HAVE YOU BEEN IN THIS FIX?

If You Have Kept a Box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for Reference—They Always Bring Relief.

How often after eating something that did not agree with you have you ransacked the house for something to give you relief. Of course you did not fear any serious results, but the discomfort was such that you were prepared to give anything in reason or out of reason just to feel at rest for a moment.

Do you know that one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets was the very thing you were looking for? If you don't, ask anybody who has ever used them, and they will tell you. Listen to what Mr. R. Jancouski, Postmaster at Fesserton, Ont., says: "I have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial, and can with every confidence recommend them. I generally use only half a tablet after eating, and it never fails to give me relief."

If you would eat what you like, when you like, use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

British Navy's Visit.

London, Feb. 15.—The date of the visit to American waters of the squadron of British warships, commanded by Rear-Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg, has been definitely fixed for October. It will comprise a short stay at Newport, New York and Annapolis.

Liked to Be Cold.

Syracuse, N.Y., Feb. 15.—The Syracuse police have taken Rosa Ford, 70 years old, by force from her home, which she refused to keep warm. They found her barefooted with no fire in the stove, and the mercury standing at zero.

Telegraphers' Award Delayed.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—The award in the case of the Grand Trunk telegraphers, which was to have been made Monday, has been deferred for several days, owing to several circumstances which caused delay.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Thunder and Poet.

An early copy of Swinburne's "Poems and Ballads" volume (1896) came into the hands of Dallas, then chief literary reviewer to the London Times, who, after rummaging on what we will call the pygmy poems, strode off to Moxon's with an ultimatum. Either, said he, let them withdraw the book or he would denounce it and destroy it. As they had no wish to be denounced or destroyed themselves, they preferred to accept the former alternative. John Camden Hotten brought out the book—Fortnightly Review.

PROVED IN MOUNT FOREST.

Every doctor in this town tried his best to relieve Mrs. J. Withom, of Asthma: none succeeded. "For years," she states, "I was a dreadful sufferer; nothing gave relief. At times I found it necessary to have all the doors and windows open to get my breath. When in despair I heard of Catarrhzone. I used it and now am perfectly cured." This proves beyond doubt that any case of Asthma is curable with Catarrhzone. No remedy so pleasant, none so absolutely certain to thoroughly cure; try Catarrhzone yourself; it's guaranteed.

How She Won Out.

Gladys—Papa says you're a loafer, Jack. Jack—What reason has he for entertaining such an opinion of me as that? Gladys—He says you spend three or four evenings here every week without having any apparent purpose in coming.

THE ROOT OF NEURALGIC HEADACHE.

Is an irritable condition of the nerves caused by cold. Relief comes quickly from Nerviline, the great pain reliever of today. "I consider Nerviline a magical remedy for neuralgia," writes Mrs. E. G. Harris, of Baltimore. But I never worry if Nerviline is in the house. A few applications never yet failed to kill the pain. I can also recommend Nerviline for stiffness, rheumatism and muscular pains." It is used nearly fifty years; try Nerviline yourself.

WALL PAPERS.

How to Choose Them So That They Will Prove Attractive.

Wall papers are attractive when they are chosen, first, of a color suitable to the temperament of those whose walls they must adorn; second, in a shade of a tone, of that color which produces a pleasant sensation.

A plain or an inconspicuous paper is needed for a room where pictures are to hang.

A frieze is always lighter in tone than the walls below it, and the ceiling lighter still.

A low ceiling should not be decorated, as a general thing, as it then seems to rest on one's head.

The woodwork of a room should suggest a frame for its walls and ought never to be radically different in tone unless the architectural lines are good.

Figures, flowers and complicated designs in wall papers are distracting if certain laws are disobeyed.

As, for instance, a paper with gilt in it can play strange tricks. It is promising and cheerful enough under certain lights, while when turned the other way for an instant it becomes formless and shiny and out of harmony with its surroundings.

Figures that do not match perfectly have destroyed the comfort of many invalids, and aggressive flower papers grow to seem like "noisy visitors" against whom one can never close the door.

The walls of our houses make the setting for our everyday lives and for our possessions.

THE UGLINESS OF IT.

A bad Temper Not Only Ruins Beauty, but Spoils Life.

Of all the recipes which are suggested for the process of beautifying the simple one of a good temper is left out, and yet there is nothing more personally ugly and unattractive in woman than a bad temper, though she often does not realize this till her beauty is marred and her life spoiled thereby. Other women may forgive bad temper, but men never do. It is in their eyes the unpardonable sin, and rightly so, seeing that nothing so quickly creates and insures a thoroughly unhappy home.

