the living stable were there for a man & carriage to drive to the little village of Berasa, 15 kilometres inland, and back in the afternoon, and in a quarter of an hour I was comfortably seated in one of the seats of horses and the horse walking up the Savoy highlands towards the Alps behind. Through a lovely country dotted with villages and orchards of the greenest, here and there trees in bloom white and fragrant, now again the Savoy peasants passed in their way to church, old men and old women in simple peasant garb. For a 1/2 hour we steadily ~~mounted~~ ascended the hills, then down into a little valley dotted with little villages & flanked by mighty mountains - a most picture esque & truly Swiss scene - and we
