Lengthy Debate in Presbyterian General Assembly on Subject Sent from P. E. Island-Not Finished When Session Concluded-Rev. Mr. Hillock Admitted Into Ministry.

Toronto, June 17-(Special)—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian church expects to complete its business tomorrow evening or Thursday morning. The Wilkie case came up again this afternoon, and J. K. Macdonald gave notice of motion that inasmuch it had been stated that Rev. Dr. Wilkie has invested the greater part of his savings in college buildings at Indore, the foreign mission committee investigate and if such prove the case that Doctor Wilkie be recouped.

The question of individual communion cups came up. Zion church, Charlottetown (P. E. I.) introduced this means of dispensing the sacrament, and Rev. D. McNeill, retired minister, a member of the congregation, protested and carried his protest to the presbytery. That body took the ground that this was a subject to be left to the judgment of the individuals of the congregation. Mr. McNeil carried his protest to the synod, which sent it to the general assembly. Rev. Dr. Sedgwick related the circumstances. He pointed out that the points involved included the general question of this proposed method of dispensing the sacrament. He thought the synod should have pronounced an opinion.

Rev. J. Mcg. McKay, of New Glasgow, also presented the case of whereas the use of the individual communion cup was contrary to the laws and practices of the church in all ages, the assembly saw no cause for its introduction; further, that the assembly deprecate the practice of individual congregations introducing such important changes without sanction of the supreme court of the church. President Forrest gave it as his view that a propaganda had been carried on by persons interested in the manufacture of these articles, much in the manner of patent medicine advertising. He declared there was not an authenticated instance of communication of disease through Doctor McMullen, principal of MacVicar; Dr. Robert Campbell, professor Murison; Rev. J. G. McKay all spoke against the innovation, and Dr. Gilbert Gordon and Rev. Dr. Black supported the new practice. An amendment by Principal Patrick, seconded by Principal Caven, was under consideration when the assembly rose, to the effect that the assembly appoint a committee to consider whether it is necessary to issue instructions to accommittee to consider whether it is necessary to issue instructions to accommittee to consider whether it is necessary to issue instructions. sary to issue instructions to congregations as to this matter, or whether indement should be left to the kirk sessions.

Principal Patrick deprecated the provoking of a disastrous conflict with the kirk sessions in this matter. The assembly next year may not go to Vancouver unless a better, rate than $67.59, offered by the C. P. R., be obtained hermetically closed to the public and press for two months Westminster Abbey in its coronation dress was described in today's Times, commencing with the artificial annex, which, externally, blends so parfectly in color and architecture with the old structure as to deceive the experienced eye. The correspondent says the Abbey inside has the appearance of a vast hall with a timbered roof supported to negurate pillars and carved arches. Here the procession will be formed up. On the walls are costly tapestries and a magnificent collection of old armor and lances from the tower. The stands in the abbey itself are draped with a mixture of delicate blue and old gold velvet. On either side, near the west end, are priceless tapes tries, lend by the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, and a thick, dark blue carbet has been laid down. It is ornamented with the star and garter, the rose, thistie and shamrook and the Egyptian lotus wreathed in lancel. Brilliant Gathering at the Highly Success ful Functions of This Institution-Lists of Prize Winners--Reference to St. John Girl's Success.

Windsor, N. S., June 18-The assembly nall of the popular church school, Edgehill, was crowded to its utmost capacity during the closing exercises which took place today. The hall was very tastefully decorated in red and white, the school colors; the school motto, Feleciter, in large letters, was inscribed in white letters on the red field of a banner which stretched across the front of the hall. Ferns, potted plants and palms added the freshness of summer, while wreathes of hemlock about the arches made the whole room most admirable. On the stage, which was faced with daises, were seated three rooms of fascinating young students, three rows of fascinating young students, all attired in spotless white and wearing mers were presented their awards by the Bishop of Nova Scotia, in a very pleasing manner.

Miss Helen I. Palmer, daughter of H. J. Palmer, K. C., M. P. P., of Charlottetowa (P. E. I.), is to be congratulated on winning not only the gold medal as leader of the school, but also two other gold medals and minor prizes.

Mary Vroom, daughter of Rev. J. W. Vroom, D. D., of Windsor, won the silver star of her form, as did also Dorothy Wilkinson, daughter of Rev. W. T. Wilkinson, daughter of Rev. W. T. Wilkinson, daughter, Margaret, won the bronze medal given by the governor-general for general proficiency.

After the distribution of prizes, the bishop read the report of the very efficient lady principal, Miss Lefroy.

The report of Miss Lefroy, lady principal, told that the health had been excellent, the conduct satisfactory, the work done, good and uninterrupted. Of candidates entered for the junior and senior local examinations of King's College, one senior and two juniors gained a first-class. Eleven pupils passed the written examinations in musical knowledge, held by Trinity College, London; of these, five took the honors section of the intermediate division. Thirteen candidates have been sent in for that examination this year. Very good work has been done in the studio; more time is promised to physical training. The games clubs are flourishing, field hockey, badminton, ping pong and lawn tennis and basket ball being played. Reference was made to a former pupil, Geraldine Coster, who went to the Cheltenham Ladies' College and greatly distinguished herself there. Two other former pupils have been studying at McGill, and two at King's College.

his lordship to say a few words, he spoke of the great interest he had always taken of the great interest he had always taken in Edgehill, that he was thankful that his daughter had had the opportunity to graduate from such a thorough institution. He expressed the wish that there might be a confederation of the diocese of Newfoundland to that of Nova Scotia, so that the young ladies of that ancient colony might feel a deeper interest in this great training school, Edgehill, and could the more readily partake of its advantages. He referred to the fact that the young ladies of St. John's, who wished a higher education than afforded there, naturally thought of England. They went eastward instead of coming westward, the ordinary course. What is required is knowledge of Edgehill in Newfoundland. What more effective way of doing so than send one effective way of doing so than send one lady teacher to that colony. A communion of interests in school and church would hasten the more intimate union of New-

At 2.15 in the assembly hall the guild of old Edgehill girls, composed of about of old Edgehill girls, composed of about 60 members, met and decided to adopt the idea of one of the members that all graduates of Edgehill wear a distinguishing gold pin or brooch. This guild also de-termined to organize an editorial staff to publish a school paper. The enthusiasm was manifest and good results are sure was mannest and good results are sure to come.

At 3 p. m., as it was yet raining, the Indian club, dumb bell and wand drills were carried out very admirably in the assembly hall. The fencing and marching was interesting and accurate.

A thorough inspection of the building and the studio followed. There Miss Coxeter, the capable instructor, has introduced the Ablett system, drawing from the object itself. The results of this were admired by all who visited this interesting section. The wood carving of Miss Joan Coster, of St. John, was both accurate and artistic.

The Bishop of Nova Scotia addressed the meetings. He referred to anonymous letters in the Hants Journal, which stated that it would be advisable for him to absent himself from this meeting, as it would prevent a free debate, as the clergy would not speak their mind in his presence. His lordship said: "I can get along with most men, in fact, with all men who have an opinion and I respect the man who can stand up and say I do not agree with you. I have contempt for the person who says nothing in an open debate, but talks and criticizes afterward."

The growth and efficiency of this institution under the administration of the principal, Mr. Handsombody, is remarkable. This head master has the faculty of imparting knowledge both in studies and athletics. Three years ago there were but 17 boys in attendance, while now the capacity of the school is taxed to its utmost. The ages range from eight to 19. The school prepares students for Kings, Windsor and the military college, Kingston. The moral discipline of the school brings the best of the manly qualities out of the boys. Their language is pure and habits regular. The use of tobacco has been effectively stamped out.