Let the girls who are being trained for life remember that a bad temper will as effectually ruin their chance of a happy future as any other hideous deformity, and when they would be ready to sacrifice so much for the attainment of such power as beauty, brilliance or fascination it is surely worth while to swallow something for the acquirement of so great and lasting a charm as good temper.

If a girl were to announce that she was subject to sudden fits of madness, but they were soon over, would it be likely that she would be wanted as an inmate of her own or any one else's home? Yet what else is an uncontrolled temper?—Edith H. Fowler in London Mail.

MARRY NOT A MAN--

Who never dresses up or cares how he looks except when he goes to see some lady.

Who thinks that a comfortable home and plenty to eat and wear should satisfy any woman.

Who thinks that the woman who gets him for a husband will be lucky beyond the rest of her sex.

Who bosses his sisters and does not think it necessary to show them the same consideration as other girls.

Who boasts to his men friends of his conquests among the fair sex and thinks that no woman can resist him.

Who does not regard marriage as a partnership in which there must be mutual concessions, but would be likely to think he owned his wife.

Who would like to humiliate his wife by making her beg for every dollar she desires for herself and tell what she is going to do with it.—Success.

Afternoon Tea.

Afternoon tea is becoming more and more a regular custom in this country now that we are learning the gentle art of idleness. A few suggestions of things that I have found decidedly appreciated at this function may not be amiss. Homemade bread cut in very thin slices, buttered and laid in square piles on a bread and butter plate is always relished with a good cup of tea. Currant loaf, served daintily in the same way, is very popular. In making it, take two small cups of the sponge out of the general baking and place in a different pan. Take one-half cup of butter—a small cup—a half cup of sugar, a whole cupful of currants (or raisins if preferred), one egg, and stir all together. Then mix enough flour to make a dough and set it in two bread tins to rise. When risen sufficiently, put into the oven and bake a half hour.—Brown Book.

Tooth Powder.

An excellent tooth powder that is inexpensive, pure and efficient may be easily made by any one. Mix two ounces of pulverized borax with four ounces of precipitated chalk; add one ounce each of powdered myrrh and pulverized orris. Sift through fine bolting cloth, and it is ready for use. Tooth powder bottles with adjustable covers, such as shop powder is put up in, may be saved and filled with this homemade product.

Fried Nuts.

Fried nuts are dainty little additions to the luncheon or supper table. Good Housekeeping furnishes the recipe. Cold cooked farina, oatmeal or other cereal is reheated and seasoned with butter, salt and pepper. When cool enough to shape with the hands into small balls, dip in crushed walnuts, then in beaten egg, again in walnuts, and fry in deep fat.

AT FIRST GLANCE

It Would Appear That Local Remedies Would Be Best For Cure of Catarrh.

It would seem at first glance that catarrh being a disease of the mucous membrane, that salves, sprays, etc., being applied directly to the membrane of the nose and throat, would be the most rational treatment, but this has been proven not to be true.

The mucous membrane is made and repaired from the blood, and catarrh is a blood disease, and any remedy to make a permanent cure must act on the blood, and when the blood is purified from catarrhal poison, the secretions from the mucous membrane will become natural and healthy.

In this climate, thousands of people seem scarcely ever free from some form of catarrh; it gets better at times, but each winter becomes gradually deeper seated and after a time the sufferer resigns himself to it as a necessary evil.

Catarrh cures are almost as numerous as catarrh sufferers, but are nearly all so inconvenient and ineffective as to render their use a nuisance nearly as annoying as catarrh itself; anyone who has used douches, sprays and powders will bear witness to their inconvenience and failure to really cure.

There are a number of excellent internal remedies for catarrh, but probably the best and certainly the safest is a new remedy composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar antiseptic remedies and other valuable catarrh specifics.

This remedy is in tablet form, pleasant to the taste and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and anyone suffering from catarrh may use these tablets with absolute assurance that they contain no cocaine, opiate nor any poisonous mineral whatever.

A leading druggist in Albany speaking of catarrh cures says: "I have sold various catarrh cures for years, but have never sold any which gave such general satisfaction as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. They contain in a pleasant, concentrated form all the best and latest catarrh remedies, and catarrh sufferers, who have used douches, sprays and salves, have been astonished at the quick relief and permanent results obtained after a week's use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets." All druggists sell full sized packages for fifty cents.

