ACCORDING to our opinion it is sometimes since we have had such attractive styles of winter coats as we have shown this year. Those of us who invested in a new coat this season, however, may not feel at all out-of-date when we bring it out this year, as in many respects the style features of last year and in this coat, are similar. Broad hems and large collars seem to be the most noticeable features in connection with the coats this season, the collars being considerably larger than last year, and we thought them large here. The coats are longer this year than last, they being full-length. And just here let us make a suggestion. The skirts are still being worn short and let none of us make the mistake of having our coats longer than our skirts, as it makes a most unattractive combination. A short skirt, say seven or eight inches from the floor, with a coat of the same length, however, is very smart.

The use of the full-length coat brings a tendency to the one-piece dress and it is quite a fad this season to endeavor to have the two match, or at any rate harmonize.

2211—Dress for Misses and Small Women.—This is a very popular style of costume. It borders on the loose-fitting effect, but is not very pronounced. The style of belt is one that is proving quite popular on both coats and dresses this year. Note also the neat sleeves trimmed with buttons, also the nicely-shaped collar. Three sizes; 16, 18 and 20 years.

1974—Child's Outdoor Set.—This outfit reminds us that we may look for Jack Frost, before many more weeks have elapsed. Does it not look cozy and good the thing for the snug boy or girl to do when playing out in the snow? In fact such an outfit could be worn on many occasions. Four sizes; 3, 4 and 5 years.

2283—Girl's Dress.—The majority of little girls are rather particular what they wear and mother has oftentimes to be quite as particular in selecting a style of frock for her little daughter as if it were for herself. This style is rather unusual one and may come in useful as a suggestion for some home dressmakers. Four sizes; 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

2277—Girl's Dress.—Another neat little frock is here shown which has several features to commend it. It is simple of construction and the combination of materials presents a chic appearance. Four sizes; 4, 6, 8 and 10 years.

2046—Lady's House Dress.—This house dress with the square front and collar coming down to meet the square to many who favor the square to the "V"-shaped neck finish. This is a very practical style of house dress and easily constructed. The large pockets will not come amiss either. Seven sizes; 24 to 46 inches bust measure.
