Editor's Talk

LAST week we printed a friendly letter of encouragement from one of our subscribers. This unusual piece of egotism on the part of the editorial staff induced the Circulation Manager to lay several new bouquets on the editorial desk. Mr. W. H. Black, of Norway Bay, P.Q., says: "Your paper is better than I expected to find it; I don't want to lose a copy." He especially admires the "Monocle Man" and in this respect his judgment is almost universal.

Mr. R. E. Estabrooks of Woodstock, N.B., in sending in his summer address, writes in fine spirit: "I appreciate highly your efforts to produce a bright, clean national weekly, and hope these efforts may be rewarded with an ever-widening circulation and promptly paid subscriptions."

The success of every journal depends largely on the enthusiasm and co-operation of its readers.

NEXT week we hope to have some special photographic features which will be exceptionally strong, and a rather strong short-story. This week's story must not be taken too seriously, but it indicates in an imaginative way what Canada might experience. We hope such circumstances will never arise. Great Britain and Germany are not likely to quarrel, if Canada can prevent it.

THE article on the French-Canadian attitude toward a united Canada and a united Empire is well explained by Mr. L. J. Tarte, managing director and editor of La Patrie, Montreal. He pleads for a better understanding, and he should not plead in vain.