Home Precepts in Boy's Letters.

In their "composition" exercises boys often make statements which, on the face of them are the expression of some precept or teaching emanating from home—not from school. In the following extract taken from a lad's essay on "Cleanliness"—the teaching of the mother does as plainly appear as if she herself had guided the child's pen.

"We should always keep ourselves clean in case of an accident in the street. If you was run over, and you hurt your leg badly, you would be undressed by the doctor, and you would be disgraced all down the street if you was undressed. If you was to fall over and cut your hand, the 1st thing is to wash your hand well, and get all the bits of dirt out."

HER SKIN WAS YELLOW.

"I had only to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills to appreciate their merit," writes Miss Annie S. Bryce, of Woodstock. "My system was out of order. My blood was weak and thin. I had a nasty, murky complexion. My skin was hard and dry. The first box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills made a complete change. I felt better at once. Healthy color came into my face. In about three weeks I was cured." Dr. Hamilton's Pills effect an easy cure. Try these good pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers.

A Wretch.

Justice—What's the charge against this prisoner? Officer—Yer honor, he's a public nuisance. He's been goin' around in th' den of night wakin' up night watchmen an' then runnin' away!

Some successful men are 95 per cent backbone, and some others are 95 per cent cheek.

WATER IN YOUR BLOOD.

Lots of people have thin, watery blood—they eat plenty but don't digest. When digestion is poor, food does not enter into nourishment—in consequence the body rapidly loses strength. To positively renew health, nothing equals Ferrozone. It excites sharp appetite, makes the stomach digest, forms life sustaining blood. Abundant strength is sure to follow. If you need more vitality, extra energy, better nerves, then use Ferrozone, the medical triumph of the age. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty chocolate coated Ferrozone tablets.

Judging a girl's weight is often a slight miss calculation.

It takes some women a long time to decide which complexion to wear.

MESSRS. C. RICHARDS & CO.

Gents.—After suffering for seven years with inflammatory rheumatism so bad that I was eleven months confined to my room, and for two years could not dress myself without help, your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT in May, 1897, and asked me to try it, which I did, and was so well pleased with the results, I procured more. Five bottles completely cured me, and I have had no return of the pain for eighteen months. The above facts are well known to everybody in this village and neighborhood.

Yours gratefully,

A PICTURESQUE INDUSTRY.

Sold Washing on the Saskatchewan River by One Who Knows.

The Diolet concessions, referred to in recent press despatches, involve one of the most picturesque industries in Canada, says Kodak in The Toronto News. In the beginning of the gold days on the Saskatchewan, odd spots of the sand beach sparkled with corn-meal tipped with frost. The Indian saw it as he paddled in his canoe, but it was all a bit of little spectacle to him like the rainbow, "nothing in it." The white settlers called it "four gold," silted down from the Far North when the Yukon camps were a dream. He saw a mining proposition at once, and he set up his altar to the god of gold on a sand-bar. He made it himself with an axe, a hammer, a few nails, a sieve and a piece of blanket. When it was established, the idol looked like a half-brother to a magnified coffee-mill and a sawhorse. It was called a "grizzly."

Besides his new commercial idol, the gold-worshipper stood with a tin pail on the end of a pole. He scooped up the watery gravel, and dumped it slump by slump into the hopper. The stones ran into a heap and the fine sand silted through on the blanket. In one scoop might be one grain of gold. Splash—garr!—up with the gravel and down with the stones, went the pail, perhaps the only sound in miles of solitude, and the patient miner the only moving figure. The stones heaped into a cairn at his feet, and the dour sand clogged up on the blanket. Here and there in the blanket silt at sundown, when the miner's shack-smoke began to curl out of the poplars, a microscope might have detected a grain of gold. And when the "grizzly" hermit got it separated out by a mercuric process learned from a book, he had perhaps two dollars' worth of flour gold—if he had kept that splash—garr! steadily going to the swing of his elbows.

This was the poor man's privilege on the upper reaches of the Saskatchewan till the Diolet concession came into vogue. Then sixty miles of the river above and below Edmonton were leased by the Government to Diolet as a monopoly. The picturesque "grizzly" with its unkempt worshipper and his pole-pail shoved off down the river.

