Music at Mealtime.

In reply to a question of London Punch, whether there should be music during meals, Herr Richard Strauss writes: "The employment of orchestras at meal times opens an 'endless new vista to the writer of 'programme' music. I have just completed a new suite, entitled, 'Hebe completed a new suite, entitled, reside and Ganymede, occupying two hours in performance, each movement of which is contrived to coincide in length and treatment with a fresh course. performance, each movement of which is contrived to coincide in length and treatment with a fresh course. Thus in the soup section the wooing of the turtle is suggested by a passage for four flutes, and the 'bird' is richly scored with bravura passages for the oboes and piccolo. An expressive tmemulando for violina, heralds with an anticipatory shiver the advent of the ice pudding, and a strepiteus coda in the finale greets the arrival of the coffee and liquors:

Sir Hubert Parry writes from the Royal College of Music: "I have long been as believer in the efficacy of music at meals, and in proof thereof beg to send you the score of my incidental music to the 'Roast Pair of Sirens.'"

Lord Grimthorpe writes: "As a convinced 'mealer.' I am of opinion that if people are not to drink between breakfast and lunch, or between lunch and dinner, the meals themselves should be made as melodiously attractive as possible. Let our motto therefore be: 'Drink to me only with thine ears.'"

Mr. T. P. Connor writes: "The only objection I have to music at meal times is this: When I hear music, being of a very smotlonal Celtic temperament, I am irresistibly impelled to sing. The last ime this happened I was eating a plover's seg. Me dear boy, I nearly had a spasm of the glottls:"

The proprietor of the quick lunch restaurant in the Strand writes: "We find that it accelerates our already almost incredible pace if the "Turkish Patrol,' or some other rapid march is played during he five minutes in which our 10,000 regular customers enjoy their midday meal."

Mr. Henry Bird writes: "You ask, Should there be music during meals?' But what of the converse?—should there be music during meals?' But what of the converse?—should there be meals during music? It seems to me that to offer music at a restaurant is a confession of failure on the part of the chef. Our music at the St. James' Hall concerts would nave to be bad indeed before we provided the extra inducement of food to go with it."

Mr. J. P. Sousa writes: "There is no doubt that th

Advantages of Coffee Jelly.

Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F.

J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm Coffee in the form of jelly is recom-mended by The Lancet to those who think it necessary to take this stimulant. It says :- "A hot draft of coffee is undoubtedly a powerful stimulant, enabling both mental and physical fatigue to be borne. On the other hand, a cup of hot coffee disagrees with many persons; their borne. On the other hand, a cup of hot coffee disagrees with many persons; their digestion is disturbed rather than aided, there is interference with the normal chemistry of the digestive process, and the dyspeptic must eschew hot, strong coffee as well as tea. The excessive drinking of coffee is in any case an evil. But it is often forgotten that coffee can be taken in other ways, and in none better than in the form of jelly. A clear coffee jelly after dinner is every bit as good as the hot infusion, while it is free from some of the drawbacks of the latter. Coffee, unlike alcohol, diminishes organic waste, rouses the muscular energy without the collapse which follows alcoholic imbibition, and gelatin in the form of jelly is cooling, assuages thirst, is soother than the collapse which follows alcoholic imbibition, and gelatin in the form of jelly is cooling, assuages thirst, is soother than the collapse which follows alcoholic imbibition, and gelatin in the form of selly is cooling, assuages thirst, is soother than the collapse which follows alcoholic imbibition, and gelatin in the form of all the collapse which follows alcoholic imbibition, and gelatin in the form of all the collapse which follows alcoholic imbibition, and gelatin in the form of about a story and the strong the collapse of the strong that it is a submen. Having regard to these facts, therefore, coffee jelly should form a very suitable sequel to dinner and an excellent substitute for the infusion. Moreover, the astringent principles of coffee, which, however, are different in kind and degree from those present in tea, are nullified by the gelatin. In short, jelly is an excellent vehicle for coffee, but, as is necessary in making the infusion, the quantity of coffee in the jelly should not be stinted. Coffee in the jelly should not b ally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the most powerful and perfect of blood purifying medicines. It increases the quantity as well as the quality of the blood, and enables the body to resist disease, or to throw it off if disease has obtained a footing in some weak organ. ### Precedence in Australia.

The King has sanctioned a new table of precedence for the Australian Commonwealth. Its most notable feature, says The London Chronicle, is its attempt to settle the long-standing dispute between Cardinal Moran, the Catholic Primate of Australia, and Dr. Saumarez-Smith, the Anglican Primate. Immediately after the State Governors and before the Prime Minister of the Commonwealth they come together side by side—"The Cardinal and the Primate." How this suggested arrangement will work at great Commonwealth functions remains to be seen, but it contains some obvious humorous possibilities. Suppose a door not wide enough to admit both these gray ecolesiastical dignitaries simultane-not wide enough to-cregal presence, what then? "Other Primate." but the King dinal Moran is considered to fave what then? "Other Cardinal and the Primate." but the King when Prince of Weles, established a precedent in that respect by placing the name of Cardinal Manning immediately after his own and before that of the Archishop of Canterbury in the list of the Royal Commission on the Housing of the Proor. The King has sanctioned a new table

Shooting at sight is permitted the officers, who have to deal with dangerous characters from all quarters of Europe. Nowhere is there such a corps according to The London Chronicle. Its ranks are recruited from outcasts of all social ranks. Disgraced officers of the Russian service, deserters from the German army, broken scions of the Austrian nobility, fraudulent debtors from Beigium, forgers from Spain, nomicides from America, ruined gamblers from Italy are found in plenty in the ranks. No excuse is taken for a fault, and the slightest symptom of insubordination carries with it 2 swift passage to another world. It is understood that recruits are simply seeking refuge from the arm of the civil law. The Foreign Legion is the only voluntarily enlisted corps in the French army. #### Cyclists in Parliament.

