

FEDERAL WARRANTS TOTAL LARGE SUM

Governor-General's Authorizations Amount to Almost Three Millions.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—(Can. Press)—Governor-general's warrants issued since the last session of parliament have totalled $2,929,000, and the expenditures under those warrants, $677,800, according to a return tabled in the house this afternoon. The items for which warrants were issued were: Administration of justice, control, warrant, $50,000; expenditure, $11,800; light utilization board warrant, $149,000; expenditure, $140,000; salaries and contingencies, board of pensions commissioners, warrant, $850,000; expenditure, $152,000; seed grant purchase, warrant, $1,600,000; expenditure, $200,000; D.S.C.R., assistance to unemployed war veterans, warrant, $1,100,000; expenditure, $48,000; health animals, warrant, $200,000; expenditure, $20,000; interior department, expenditure to north, warrant, $30,000; expenditure, $1,300; interior department, Rocky Mountains Park, warrant, $50,000; expenditure, $13,500.

DEBATE ON ADDRESS ALMOST COLLAPSED

(Continued From Page 1)

mean between a high and a low tariff. Then came Sir George Foster who delivered an interesting but somewhat lengthy address on the League of Nations. It was observed that Liberals appeared more interested in Sir George's speech than the Conservatives. The latter were leaving the chamber in twos and threes during the speech, and those who remained left almost in a body as soon as Sir George concluded. They could see Andrew McMaster, the Free Trade Liberal member for Bromfield, getting ready to follow with an armful of books and papers stacked on his desk. They took it for granted that he would talk up to six o'clock and apparently ignored the fact that E. R. Devlin, instead of McMaster, rose to speak when Sir George Foster sat down.

Devlin has a way of talking and under ordinary circumstances would have taken up the balance of the afternoon, but no sooner were the government benches emptied than he abruptly closed his speech and loud cries went up from the Liberals for a vote. Then it was that Mr. Nesbitt rushed to the rescue. He declared himself against an election, but said he would give the government independent support. He criticized the reference to unemployment insurance in the speech from the throne. If any men were idle in Canada, he said, it was because they were unwilling to work, and intimated to the house that it was passing too much Progressive legislation. Mr. McMaster moved the adjournment of the debate.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—(Canadian Press)—The house passed today to the order of the day. There were echoes in continued debate on the address of yesterday's day between the prime minister and the leader of the opposition, and a great deal of the time was devoted to the speech of the day. He spoke of the league as working perfectly and emphasized the importance of the creation of an international court of justice.

"Would a dispute between South Africa and Great Britain be referred to the international court of justice?" Hon. Charles Murphy pointedly queried. But on so delicate a point Sir George declined to give an opinion. He would leave it to the minister of justice.

Was it true, then, pressed Ernest Lapointe (Quebec E.), that there had been differences among the British empire delegates? There were no difficulties among the Canadian delegates," Sir George humorously replied. "We were a band of brothers."

Different points of view had been held by the delegations from the different parts of the empire, but relations, Sir George said, were always of the best.

Negation of War. Sir George spoke of the league as a reversal of the policy of six thousand years. It was the "negation of war," the "apotheosis of peace." The United States was still outside it, but "the spirit, the prayer, the overwhelming conviction of the people of the United States, even with the desire of the covenant of the league."

Sir George was preceded by D. D. McKenzie (Cape Breton, N.S.) who cited a "Tory newspaper" on the

ONTARIO'S DEFICIT IS MUCH LARGER

(Continued From Page 1)

vince would have a deficit of $1,700,000 instead of $620,000. Hon. Peter Smith said it was. The good roads policy of the government was Hon. G. S. Henry's principal grounds for complaint.

Free School Books. The premier told the house that the government approved the principle of a free school book system for the issuing of free school books throughout the province. But the government did not wish to act in an arbitrary manner regarding the matter and thought that if the bill passed it should be subject to an order-in-council before becoming effective. The measure, in short, required a great deal of consideration.

K. K. Homann (Labor, South Waterloo) did not want to see the bill withdrawn. It had many advantages and should be fully discussed in the house. The minister of education might inaugurate a campaign pointing out the advantages of free school text books.

Hon. R. H. Gault, minister of education, who had seldom speaks in the house, rose to give his opinion on the subject. He suggested that propaganda in favor of free books should be inaugurated. The question of free school books should be discussed in the house.

R. R. Hall (Liberal, Parry Sound) strongly favored free school books and looked forward to seeing a national system of school books being able to understand one another and "get down to business" had been viewed before the event with a good eye.

