Many had come calling themselves English and Irish and Scotch, but had no more British feeling than Hottentots. This constituted a serious menace, and Canadians must stand together for their own ideals. They all knew that crime was increasing. They could look back with pride to the record of the country before these people came. It was necessary for Canadians to unite to overmaster the conditions to which he referred. He had said before that Ontario was the greatest province in the British empire, but greatness was nothing without character. He trust-ed they would all unite in maintaining intact their British institutions and the magnificience of the British name.

In June, 1900, the banner year for this field, there were at Summer-land 305 producing wells, fifty-nine abandoned wells and fifteen wells which land 305 producing wells, fifty-nine abandoned wells and fifteen wells which were in process of drilling.

These wells yielded from one to sixty barrels of oil per day, the average being about five barrels. The field has never had a great gusher and has never been a heavy producer in any sense of the word. In 1889 and practically in 1890 oil was worth 90 cents a barrel in 890 oil was worth 90 cents a barrel in 890 oil was worth 90 cents a barrel in 89mmerland. The cost of production from the surf wells is said to range from 25 to 35 cents per barrel.

Development continued up to 1903, since which time development of the sea field has been practically at a standstill, the wells in the territory being pumped, but no new ones put dcwn. At the present time there are about 190 wells producing from the surf of the 415 which have been drilled since the field was discovered.
