOLICS.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Plans for an appeal to the Catholic clergy and laity throughout the United States to cooperate in raising a permanent endowment for the work of the Catholic Welfare Council, were made yesterday at the annual meeting of Catholic archbishops and bishops here. Cardinal Gibbons presided at the meeting.

At The Theaters

AT THE GRAND.
"My Soldier Girl," a delightful musical show, was presented at the Grand Opera House last evening, and proved a treat of real comedy and pathos. Splendid singing, clever dancing and real repertoire was afforded, and the audience was highly pleased with the entire performance.

Billy Moore, the famous comedian, as Jasper Peabody, was a scream. He showed real ability. The manner in which he handled his part showed that he is an artist of no mean ability. With Billy Murphy as his rickety, Moore made a decided hit with the audience, and had them in laughter throughout the entire play.

Maxine Lockwood, as Dixie Harris, "My Soldier Girl," is an actress of the first class. Her singing, "You're Lovin' My Sugar Baby," "When You Dance With the Man You Love" was excellent. She was encircled several times. Georgia Emmett, as Mabel Parker, possessed a most remarkable soprano voice and her singing of "Wrap Me Up in a Bundle of Love" was one of the best efforts even made. Miss Emmett delights the audience with one of her special numbers, an Irish dance. In this number she was encircled time after time until she came back and told the audience a secret: she was born in Ireland. Foster Elliott, George B. Hall, John H. Erickson, James L. Baber, Jack Barry, Olney and H. Ahman completed the cast, putting the finishing touches to one of the best companies ever seen here in musical comedy.

The fine chorus with the play was a decided feature. The singing and dancing is beyond the shadow of a doubt the best ever offered to London theatre-goers for some time, and each member was heartily encircled by the audience. Every one of the principals in the play possesses a splendid voice.

Pretty love scenes are in the play. However, Jasper, the only black spot in it, generally happens in at the "wrong time," and then the audience is kept in suspense till Jasper finally disappears and the lovers begin all over again. "Only to be interrupted by the dark spot or his accomplice, Rick- erts, from Nowhere. The lovers are always certain of being alone, and the watermelons are ripe or when a "crack" is around for Jasper to look after.

Lieut. Ted Carter of the U. S. A. flying corps is in love with Dixie, but cannot tell a way to find her. He gets "first-class info." from Capt. Tom Lawson, but cannot get the nerve to tell her. Finally she finds out the trouble and breaks the news to him, instead of him performing the act.

The closing scene is one that may never be forgotten by those who saw them. "Colonial Days," in which the entire company takes part, touches the hearts of all the lovers of real old costumes and dances.

"My Soldier Girl" is being presented again this evening, tomorrow afternoon and evening, and is really worth seeing. It is a continuous round of pleasure, and a large audience is expected to attend the remaining performances.

AT LOEW'S.
Inherent in human nature is the desire to make a big show some time. Especially does the boy who has left the small town for the city wish to impress the folks back home. Any one who has felt such a desire—and everyone has—would be interested in the picture now showing at Loew's Theatre. Here Charles Ray takes the part of the young man, who is practically kicked out of his home town because he is considered a good-for-nothing. And the peek of interest in the picture comes when that boy returns home after two years' absence in a great city and is received like a lion, because he comes with a full purse. Banquets are held in his honor, he is besieged by women, men and children, all anxious to be his friends, and the chief citizens of the town implore him to lay the cornerstone of their most lately-acquired building.

The humor of the whole situation is under-paids clerk in a big concern in the city, who "blows out" his whole week's savings on a party two weeks' visit, and that he is not the millionaire they take him for. And the tragedy lies in the fact that he cannot with honor propose to the girl he had left behind him, because after all, he is but a hox.

Among the excellent vaudeville acts showing is one, "Nine Crazy Kids." The scene is laid in a schoolroom, and the routine of schoolroom life is taken advantage of to introduce clever songs and jokes. Another very fine vaudeville number is given by Cosca and Verdi, clever artists of the violin and cello. A comedy film and splendid pictorial reels complete the program.

MILLIONAIRE FATHER GIVES ONLY SON EVERYTHING FROM RACING CARS TO BABY VAMP IN ATTEMPT TO MAKE A MAN OF HIM.
"Jack Pickford" in "Man Who Had Everything," a Fast and Furious Romance of Wealth, at Allen.

There's one way to make a man of your son, said the blind beggar to the multi-millionaire, give him everything he wants, press upon him all the luxuries, the pleasures, that your great fortune can buy, and pray that he will become surfeited with too much of a good time, and so find the way to true happiness in work and achievement, true love in the arms of a good girl.

You must see Jack Pickford in this totally different picture, "The Man Who Had Everything," which is shown at the Allen today and tomorrow only. He is the rich man's son, who was given every wish that the expressed, who revelled in racing cars and palatial speed boats, in prize bulldogs, and a baby vamp, and who became so used to having with this excess of pleasures that he turned against them and sought happiness in something which while, and found love in the arms of the little maid who waited at home for him instead of the gorgeous baby vamps that danced and frolicked away his money and passions in the Gay White Way.

Among the extra attractions will be a Smiling Billy Parsons' comedy entitled "Chasing Rainbows," the always interesting Allen news, and beautiful scenic pictures, and unusual nature studies.

The overture by the famous Allen Concert Orchestra will be "Pique Dame," by Suppe.

THREE KILLED DURING DISORDERS IN TURIN

Two Hundred Arrests Have Been Made in Italian City.

Rome, Sept. 24.—Disorders continue at Turin and rifle firing is sometimes assumed the character of a battle in the outskirts of the city, according to dispatches reaching Rome. Three more persons have been killed, it is said, among them being Mario Santini, president of the Young Men's Nationalist Association. A bomb was thrown in San Carlo Square, near the central police office, but no one was killed or injured, only the nearby buildings being struck by fragments. Police and military authorities are showing extraordinary activity and have made about 200 arrests.

A resolution passed by the council of the workers' League, inviting the people to remain calm and not to jeopardize negotiations in the metal workers' dispute, by acts of violence is published by the newspaper Avanti.

WORKMEN HOLD FACTORIES.
London, Sept. 24.—Workmen employed at the Orlando shipyard at Leghorn have refused to turn the plant back to the owners until they are paid wages for the time they have been on strike, says a Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

NEW MORNING PAPER.
Hamilton, Oct. 23.—The Hamilton Daily Times announced last evening that the new owners have applied to the Canadian Press, Limited, for a morning paper franchise in addition to that now held for the evening field. It is proposed to start publication of the new morning daily about November 1.