If there is one member of the House of Commons more than another who might have been expected to fight shy of any but the simplest form of locomotion in the streets of London, argues The London Daily Chronicle, it is Sir James Ferdon Dally Chronicle, it is Sir James Fergusson, who was not long since the victim of a serious cab accident, which incapacitated his several weeks. Yet he has recently for several weeks. Yet he has recently and seen cycling down to Palace Yard, and seen cycling down to Palace Yard, and seventy-second year, the performance as caused astonishment to his colleagues. Sir James Fergusson is probably the oldest Parliamentary cyclist in the present House of Commons, among the ever-increasing list being Mr. Stuart Wortley, Mr. John Burns, Mr. Pat O'Brien, Mr. Reginald McKenna, Sir Fortescue Flannery and Viscount Cranborne.

Counterfeit Furniture. In England the furniture most freely counterfeited is that of Chippendale, Sheraton and Hepplewhite; but the manufacture is not always taken ab initio. There is a large industry, one of the centres of which is said to be, or to have been, in the neighborhood of Leicester, of buying up genuine old eighteenth-century furniture of a simple kind, inlaying with satinwood shells and the like, sometimes, though not always equally genuine, until the enrichment (often justified by the original pattern and style), once the piece has passed through the hand of the favorite wood of the furniture-takit for decerations; but almost any wood can be imitated; thus mahogany can be made from sycamore, and ebony with pear-wood. It is by staining the inlay with blue that the admired green is obtained in satinwood. Perhaps the most frequently "faked" objects of this class size the clocks: "The number of plain dlock-cases of this kind has seriously diminished of late, and the number of highly decorated ones has prodigiously increased. #### For the Farmer.

Clover is at its best as a fertilizer when it has produced its second crop. This is when it has grown two full seasons. If kept beyond this time either weeds or grasses come in, according as the soil is best seeded with these. Whoever keeps a field in clover longer than two years lessens the crop that can be grown after it. On the other hand, a clover sod will rot down the first season after it is plow ed, so that the land may be sown with clover seed the following spring. An old sod made up from any of the grasses should be cultivated two years before it is ready to reseed, hence the smaller amount of fertility it furnishes is more thoroughly exhausted by three crops on it instead of two, as clover shows before the land is again being ## for St. Louis.

Mr. H. H. Hinds, Stanton, Mich., who is selecting the Shorthorns for the dairy cow demonstration at the St. Louis Exposition, is desirous of getting in communication with the owners of the best dairy Shorthorn cows in Canada, and for that purpose has written Mr. F. W. Hodson, Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa, for information regarding the best method of achieving his object. He writes: "I am exceedingly anxious to locate some of the best specimens of dual purpose Shorthorn cows in existence for the purpose of securing them to enter in the dairy demonstration to be held at the St. Louis World's Fair of next year. I am aware that our Canadian friends have many specimens of this type of Shorthorns, and am hoping and expecting to receive very valu-able assistance from our friends across the border. At the Columbian World's Fair of 1893 we had some very fine cows from Canada that were selected by a committee of your Shorthorn Breeders' Association, and were brought out under the auspices of the Canadian Government. I am opening correspondence with many of your breeders, and desire your very able co-operation and assistance in securing a few cows for this demonstration from the Dominion. I think the committee of the Canadian Shorthorn Herd Book Association is already moving in this matter. Of course, should we secure some cows from Canada, and I think the doubt we will the record of their no doubt we will, the record of their performance would go into the aggregate of the very creditable showing that the Dominion will undoubtedly make in the live stock exhibition at St. Louis next year."

Breeders who have cows of the sort described by Mr. Hinds, and who are willing to allow their animals to go to St. Louis, should at once open correspondence with that gentleman at the address given above.

Effect of Mulching Vegetables. Mulches cause some vegetables to mature later, while with others no delay was noticed. Late spring and early fall frosts injure mulched plants more than cultivated ones, making it inadvisable to mulch very tender vegetables that require the whole season for proper development. Early spring vegetables, which require only a few cultivations, can usually be grown more cheaply by cultivation than by mulching. Furthermore, very early mulching, before the ground has become thoroughly warm, is apt to retard the growth of vegetables. Summer and fall vegetables, on the other hand, which which require frequent cultivation throughout the season, are grown more cheaply by mulching than cultivation. Moreover, the yield and quality of vegetables are often improved by mulching.

Many vegetables cannot be mulched vegetables cannot be mulched

Many vegetables cannot be mulched until they have become well established and the weather has become warm, thus requiring some preliminary cultivation. Such cultivation as is commonly given farm gardens is better for most vegetables in early spring than mulching, but mulching is just as surely better in midsummer than the neglect which is the common thing in farm gardens at that time of year. The farm gardens at that time of year. The Nebraska Experiment Station tests have, indeed, shown mulching to be have, indeed, shown mulching to be better in many cases than the most thorough cultivation throughout the summer. Results very favorable to mulching have been secured with cab-