Hon. Peter Smith, answering Hon. G. H. Ferguson said that R. T. Harding had not received any fees for his services. He was at present on the treasury department or attorney-general's department, other than as counsel for the timber inquiry, and was not of other department of the government.

Major A. C. Lewis was told that Sir George Foster had a total amount of $1,700,000 in general sales manager for the Toronto Plate Glass Co. and is not in the house.

Hon. Beniah Bowman informed Major Kennedy (Peel), that 10,000 bushels of oats had been purchased last season from the U.F.O. Co-operative Co. for seed for farmers.

Attorney-General Raney, in answer to Dr. George's question, said that the recent decision of the privy council in a mixed marriage case did not and would not affect his views regarding the bill.

Insurance Amendments. H. P. Hill of Ottawa introduced a bill in the legislature which will have the effect of insuring United States insurance companies in Ontario.

At the end of Mr. Devlin's speech Sir George spoke of the government and opposition members who had taken part in the debate.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

ONARIO'S DEFICIT IS MUCH LARGER

(Continued From Page 1)

vince would have a deficit of $1,700,000 instead of $620,000. Hon. Peter Smith said it was. The good roads policy of the government was Hon. G. S. Henry's principal grounds for complaint.

Free School Books. The premier told the house that the government approved the principle of a free school book system for the issuing of free school books throughout the province. But the government did not wish to act in an arbitrary manner regarding the matter and thought that if the bill passed it should be subject to an order-in-council before becoming effective.

K. K. Homann (Labor, South Waterloo) did not want to see the bill withdrawn. It had many advantages and should be fully discussed in the house. The minister of education might inaugurate a campaign pointing out the advantages of free school text books.

Hon. R. H. Gault, minister of education, who had seldom speaks in the house, rose to give his opinion on the subject. He suggested that propaganda in favor of free books should be inaugurated.

R. R. Hall (Liberal, Parry Sound) strongly favored free school books and looked forward to seeing a national system of school books being able to understand one another and "get down to business" had been viewed before the event with a good eye.

Hon. Peter Smith, answering Hon. G. H. Ferguson said that R. T. Harding had not received any fees for his services. He was at present on the treasury department or attorney-general's department, other than as counsel for the timber inquiry, and was not of other department of the government.

Major A. C. Lewis was told that Sir George Foster had a total amount of $1,700,000 in general sales manager for the Toronto Plate Glass Co. and is not in the house.

Hon. Beniah Bowman informed Major Kennedy (Peel), that 10,000 bushels of oats had been purchased last season from the U.F.O. Co-operative Co. for seed for farmers.

Attorney-General Raney, in answer to Dr. George's question, said that the recent decision of the privy council in a mixed marriage case did not and would not affect his views regarding the bill.

Insurance Amendments. H. P. Hill of Ottawa introduced a bill in the legislature which will have the effect of insuring United States insurance companies in Ontario.

At the end of Mr. Devlin's speech Sir George spoke of the government and opposition members who had taken part in the debate.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

ONARIO'S DEFICIT IS MUCH LARGER

(Continued From Page 1)

vince would have a deficit of $1,700,000 instead of $620,000. Hon. Peter Smith said it was. The good roads policy of the government was Hon. G. S. Henry's principal grounds for complaint.

Free School Books. The premier told the house that the government approved the principle of a free school book system for the issuing of free school books throughout the province. But the government did not wish to act in an arbitrary manner regarding the matter and thought that if the bill passed it should be subject to an order-in-council before becoming effective.

K. K. Homann (Labor, South Waterloo) did not want to see the bill withdrawn. It had many advantages and should be fully discussed in the house. The minister of education might inaugurate a campaign pointing out the advantages of free school text books.

Hon. R. H. Gault, minister of education, who had seldom speaks in the house, rose to give his opinion on the subject. He suggested that propaganda in favor of free books should be inaugurated.

R. R. Hall (Liberal, Parry Sound) strongly favored free school books and looked forward to seeing a national system of school books being able to understand one another and "get down to business" had been viewed before the event with a good eye.

Hon. Peter Smith, answering Hon. G. H. Ferguson said that R. T. Harding had not received any fees for his services. He was at present on the treasury department or attorney-general's department, other than as counsel for the timber inquiry, and was not of other department of the government.

Major A. C. Lewis was told that Sir George Foster had a total amount of $1,700,000 in general sales manager for the Toronto Plate Glass Co. and is not in the house.

