

to sell the very islands named after that Philip who loaded his soul with the weight of infamy by reason of Jewish deaths. Russia, where the Jews were shot down in the streets of cities, hung and quartered and exposed in stalls of butcher shops as so many beeves, went down in humiliation, shame, and unspeakable horror of defeat, before the armies of pagan Japan.

The Lord has said that Israel is as the apple of his eye, and that whosoever, therefore, touches a Jew touches him.

The sorrow of every nation that has ever persecuted the Jew is the solemn witness to the truth thereof.

But a full end has not been made of the Jew!
Far from it!

In spite of the sorrow, the suffering, the unreportable persecution, the Jew has lived, has thrived, until to-day there are at least twelve millions of them in the world—four times as many as those who crossed the Red Sea under Moses; and these, but a sixth part of the whole nation, consisting only of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin.

Their suffering upon the one side, and their amazing preservation upon the other, are witnesses that God is behind it all. To admit that they have been miraculously preserved (and who can evidentially deny it?) is to admit that the same hand which has restrained, must be the same hand that has permitted, the suf-
