The League of Nations

and have seen them deal with other governments that were parties to this struggle, at Brest-Litovsk and Buch-red. They have convinced us that they are without honor and do not intend paties. They observe no covenants, seept none but force and their own interests. We cannot 'come to terms' with them. They have made it impos-pible. The German people must by this time be fully aware that we cannot eccept the word of those who forced sine war boon us. We do not think the sense thoughts, or speak the same lang-ung of agreement.

"ange of agreement. "If it be in deel and truth the com-mon object of the governments asso-ciated against Gormany and of the nations whom they govern, as I believe it to be achieved by the coming settle-ments, a secure and lasting peace, it will be necessary that all who sit down at the peace table, shall come ready and willing to pay the price, the only price that will procure it; and ready and willing, also, to create in some fashion the only instrumentality by which it can be made certain that the agree-ments will be honored and fulfilled.

Impartial Justice

Impartial Justice That price is impartial justice in every item of the settlement, no matter whose interest it crosses and not only impartial justice, but also the satisfac-tion of the several peoples whose for-tanes are dealt with. That indispensa-ble instrumentality is a league of na-tions formed under covenants that will be efficacious. Without such an instru-mentality, by which the peace of the world can be guaranteed, peace will rest in part upon the world of outhaws and enly upon that word. For Germany will have to redeem her character, not by what happens at the peace table, but by what follows. "And, as I see it, the constitution of by what happens at the peace take, our by what follows. "And, as I see it, the constitution of that league of nations, and the clear definition of objections must be apart, is in a sense the most essential part of the peace settlefment itself. It cannot be formed now. If formed now, it would be merely a new alliance confined to the mations associated against a common enemy. It is not likely that it could be formed after the settlement. It is necessary to guarantee the peace; and the peace cannot be guaranteed as an after thought. The reason, to speak in plain terms again, why it must be guaranteed, is that there will be parties to the peace whose promises have proved untrustworthy and means must be found in connection with the peace settlement itself to remove that source of insecurity. of insecurity.

What Germany Must Understand

""Peace drives' can be effectively neutralized and silenced only by show-ing that every victory of the nations associated against Germany brings the nations nearer the sort of peace which will bring security and reassurance to all peoples and make the recurrence of another such struggle of pitiless force and bloodshed for ever impossible, and that nothing else can. that nothing else can.

"Germany is constantly intimating the terms she will accept and always finds that the world does not want terms. It wishes the final triumph of justice and fair dealing."
