

THE residence of grey limestone was followed by a large appearance, a central portion this, wings, three stories, are other extensions. Heights, and faces the country can be viewed from the room and dining-room. A portion is reserved as a common

At the base of the Office leading from the entrance hall. The rest of the building, the Post Office, there. The students' men are housed two in a room large enough to accommodate a room are at the convenience of hours.

The whole of the building is radiators being placed in the rooms. A bathroom containing a lavatory fitted up a room for the disposal of the students' plant are commodious for catering to the residents. The residence provides a common walls.