Hon. Beniah Bowman informed Major Kennedy (Peel), that 10,000 bushels of oats had been purchased last season from the U.F.O. Co-operative Co. for seed for farmers.

Attorney-General Raney, in answer to Dr. George's question, said that the recent decision of the privy council in a mixed marriage case did not and would not affect his views regarding the bill.

Insurance Amendments. H. P. Hill of Ottawa introduced a bill in the legislature which will have the effect of insuring United States insurance companies in Ontario.

At the end of Mr. Devlin's speech Sir George spoke of the government and opposition members who had taken part in the debate.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

Mr. Nesbitt said that he had no one rose from the opposition side to discuss the tariff question.

SPECIAL E PENSES REPORTED BY OTTAWA

Unforeseen Outlays on Conferences and Congresses Totalled $35,000.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—(By Canadian Press).—A statement of miscellaneous unforeseen expenses, from April 1, 1920, to February 15, 1921, tabled in the house of commons this afternoon by Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, showed a total outlay under this heading of $35,137.14. The items included the following expenses: League of Nations, $17,859.13; imperial conference, $1,315.56; expenses of Canadian representative to international congress, $90; international congress versus alcoholism, $883; international telegraph congress, $1,224.24; international women's conference at Brussels, $1,069.19; Prince of Wales' visit, $3,544.83. The balance of the items were in connection with finance and congresses held in Canada.

Opposes Good Roads Policy. Mr. Henry seriously criticized the present road policy of the government. He told, for instance, that on upper Yonge street, the county authorities had called for contracts for road work and received a bid of 8c a square yard. Subsequently Hon. Mr. Biggs also called for contracts on the same specification and received from the same contractor a quotation of $1.30 a yard.

Hon. Mr. Biggs denied that any such a contract had ever been called for on Yonge street. He said that he had the papers here in his hand.

The provincial treasurer was assured that the Conservative opposition would do its best to give the good name of the province.

J. C. Brown (North Middlesex), moved the adjournment of the debate on the subject of road work.

Charles McCrae (Conservative, Sudbury) said the increased expenditure during the last fiscal year should give the people of the province cause for great concern. There had been a big deficit, and the provincial treasurer, who at the same time asked the opposition critics not to judge him too harshly.

Always Preached Economy. The present government in 1919 deplored the excessive expenditures and the excessive debt. But in 1920 that so-called excessive expenditure had become a promise of economy. The provincial treasurer would have a hard time to keep such a promise.

When the public accounts committee met the treasury department might be expected regarding some items.

Mr. Warren (U.F.O., North Renfrew) generally defended the present administration, and paid particular attention to the death of Mr. Kelly, who had been a whole-hearted supporter. But he would go further than the act did, and make it a condition that the government should be held responsible for the death of Mr. Kelly.

Mr. McCreedy told the house he was not in that he favored the form of the bill. He demanded and secured the support of Mr. Warren that he would vote against the bill.

As for unemployment, Mr. Warren took the view that the government was not doing enough to help the unemployed in the country for those who wanted it.

Telephone Competition. The question of the province entering into competition with the Bell Telephone Company was raised by a question from the Canadian Independent Telephone Co. (C.I.T.)

Power lines can be used for telephone lines. The C.I.T. has some 2000 miles of such telephones now in use. The C.I.T. is spreading over Ontario, and the value of such telephones is increasing.

Mr. Drury stated that the cabinet was not in a position to make a decision on the matter of telephone competition.

Dispensaries Profitable. According to the report of the license commission, the net profit of the Ontario government dispensaries for the year ending December 31, 1920, was $11,817. A considerable quantity of confiscated liquor was donated to provincial and other hospitals for medicinal use. The value of confiscated liquor on hand at Oct. 31, was $108,138.

No Lower Prices. In answer to the argument that prices at the dispensaries should be lower, it is pointed out that it was not practicable to restrict liquor prescriptions to those based on actual medical need, as stipulated in the Ontario Temperance Act. The volume of business transacted would be reduced to a drop to one-fourth of its present volume.

Under the heading of "relations with physicians" it is stated "the doctors on the board has suspended at dispensaries were chiefly those who were not serious, but on the contrary, were excellent. The Farmers' Sun to the effect that the dispensaries were doing well, when the high character of the dispensaries was considered. Other provincial dispensaries had been closed down since the time that Ontario in this respect.

The attorney-general's instructions to the O.T.A. were objected to by Mr. Warren because they were inquiring into, among other things, the high price of coal in Ontario, combined with the fact that Great Britain had not done so.