Long before the "grizzly" had begun to develop into the dredge, at least three stages of evolution were gone through before the present gigantic grizzly on a barge was put into the gold-washing business. The modern gold dredge—three of which played on the Saskatchewan at Edmonton in 1901—is simply a man-powered big grizzly in evolution. Instead of the miner's pole-pail scoop, there are twenty-three iron buckets on an endless chain. In place of the wire sieve is a huge revolving perforated cylinder, as big as a locomotive boiler. For the miner's arms a huge steam engine.

The dredge is stationed on a sand-bar and moored by cables to the shore. The chain of buckets climbs round on its endless splash scoop up the sandbar, and as each bucket passes the perforated cylinder it dumps its load of watery gravel. The stones pass on out at the rear. The sand sifts through on to a series of slanted tables till it finally lodges in a blanket. There it is separated by a secret process—the sand from the flour gold. And if a $1,200 nugget come up, it probably won't happen again all summer; but the crew, as they "grab-pile" in the houseboat alongside, and bunk in the cabins on the dredge, talk about that nugget as though it were a Kohinoor diamond.

These gold-dredges are clumsily picturesque. But to the traveler on the lower Saskatchewan the old-timer's "grizzly," run by a lone some half-breed miles away from any living biped except the birds and his shadows, are the monumental picture of a strenuous and now somewhat pathetic past. The dredge makes more noise; but the grizzly's splash—garr! is one of the loneliest sounds in the Lone Land.

FAMOUS INVENTOR DEAD.

Straight Pull Rifle James P. Lee's Great Triumph.

James P. Lee, whose death took place at New Haven, Conn., recently was spending the winter there, and it was not generally known in Galt that he was seriously ill. The distinguished inventor only returned to Galt five years ago, after a long residence in the United States and Europe. His name will be inseparably connected with the improvements in small arms, his inventions being the basis of most of the recently-adopted weapons.

He was born in Hawick, Scotland, and came to Galt with his father, George Lee, when a boy of five years. Apprenticed to his father, he became an expert watchmaker, but, being an ardent sportsman, he early became interested in firearms. When at Janesville, Wis., in 1854, he first began his study of guns, bringing out an idea he did not perfect for many years later, when it appeared in the Lee straight pull rifle, which was first used in active service during the Spanish-American war.

The first magazine gun which Mr. Lee invented was purchased for the American navy, where it has been in use ever since. In the seventies Mr. Lee went into the manufacture of sides carbines and sporting rifles in Milwaukee, and later had his inventions handled by the Remington Arms Company.

In the early eighties he went to England and laid his rifle before the British army authorities, who took it up and furnished the whole army with Lee-Method rifles. The Government afterwards adopted a new bore for the rifle barrel, changing the name of the weapon to the Lee-Enfield.

Mr. Lee was 73 years of age, and had been a sufferer from an accident which befell him when a youth. By the accidental discharge of a gun he was shot in the heel, and he carried many of the grains for over 50 years, until the discovery of the X-ray machine.

THE WORST KIND.

After Piles have existed for a long time and passed through different stages, the suffering is intense—pain, itching, throbbing, tumors form, filled with black blood.

Symptoms indicating other troubles may appear to a thoroughly Pile-sick person.

This is when Dr. Leonhardt's Hemorrhoid, the only absolute Pile cure, brings the results that has made its fame.

It will cure the most stubborn case in existence and a bonded guarantee to that effect goes with each package.

It is to be had for $1.00 at the drug store, or from The Wilson-Flye Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

The girl who makes sheep's eyes at you sometimes pulls the wool over your own.

Present adversity is easier to bear than past prosperity.

In some of the Swiss valleys the inhabitants are all afflicted with goitre or "thick neck." Instead of regarding this as a deformity they seem to think it a natural feature of physical development, and tourists passing through the valleys are sometimes jeered by the ghoulish inhabitants, because they are without this offensive swelling. Thus a form of disease may become so common that is regarded as a natural and necessary condition of life. It is so, to a large extent, with what are called diseases of women. Every woman suffers more or less from irregularity, ulceration, debilitating drains, or female weakness, and this suffering is so common and so universal that many women accept it as a condition natural and necessary to their sex. But it is a condition as unnatural as it is unnecessary. The use of Dr. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and healthy, and regulates the delicate womanly organs and restores the womanly functions, so that woman is practically delivered from the pain and misery which eat up ten years of her life—between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and healthy, and restores the delicate womanly organs and restores the womanly functions, so that woman is practically delivered from the pain and misery which eat up ten years of her life—between the ages of fifteen and forty-five.
