Canadians from Coast to Coast Endorse C.F.A.'s Educational Work.

MY VIEW OF FOREST CONSERVATION

By Hon. W. E. Foster, Premier of New Brunswick

TO MY MIND, forest conservation is one of the most important questions of the day. We are passing through a period of development, when the products of our forests are required in ever increasing quantities. In New Brunswick we are especially interested in the protection and management of our forests with which we are so richly endowed. The great work of the Canadian Forestry Association in setting forth the necessity of forest conservation before so many people is highly commendable. We trust the time is not far distant when man-caused forest fires, which have caused so much destruction in the past, will be largely eliminated.

A CALL TO ACTION

By Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, British Columbia

OVER eighty per cent. of the productive area of the Province of British Columbia is suitable for forest crop only. It is of paramount importance that this vast domain shall remain permanently productive. A mere expression of a desirable end, however, is not sufficient. Definite action is necessary. Only by a co-operate and co-ordinate effort of the Government, the Timber industry, and the people as a whole will results be achieved and Forest Conservation assured.

Dear Sir,—

Recent issues of your magazine show a wonderful improvement, so much so that we have decided to use your columns to advertise McLaughlin-Buick and will possibly use it for our other lines when our next schedules are announced.

If we can possibly have copy on our new models prepared by the time you go to press we want to be represented in your AUGUST issue.

Wishing you the success which your splendid medium deserves, we are,

Yours truly,

M. D. BERGEY,
Advertising Counsel.

The Only Tree in the World Containing Spring of Water.

On a farm in the suburbs of Berne, Switzerland, there is a tree from which springs a constant flow of water. Curiously enough this spring did not develop until a year or two ago after the tree had attained considerable size and age. What caused the spring to find an outlet through the trunk of this tree is a mystery, but the water is said to be cool and delicious and fully supplies all the needs of the farm on which the tree is located.
