Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

Annesley Gray, companion to Mrs. Ellsworth, a selfish old hypochondriac, desperate at the grayness of her days, answers the advertisement of "Mr. N. Smith," who wants to meet a girl with a view to marriage. Keeping an appointment at the Savoy, in London, she is accompanied by a man who asks her to protect him by posing as his wife. She does so, falls in love with him, and to save him from two dark-faced strangers, brings him home to Mrs.
Ellsworth's. Ruthven Smith, agent for Van Vreck and Co., New York Jewelers, and an occasional lodger, comes unexpectedly. As Annesley tries to warn her lover, a pistol-shot is heard upstairs.

Ruthven Smith has fired at the stranger. There is a row, and An-nesley is ordered out of the house.
"Smith" takes her to the Savoy, where the Countess de Santiago plays chaperon until they are married next day. He gives her pearls and a beautiful ring with a blue diamond. "Smith" has asked Annesley not to look at the register at the wedding, so she doesn't know her husband's real name. They go to Siddmouth for their honeymoon, and there "Knight," Annesley's name for her husband, maneuvers for an acquaintance with the Annesley-Setons, poor but titled cousins of Annesley's. The girl gets a letter from Lady Annesley-Seton.

From Wednesday's Daily.
They forgave her! That was the principal thing. And they rejoiced in her happiness. All explanations —could wait until they met.
The letter continued:

Cousin James Ruthven Smith was loyal in his promise to you, and gave us no hint of your news. We did not, of course, even know of the promise till after your telegram came, and we showed it to him.
Then he confessed that he was in your secret; that he had been with-ness of a scene in which poor Mrs.
Ellsworth made herself more than usually unpleasant, and that you had asked him to let you be the one to tell us the glad tidings of your engagement and hasty wedding.

I say "poor Mrs. Ellsworth" because it seems she has been ill since you left, and has had several other misfortunes. The illness probably not serious, and I imagine, now I have heard fuller details of her treatment of you, that it is merely a liver and nerve attack, the result of bad temper. If she had not been confined to bed, and very sorry for herself, I am sure nothing could have prevented her from writing to us a garbled account of the quarrel and your departure.

As it turned out, I hear she rang up the household after you went that night, had hysterics, and sent a servant flying for the doctor. He—most interior person, according to cousin James—having a sister who is a trained nurse, put her in charge of the patient at once, where she has remained ever since. In consequence of the nurse's tyrannical ways, the servants gave a day's notice and left in a body.

Three temporary ones were got in as soon as possible from some agency or other; and last night (just four days I believe after they were installed) a burglary was committed in the house.

Only fancy, poor Ruthven! He was afraid to stay even with us in our quiet house, when he came to London, just because once, years ago, we were robbed by sneak-thieves! You know how reticent he is about his affairs, and how he never says anything concerning business. One might think that to us he would show some of the beautiful jewels he is supposed to buy for the Van Vrecks.

But no, he never so much as mentions them. We should not have known why he came over to London this time, after a shorter interval than usual, or that he had any valuables in his possession, if it had not been for this burglary. As he was obliged to talk to the police, and describe to them what had been stolen from him (I forgot to mention that he as well as Mrs. Ellsworth was robbed, but you would already have guessed that, from my beginning, even if you haven't read the morning papers before taking up my letter), there was no reason why, for once, he should not speak freely to us.

He has been lunching here and has just gone, as I write, but is going to transfer himself later in the day to our house, as it has now become unbearable for him at Mrs.
Ellsworth's. I fancy that arrangement has been brought permanently to an end! Your presence in the dreary menage was the sole allevia-tion.

