

by divers pens, the immortal living truths of the Gospel. The paper is not yet all we could wish, but we are thankful for the good beginning; and we want much help, intellectually, pecuniarily and spiritually, to make a mighty organ for good among Protestants and Catholics; a visitor feared by hypocrites and evil doers and loved by all lovers of truth.

Our Report shows 43 baptisms in all, but every one knows that those coming forward to confess their faith represent a much larger number, a multitude indeed who have been educated and religiously influenced. Thus the influence of our labor goes on penetrating the masses here and there, forcing the light of the truth into many minds, who still have not the courage to make it known. We are thus moulding character and lives quite widely in this province, and the mass is quietly but surely being leavened by the Gospel and its divine and mysterious power. It will have to yield some day. Our work will bear fruit abundantly if our lives bear out our principles. "Therefore," as the great apostle wrote, "My beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."