Last session only six bills had been introduced regarding agriculture. Yet in spite of this the government planned 'islet upon what it had done for the agricultural community.

Blue ruin propaganda, that the rural population was growing less and less, were not serious, but on the contrary, were excellent. The Farmers' Sun to the effect that the dispensaries were doing well, when the high character of the dispensaries was considered. Other provincial dispensaries had been closed down since the time that Ontario in this respect.

Strong for O. T. A. T. W. McLeod (Lab., Stormont) also there were features about it that did not like. One thing he particularly objected to was, presuming a man guilty before trial. The methods of enforcement he also took exception to.

The present government had a great opportunity before it. It could not appeal to the people. The premier's broadening out proposals were sound.

Hon. G. S. Henry regretted that the prime minister should have given the impression that the shipway development scheme was not all it should be. He also recorded the government

SPECIAL E PENSES REPORTED BY OTTAWA

Unforeseen Outlays on Conferences and Congresses Totalled $35,000.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—(By Canadian Press).—A statement of miscellaneous unforeseen expenses, from April 1, 1920, to February 15, 1921, tabled in the house of commons this afternoon by Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, showed a total outlay under this heading of $35,137.14. The items included the following expenses: League of Nations, $17,859.13; imperial conference, $1,315.56; expenses of Canadian representative to international congress, $90; international congress versus alcoholism, $883; international telegraph congress, $1,224.24; international women's conference at Brussels, $1,069.19; Prince of Wales' visit, $3,544.83. The balance of the items were in connection with finance and congresses held in Canada.

Opposes Good Roads Policy. Mr. Henry seriously criticized the present road policy of the government. He told, for instance, that on upper Yonge street, the county authorities had called for contracts for road work and received a bid of 8c a square yard. Subsequently Hon. Mr. Biggs also called for contracts on the same specification and received from the same contractor a quotation of $1.30 a yard.

Hon. Mr. Biggs denied that any such a contract had ever been called for on Yonge street. He said that he had the papers here in his hand.

The provincial treasurer was assured that the Conservative opposition would do its best to give the good name of the province.

J. C. Brown (North Middlesex), moved the adjournment of the debate on the subject of road work.

Charles McCrae (Conservative, Sudbury) said the increased expenditure during the last fiscal year should give the people of the province cause for great concern. There had been a big deficit, and the provincial treasurer, who at the same time asked the opposition critics not to judge him too harshly.

Always Preached Economy. The present government in 1919 deplored the excessive expenditures and the excessive debt. But in 1920 that so-called excessive expenditure had become a promise of economy. The provincial treasurer would have a hard time to keep such a promise.

When the public accounts committee met the treasury department might be expected regarding some items.

Mr. Warren (U.F.O., North Renfrew) generally defended the present administration, and paid particular attention to the death of Mr. Kelly, who had been a whole-hearted supporter. But he would go further than the act did, and make it a condition that the government should be held responsible for the death of Mr. Kelly.

Mr. McCreedy told the house he was not in that he favored the form of the bill. He demanded and secured the support of Mr. Warren that he would vote against the bill.

As for unemployment, Mr. Warren took the view that the government was not doing enough to help the unemployed in the country for those who wanted it.

Telephone Competition. The question of the province entering into competition with the Bell Telephone Company was raised by a question from the Canadian Independent Telephone Co. (C.I.T.)

Power lines can be used for telephone lines. The C.I.T. has some 2000 miles of such telephones now in use. The C.I.T. is spreading over Ontario, and the value of such telephones is increasing.

Mr. Drury stated that the cabinet was not in a position to make a decision on the matter of telephone competition.

Dispensaries Profitable. According to the report of the license commission, the net profit of the Ontario government dispensaries for the year ending December 31, 1920, was $11,817. A considerable quantity of confiscated liquor was donated to provincial and other hospitals for medicinal use. The value of confiscated liquor on hand at Oct. 31, was $108,138.

No Lower Prices. In answer to the argument that prices at the dispensaries should be lower, it is pointed out that it was not practicable to restrict liquor prescriptions to those based on actual medical need, as stipulated in the Ontario Temperance Act. The volume of business transacted would be reduced to a drop to one-fourth of its present volume.

Under the heading of "relations with physicians" it is stated "the doctors on the board has suspended at dispensaries were chiefly those who were not serious, but on the contrary, were excellent. The Farmers' Sun to the effect that the dispensaries were doing well, when the high character of the dispensaries was considered. Other provincial dispensaries had been closed down since the time that Ontario in this respect.

