The meeting of the Supreme Council, held in Montreal on the 11th, was one of the most important yet held, particularly so for the Canadian jurisdicton, as Canadian claims were fully discussed and freely and fully granted discussed and freely and fully granted.

The proceedings began by attendance at Grand High Mass in St Ann's Church. The procession was a very large and representative one, and was accompanied by a band. After Mass the members of the Supreme Council assembled in the hall of Branch 26. President McGarry called the meet ing to order, and immediately intro-duced the Mayor. His Worship was given a rousing ovation, and when silence was restored he said : Mr. President, on behalf of the citizens of Montreal, I heartily welcome you to our city. We are delighted you have chosen Montreal, a great Catholic city, as the scene of your deliberations for this year for the carrying on of your good work. Your objects are to make man greater and better than ever, and you should be encouraged. You also rescue the unfortunates and take care of the widows and orphans. We always give a hand of welcome to those from over the other side. Both the city and my-

Father Baart said the committee found it absolutely necessary to grant it. A motion to adopt the report was made, but before entertaining it the President asked for an expression of opinion. About a dozen representatives spoke on the subject, explaining their position in view of the difficulties surrounding the question, as they had been instructed by their Grand Councils to vote against separation. But they all expressed their conviction that it would be their duty to vote in favor of it, on account of the different phase the question had assumed since their arrival in Canada, and on account of the full explanations they had received of the legal aspect of the society in this country. The discussion lasted about an hour, and when the vote was taken it was found that thirty-three delegates had voted in the affirmative and only two in the negative.

The announcement of the vote was received with hearty cheers. In the evening the election of officers took place, the result being that all the old officers, whose names we gave above, were re-elected to hold the same position of affairs now existing as regards the Canadian jurisdiction:

In so petitioning the Supreme Council, we would call attention to the fact that we desire to continue the payment of the per capita tax, representation to the Supreme Council, to have the interchange of visiting and withdrawal cards as tormerly, to be governed by a constitution as nearly like our present constitution as our altered circumstances will permit, and in every other possible manner to perpetuate the continental brotherhood that now exists.

To the Chairman and Members of the Special Committee of the Supreme Council appointed to deal with the Canadian Question:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHERS.—Below we outline in a general way the basis upon which we deem it most advisable to arrange an amicable settlement of this question:

1. We desire to continue our present relations with the Supreme Council as long as the law will permit, that is, until the 31st day of December, 1892; to collect and pay all assessments levied by the Supreme Council up to said date, the Supreme Council on its part to pay all Canadian death claims up to the date of last assessment in said year. On and after the date of the assessment levied in December the Grand Council assumes all liabilities of the Supreme Council susumes all liabilities of the Supreme Council for beneficiary certificates issued up to the 31st day of December 1882.

3. Between now and the 31st day of December 1882.

13. That in granting this petition the Supreme Council of the Assessment in said year. On and after the date of the assessment levied in December the Grand Council assumes all liabilities of the Supreme Council for beneficiary certificates issued up to the 31st day of December 1882.

2. Between now and the 31st day of December 1882.

2. Between now and the 31st day of Dec., 1892, the Grand Council will prepare and issue new beneficiary certificates and procure the surrender of the present beneficiary certificates, such new certificates to be a novation of the original beneficiary certificates, and to be in all respects on the same terms and conditions.

sub-agents as heretofore; and that by virtue of said Act and registration, for the purpose, the Grand Council of Canada must be considered the central governing or controlling body.

7. That by virtue of the terms of said Act, coupled with registration and recognition of the Grand Council by the Registrar, the Supreme Council has lost every right reserved by the Act to foreign friendly associations, to obtain a legal status in Ontario, and that such right could not be restored by any withdrawal by, or dissolution of, the said Grand Council under the existing law.

8. That our laws will need modification or new provisions to meet the requirements of said Act, to maintain fraternal relations with the Association in Canada, and that separate beneficiary, under the circumstances as we view them, is not a matter of favor or consent, but one of absolute necessity.

9. That providing the petition of the Grand Council of Canada is acted upon and granted by the Supreme Council it would operate as a novation so far as the payment of beneficiary is concerned to members in Canada under existing contracts made with them by the Supreme Council for the reason, that members express their will and desires through representatives selected by themselves who assemble in Convention and adopt such measure as they in joint convention may have legally before them, and agree upon. Representation in legislative bodies would be fruitless if it did not by its acts bind those whom it represents, and the Grand Council of Canada in convention assembled represented every member of the Association within its jurisdiction. The petition presented to this Council through its representatives must be considered and treated as the legal expression of the wish and request of each and every part of such membership.

That in granting this petition the Supreme Council recognizes the supreme power and jurisdiction of the States under conditions not contemplated by the laws and regulations of the association, and therefore not within that class of legislation which may be deferred by the objection in negative vote of any member of said Supreme Council.

Respectfully submitted.
