The Chronicle Publishing Co., Ltd., Halifax, has bought the property known as the Central house, on the corner of Prince and Granville streets, and proposes to erect a modern news spaper office thereon next spring. The location is a good one and the change will bring the newspaper offices of the city on one street, and practically within one block.—Maritime Merchant.

A drive of more than fifty miles over rough country roads on an ordinary sided—that is what a Queens Co. man named Springer, who is in falling health, started upon yesterday morning. Mr. Springer came to St. John some time ago, and has been living at a Portland boarding house. His health having become bad, he decided to return to his old home. Mr. Springer's friends found that he could best be taken home on a sled, and, as stated, he set out yesterday morning. A bed was made on the sied and on it Mr. Springer was placed. He is beings driven by Ernest Starkey.

W the parishes of Blisville and Gladstone, was made the recipient a few days ago of a very valuable raccoon overcoat. The presentation was made by George Leane-Smith, on behalf of the congregation of St. Andrew's church, Fredericton Junction, and St. Luke's church, Hoyt. Mr. Carson, who is deservedly popular in those parishes, gratefully accepted this strong expression of appreciation in a few graceful sentences. By this generous act the congregations of these churches have won new laurels, and particularly so when it is remembered that only a few months ago they placed a new bell on each of their pretty little churches, at Fredericton Junction and Hoyt, besides raising a very considerable amount of money during the year for other church funds,

The congregation of Waterloo street United Baptist church remembered their pastor, Rev. A. J. Prosser, at Christmas by presenting to him a fine baptismal rubber robe. Tomorrow evening Rev. Mr. Prosser will preach a sermon in memory of those of his congregation who died during the

H. G. Hunter, engineer on the water works construction paid his first visit to the works after vacation yesterday. He reports good progress on section two and says the work of laying the reinforced concrete aqueduct through the dry bog should be completed today unless the heavy rain of last night caused unexpected delay. On section three the lining of the tunnel is being proceeded with as quickly as possible On section four everything is in readi-
