The good results from the Massey-Harris 20th Century Manure Spreader lies in its great ability to distribute the manure over the land in the most economical way possible. With the Massey-Harris Distributor a given quantity of manure will go three times as far as it will if distributed by the old-fashioned back-breaking method of pitching it from a wagon with a fork. A small boy with a Massey-Harris Spreader will cover as much land as five men working in the old way—do it with much less manure and do it better.