Poor James, it appears, came over to London this time on an expected mission, differing from his ordinary business trips. You may remember seeing in the papers some weeks ago that an agent of the Van Vreck firm was robbed on shipboard of a lot of pearls and things he was bringing over to show to an important client in England, some Indian potentate. James now tells us that he procured the finest of the collection for the Van Vrecks, and as he is such a great expert, and can recognize jewels he has once seen, even when disguised or cut up, or placed in different settings, he was asked to go to London in the hope that he might help the police in finding and

HAIR COMING OUT
MEANS DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Dandruff occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff.
It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it.
Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowl-ton's Dandruff now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two week's use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first, yes, but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Dandruff is, we believe, the only sure hair cure; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Dandruff, and carefully draw it through your hair —taking one small strand at a time.
Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

DEADLY FEMALE
OF THE SPECIESGerman Nurses Regularly Treat British Prisoners

INSULT WOUNDED MEN

And Mock at Them In Their Suffering

London, April 12.—Appalling revelations of the systematic brutality of German women of the Red Cross towards British wounded have been made to the Bernese correspondent of the Times by scores of British soldiers of all ranks released from German prison camps. On the long journey of the British wounded through Germany it was the common amusement of these women to tempt our men, who were in the last extremity of hunger and thirst, by holding out food and drink to try and make them snatch at it and then withdrawing it.
Many of the wounded, begging for water, had coffee, sugar and soup tendered to them, and then at the last moment the gentle nurse would spit in the cup or glass. Frequently the wounded had to drink the defiling while the women looked on and laughed.

An equally common entertainment with these women was to offer a wounded man a glass of water and then pour it slowly on the ground.
Cases of physical maltreatment of British wounded by German nurses were just as common and systematic as the refusal to give them nourishment. The nurses not only refused to attend to the needs of the soldiers, but regularly insulted and spat on them.
Frequently they even struck or kicked a bandaged limb in order to give pain.

"It," says the Times, "the German Red Cross is merely a branch of German militarism it has prostituted its sacred sign, shamed its name and forfeited all rights to be regarded as an organization of humanity."

FIFTY THOUSAND
FOR HOME DEFENCEThat Number Needed To Fill Places of Men Going OverseasAPPEAL TO MANHOOD Of the Dominion Is Made By Government

Ottawa, April 12.—An appeal has been issued by the Government for recruits for the Canadian defense force calling attention to the necessity for guarding the Dominion when the troops of the Canadian expeditionary force leave for overseas as follows:

"In the course of a week or two the last of the C. E. F. forces now in Canada will have left for Europe to continue their training, after which they will be sent on to the fighting line. In order that Canada may not be unprepared, when these men leave, for any emergency the Government has formulated plans for a Canadian defense force, and the working out of this plan for the raising of the 50,000 men desired for this purpose is now under way.
The militia regiments throughout the Dominion are asked to provide men for this force. Already the staffs have been chosen in most cases, and the appeal for recruits is being made for the first time to-day.
This appeal is being made to those thousands of good Canadians whose family obligations or other responsibilities have stood in the way of their going abroad. Major-Gen. S.
C. Newburn, a well-known and experienced soldier, has been chosen to direct the work.

"Canada must not be left unprepared to meet any emergency which may arise. The Canadian expeditionary force has sadly depleted the militia units of the able-bodied men who could be of service to defend Canada in case of attack from any quarter. No one knows what may happen in time of war and the authorities would be lacking in their duties if they did not have preparations made to meet any emergencies.
Thus the call comes to those men who are unable to go overseas to step into the breach made by the departure of the overseas troops and take up their share of the burden which their citizenship in the Dominion imposes upon them. Men are needed, and men will be found.

"I voice the feeling at the front," says Sir Robert Borden, in regard to this scheme, "when I appeal to Canadians to support the proposals to partially mobilize the active militia of Canada."
The term of enlistment, training, clothing, equipment and subsistence are the same as for the overseas service. Separation allowances for married men are allowed in addition to pay.

ROBBED CHURCH.
By Courier Leased Wire.
Toronto, April 11.—Judge Coatsworth in the county criminal court to-day sentenced J. H. A. Hird to one year in the Ontario reformatory for taking $1,400 funds of St.
John's Church about a year ago. He was recently arrested at Peterboro.
The money has been paid back, and the church people asked for leniency, but the judge said the offense was a serious one. The two sons of the family are in khaki, one in France.

EQUAL PENSIONS.
By Courier Leased Wire.

Saskatoon, Sask., April 12.—The city council has passed a resolution declaring in favor of equal pensions for soldiers of all ranks.
To succeed E. E. Wooton as registrar of titles in Victoria, the executive council has decided to promote J. C. Gwinn, district registrar of titles at New Westminster.