The attorney-general's instructions to the O.T.A. were objected to by Mr. Warren because they were inquiring into, among other things, the high price of coal in Ontario, combined with the fact that Great Britain had not done so.

Last session only six bills had been introduced regarding agriculture. Yet in spite of this the government planned 'islet upon what it had done for the agricultural community.

Blue ruin propaganda, that the rural population was growing less and less, were not serious, but on the contrary, were excellent. The Farmers' Sun to the effect that the dispensaries were doing well, when the high character of the dispensaries was considered. Other provincial dispensaries had been closed down since the time that Ontario in this respect.

Strong for O. T. A. T. W. McLeod (Lab., Stormont) also there were features about it that did not like. One thing he particularly objected to was, presuming a man guilty before trial. The methods of enforcement he also took exception to.

The present government had a great opportunity before it. It could not appeal to the people. The premier's broadening out proposals were sound.

Hon. G. S. Henry regretted that the prime minister should have given the impression that the shipway development scheme was not all it should be. He also recorded the government

MANY AMENDMENTS TO PEACE COVENANT

Commissions to Consider Them Will Be Appointed Says League President.

Paris, Feb. 16.—Elimination of the main-point article ten of the League of Nations covenant, as proposed by Right Hon. Charles J. Doherty, Canadian minister of justice, at the league assembly in Geneva last December, will be one of the important amendments to be discussed by the league council, according to Dr. Gaston I. Da Cunha, Brazilian ambassador to France and president of the council. Commissions to consider amendments to the league covenant, blockades, mandates and the registration of treaties will be appointed by the council, besides committees to study minor questions, as provided for by the assembly of the league in Geneva. The commission on amendments is regarded as the most important and the council already has informed the league members that amendments must be submitted for consideration by this committee before the end of March.

That does not mean that amendments suggested by non-members will not be considered, the president said. "As president of the council I shall pass on to the commission any project submitted for revision."

Another amendment proposed is that of Honorio Pueyrredon, Argentine foreign minister, proclaiming members of the league all states that do not announce a desire to remain outside the league, and providing for the election of all members of the council by the league assembly.

Dr. Da Cunha said that the meeting of the league council was called in Paris solely for the convenience of certain members, whose presence was deemed necessary. Other-wise, Dr. Da Cunha said, it would have been held in Geneva, regardless of the refusal of the Swiss government to permit the passage thru Switzerland of the League of Nations international force to maintain order in the Vilna district during the plebiscite.

Great Britain will be represented by either Right Hon. A. J. Balfour or Right Hon. H. A. L. Fisher, minister of education.

TORONTO AMATEUR HOCKEY. The Toronto Amateur Hockey Association has decided not to name a date for the opening of the season. The next meeting on February 22 at 8 p.m. The committee will then permit to continue: Barthelme, with D.M.C.; Holman, Victoria; Caldwell, Epiphany; Arthur, St. Ignace; J. McGarry, Jr.; and play with Oyster. The charge will allow a man's body to pass thru.

Several thousand dollars worth of women's silk wear was stolen from the store of Mrs. Rachael Goodman, 41 West Dundas street, some time on Tuesday night by burglars, who gained an entrance by making an aperture thru the east wall from J. Callier's feed store next door.

Mrs. Goodman's store, located about 25 doors from West Dundas police station. The manner in which the burglars gained entrance and the thoroughness with which they went about their work would seem to indicate that the thing had been well planned by master minds.

The burglars entered Callier's feed store thru a fault in the rear. Crowbars or some heavy instruments were used to make the hole in the wall, which was sufficiently large to allow a man's body to pass thru.

Great Britain will be represented by either Right Hon. A. J. Balfour or Right Hon. H. A. L. Fisher, minister of education.

TORONTO AMATEUR HOCKEY. The Toronto Amateur Hockey Association has decided not to name a date for the opening of the season. The next meeting on February 22 at 8 p.m. The committee will then permit to continue: Barthelme, with D.M.C.; Holman, Victoria; Caldwell, Epiphany; Arthur, St. Ignace; J. McGarry, Jr.; and play with Oyster. The charge will allow a man's body to pass thru.

Several thousand dollars worth of women's silk wear was stolen from the store of Mrs. Rachael Goodman, 41 West Dundas street, some time on Tuesday night by burglars, who gained an entrance by making an aperture thru the east wall from J. Callier's feed store next door.